IN THE SUPREME COURT OF QUEENSLAND.—The CHIEF JUSTICE.

In the matter of The British Companies Act of 1886 and the Companies Act Amendment Act of 1889, and in the matter of the Picturesque Atlas Publishing Company, Limited.

NOTICE is hereby given that the order of the Supreme Court of Queensland, dated the second day of November, 1891, confirming the reduction of the capital of the abovenamed Company from £75,000 to £37,500, and the minute approved by the Court—showing with respect to the capital of the Company, as altered, the several particulars required by the above statutes, were registered by the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies on the fifth day of November, 1891. And further take notice that the said minute is in the words and figures following:—The capital of the Picturesque Atlas Publishing Company, Limited, is reduced from £75,000, divided into 75,000 shares of £1 each, to £37,500, divided into 75,000 shares of 10s each, and that such reduction is to be effected by returning to the members of the Company the sum of 10s on each share, the nominal value of each share being thus reduced to 10s; the sum to be so returned as aforesaid to be returned by instalments as the Board from month to month finds funds available for the purpose. Dated the fifth day of November, 1891. WILSON NEWMAN-WILSON and HEMMING, Selborne-chambers, Adelaide-street, Brisbane, Solicitors for the Company.

EXPORT OF FROZEN MUTTON.

THE AUSTRALIAN CHILLING AND FREEZING CO., Ltd.

HEAD OFFICE,
15 Dowgate Hill, London.
WORKS,
Aberdeen, N. S. W.

DIRECTORS:
E. M. Nelson, Esq., Chairman
W. S. Davidson, Esq. — W. Westray, Esq.
C. H. Hamilton, Esq. — F. Nelson, Esq.
A. Scott, Esq.

GENERAL MANAGER:
R. M. Stephenson, Esq.

LOCAL BOARD:
Jesse Gregson, Esq. — R. M. Pitt, Esq.

MANAGER OF THE ABERDEEN WORKS:
W. A. Benn, Esq.

The Company's Freezing Works at Aberdeen being about completed, the General Manager will be glad to hear from gentlemen interested in the squatting industry, who wish to make use of the Company's Works with a view of finding a market for a portion of their surplus stock, of sheep or cattle.

The Works will be capable of dealing with 1600 to 1800 sheep daily, and arrangements have been made with the Railway Commissioners for the conveyance of the frozen carcases to Newcastle, in specially-constructed cars, and with steamship companies for the necessary freight from that port to England.

Owing to the enormous increase in the shipments of frozen meats from different parts of the world, prices in England have fallen very considerably, so much so that the present export value of mutton is reduced to a point approaching boiling-down price.

The Company will be prepared to enter into contracts with squatters for the supply of fat sheep, delivered at the Aberdeen works, for a term of years (or for a shorter period) in such numbers as may be arranged. The guarantee on the part of squatters to supply stock being only binding so long as they have suitable sheep to deliver.

Three forms of contract will be submitted for squatters to select from, namely:
1. Outright sale.
2. Partial sale with participation of profits.
3. Consignment on owner's account.

No. 1.—OUTRIGHT SALE.
The Company will purchase first-class wethers, delivered at Aberdeen, weighing 47lb. and upwards, dressed, i.e., with shanks off, kidneys and kidney fat removed, at 1d per lb., cold weight. All offal, which includes fat, head, feet, &c., to belong to the company. Skin, wool to belong to the seller, to be sundried, or fellmongered, as may be arranged.

No. 2.—PARTIAL SALE.
The Company will give an advance price of three farthings per lb. for sheep similar to those described in No. 1 Contract, and should the mutton sell on an average above 3¼d per lb. the Company will return to the shipper 75 per cent. of the surplus. Offal to belong to the Company, skins and wool to owner as per No. 1 Contract.

No. 3.—CONSIGNMENT ON OWNERS' ACCOUNT.
The Company will take charge of sheep at the works, kill, freeze, bag, ship, pay freight, insurance, and all London charges, for a consolidated rate of 2d, 20 per lb. (a shade under 2¼d per lb.), giving the shipper a certain advance in cash. Sheep to be consigned for sale to the Company's London Agents, Nelson, Brothers, Limited. Fat and offal to belong to the Company, skin to be sundried or fellmongered on owners' account, as may be arranged.

Municipal Elections.

TO THE ELECTORS OF COOK WARD.

Ladies and Gentlemen,—In offering myself as a candidate for election as Alderman for your Ward in response to the expressed desire of a number of the electors, I will, as briefly as possible, give an outline of the views I hold on municipal affairs. Though a young aspirant for the position of aldermanic representative, I have a large practical experience of the necessities of a large city.

Being actively engaged in the building trade for the past 17 years executing large contracts will be some guarantee of my business qualities.

Your Council requires young and vigorous men to push on and keep pace with the growing requirements of the city, to infuse into municipal life energy, zeal, and perseverance, to carry measures insuring health and comfort to the inhabitants. If returned the lighting of the city by electricity by the most improved system shall have my strong support.

The cremating of house garbage is an important question, and should not be unduly delayed. In my opinion it is a pressing and urgent matter of sanitation that should be proceeded with at once, adopting the latest improved methods of cineration now in use in Europe.

In reference to our most important thoroughfares of fair gradients, woodpaving as recently laid is the most durable, and should be more extensively used. The system now in use on what is termed second-class streets, of top coating with loose metal, has proved in some of the streets of Cook Ward to be waste of money. The metal should be incorporated with a proper proportion of blinding, and in many instances a strong coat of tar.

The footpaths of the principal streets, with their various paving material gradients, vehicle entrances, causing broken and uneven surfaces, are relics of past bad management and a disgrace to the Council. The City Surveyor should be empowered to forthwith institute a new system.

A more general and complete system of watering the streets during summer months would be advocated by me for the comfort and health of the citizens.

The revenue of the Council, amounting to nearly a quarter of a million pounds, if economically managed, should provide ample funds for increased comforts and conveniences to which we are at present comparative strangers. I shall have an opportunity of more fully addressing you at various meetings to be held in the ward, and trust that my views may be approved, and that I shall have the honour of serving your interests in the Municipal Council.

I am, yours faithfully,
JOHN C. WAINE, Park-road.

COOK WARD ELECTORS.

A PRELIMINARY MEETING of the FRIENDS and SUPPORTERS of Mr. JOHN C. WAINE will be held at FREEMAN'S FAMILY HOTEL, Bourke and Foveaux streets, on THURSDAY EVENING next, 12th instant, at 8 o'clock, to form a Committee to secure his return as Alderman for the Ward.

ELECTORS of MACQUARIE WARD.—Ladies and Gentlemen,—The time for which you did me the honour of electing me to the City Council as one of your representatives being about to terminate, I again respectfully offer myself for re-election.
I am, your obedient servant,
SAML. E. LEES.
Town Hall, Sydney, November 10, 1891.

TO MR. G. J. WATERHOUSE, Birrell-street, Waverley.
Sir,—A Vacancy having taken place in the representation of Waverley Ward, in the Municipal Council of Waverley, by the death of Mr. Alderman THOMAS MARTIN, we, the undermentioned ratepayers, respectfully request that you will allow yourself to be nominated for the office, and should you consent we will use our best endeavours to secure your return. Signed by 28 ratepayers.
Ladies and Gentlemen, Ratepayers of Waverley Ward,—I thank you very much for your requisition, and have much pleasure in acceding to your request by allowing myself to be nominated for the position of Alderman for Waverley Ward. If elected, I will do my best to further the interests of our Borough. Yours faithfully,
G. J. WATERHOUSE.

TENDERS are invited by the Liquidator of the British-Australian Land and Banking Company, Limited, for the PURCHASE of the Company's ESTATE at Rossmore, near Liverpool. The Estate is situated on the Bringelly road, about 12 miles from Liverpool, and consists of 990 acres of land, a large proportion of which is fenced, cleared, stumped, and otherwise improved. The timber on the remaining portion is light and well suited for fencing purposes. The whole estate has been well subdivided into convenient blocks, with sufficient roads for access, and embraces many improvements, amongst others a brick house and a new weatherboard cottage. Of the total area, 391 acres or thereabouts have been sold on terms at prices from £20 per acre downwards, the total balances owing thereon, as on the 17th September, 1891, being £4336 10s. Full particulars of the contracts of sale may be obtained from the undersigned, at whose office the contracts may be inspected.
There is a church on the estate, and a daily post is delivered.
The Tenders will be for the whole Estate, sold and unsold, the Tenderer taking over the benefit of all existing contracts of sale.
The whole estate is subject to a mortgage to secure the sum of £4300, payable on 13th March, 1893, with interest half-yearly at 5 per cent. per annum, the tenders being for the company's interest over and above such mortgage.
Intending tenderers can be driven out to inspect.
TENDERS will be received to 21st NOVEMBER, 1891, by
FRED. R. BRETNALL, Solicitor, 74 Castlereagh-street.

TENDERS will be received up to MONDAY, the 16th instant, for the Business known as the EMPIRE TOBACCO and HAIRDRESSING SALOON, lately in the occupation of Mr. T. Ross, comprising a first-class Tobacco and Cigar Shop and a Hairdressing Saloon, containing 4 American chairs of latest design, and fitted up in the most approved manner, and lighted with electricity throughout.
The position is undeniably one of the best in Sydney, and in the hands of an attentive man of business would prove to be highly remunerative.
A five years' lease will be given, at a rental of £8 per week, and £18 per annum charged for the supply of the electric motive power.
Tenderers to specify for the goodwill, furniture, fixtures, and fittings in one sum.
Stock to be taken at market value.
Address J. CURTIN, Empire Hotel, from whom further particulars may be obtained.

TENDERS are invited by the Liquidator of the British Australian Land and Banking Company, Limited, for the Purchase of about three acres of Land, situated on the Forest-road, at Hurstville. The land has a frontage to the Forest-road of 290 feet 9 inches by a depth on one side of 490 feet, on the other side of 689 feet, with a back line of 173 feet or thereabouts. It is close to the Convent, and is a really beautiful site.
The improvements consist of two cottages, one of brick and the other of weatherboard. The property is commonly known as Mrs. Griffin's, and is subject to her life estate, the interest of the Company to be tendered for being only the remainder after such life interest.
Tenders will be received up to November 21st, 1891, and forms of tender and all information may be obtained of
FRED. R. BRETNALL, Solicitor, 74 Castlereagh-street.

TO PAINTERS.
TENDERS, addressed to the Master in Lunacy, will be received up to 11 a.m. on FRIDAY, the 13th instant, for Painting as required on two Houses, Ben Boyd-road, Neutral Bay, and for executing certain minor Plumbing Work.
Full particulars can be obtained and specification inspected at this office.
The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.
(Signed) H. F. BARTON, Master in Lunacy.

FUGITIVE NOTES.

The projected visit of the hulk Success to England is a novel departure in the great work of "advertising the colonies." That celebrated vessel has had a chequered career, having rendered long and valuable service to the State in Port Phillip; and as a typical representative of some of the moving incidents in the early history of Australian colonisation—when she is moored in the Thames and thrown open to sight-seers, she cannot be otherwise than a "success." The interest which we take in being "advertised" is shown in the sums which we have cheerfully expent with that important object in view. Whether it is intended to obtain a Government subsidy for the project now in view has not yet been disclosed; but no one can question that as an advertising medium the visit of the Success to the Antipodes will be eminently effective. It may be presumed that it is as representative of the whole of the colonies this famous and picturesque-looking craft is to make her voyage; for why otherwise should she have left her moorings in Hobson's Bay and come round to Port Jackson? Probably we might have been capable of furnishing sufficient mementoes ourselves to vivify the reminiscences of early days. But federation is in the air, and it was a happy thought of the Melbourne syndicate to send the vessel round here, so that, being brought in contact with the scenes of stirring incidents "on this side," she might go as it were in the full odour of sanctity, and illustrate to the residents on the other side of the world—in London, and at Chicago, mayhap—the basis on which Australian colonisation was founded. It is probably a regrettable incident that the eminent bushranger Mr. Power has not lived to fulfil the important position to which he had been appointed on the Success, being intended, it appears, to accompany the interesting ship as a living specimen. The finding of his dead body in a creek the other day has, unhappily, cut short his career, for as a lecturer he would have added to the interest of the exhibition. Perhaps the syndicate will have him embalmed, and added to the wax figures of the other bushrangers and desperadoes which are a valued portion of the equipment on board. Still it might be possible to add to the interest of the advertisement by obtaining another live bushranger. It is not so certain that Frank Gardiner is dead, and it is generally believed that Mr. Sullivan, the interesting New Zealand murderer of Mungatapu fame, has not yet given in his checks, and might be obtained for a consideration. We might even furnish a contribution from one or two of our vigorous "pushes," to show that the spirit of the old stock has not become extinct. Altogether, with a little kindly assistance, and by apportioning off a few of the superfluous commissioners and officers appointed for Chicago, we might make the visit of the Success to England and America a very interesting and impressive means of "advertising the colonies."

* * * * *

What may happen to a man in Australia has been taught to one of the Mildura marines. Convicted of drunkenness on the testimony of the police, he has had the conviction quashed on review at Quarter Sessions, and evidence shows that he was not only not drunk, but that being a man of unimpeachable character, he was assaulted and "pummelled" by the police, and run into the cells without provocation, and, then, before a magistrate on the bench, convicted of drunkenness on a "policeman's oath." This sort of thing gives one an uneasy feeling, for it tends to confirm in many minds the common impression that a "policeman's oath" is not as Cæsar's wife should be, above suspicion; and that the lieges are in danger sometimes at the hands of those on whom society depends for protection. Now, we have probably as good a body of policemen as is to be found anywhere; competent and reliable as a class and ably officered. But it is all the greater shame if a stigma like this is affixed to them. We may accept the endorsation of the Judge that this case is clear. That the man-of-war's man was wantonly abused, and worse than this, had his liberty sworn away in open Court. No one can doubt the temptation that rests on a policeman. He has to do generally with the worst of characters, and the larrikin insolence to authority breeds in him the feeling that any resentment of authority is defiance of the law. He is prompted, therefore, to bear down even opposition which he may himself have thoughtlessly provoked, and the tendency of his duties is to make him a tyrant. There is a real danger in this, and it is intensified by the professional instinct which he has in him to sheet home a conviction at any cost. There is not a man in the community whom society should more determinedly protect against violence than a policeman; but there is no other who should be more remorselessly punished when he abuses his authority by an act of overbearing tyranny, and, worse than that, when he tries to heap injury on wrong by swearing crime against his victim. Such a charge as this against the police is, happily, rare; but it is frequent enough to give point to the sneer at a "policeman's oath," and to give too good a handle to the charges so often levelled at the force by the enemies of law and order.

The question of "coins and postage stamps" as relics of the colony has been ably discussed in the correspondence columns of the Herald, and the deep interest taken in the subject by the various writers shows how very important the subject is. The recommendation that the subject should be taken up by the Government is especially deserving of notice. In these days it has come to be considered the function of Government to do everything, and there is not the least doubt that there is much done by Government of much less general utility to the community than making a collection of old coins and postage-stamps. It requires a trained mind to fully realise the importance of such a collection, and the educational or elevating influence exercised by it on the human mind. It would be therefore presumptuous in a layman to venture an opinion on the relative merits of these items or to say which of them is most deserving. But as the chief value attaching to them cannot be that of works of art, but rather that of a memento or illustration of the times to which they belonged, it is difficult to see why there should be a limitation like this to the articles of vertu which are deserving of preservation. We learn that his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales takes a much larger scope of the duty of preserving such relics, and that he is a diligent collector of old pipes; and among other distinguished collectors of interesting things, the Queen of Italy has a penchant for old shoes. Now there is a great deal of human nature in an old pipe; and, as an illustration of men and manners, we would back it any day against an old coin or a blurred postage-stamp, while, as a remembrancer of other days, there is nothing more eloquent than an old boot. If anyone doubts that human nature can express itself in an old pipe let him take a survey of a crowd of people on one of our evening trams or ferry-boats, or among the loungers in the Domain; and, if he is at all of a philosophical turn of mind, he cannot fail to see the identity of character stamped upon a man and his pipe. In the cigar and cigarette we see that suppression of individuality which is the blight of the age. Happily these two articles are of an ephemeral nature, and cease to be a record of the dull uniformity of the smokers when they cease to puff. But note the pipe, from the carefully-tinted meerschaum that tells of a respectful deference for others' opinion, through the infinite variety of briars and clays, down to the little black dhudeen that shows an utter disregard for the conventionalities of society, and you find individuality marked on every pipe. And if you want a real transcript of the spirit of the times, and wish to preserve it for the edification of posterity, or for your own contemplative study of the infinite variety of human life, neither stamp nor coin nor any other relic can compare with a collection of old pipes. There may be one exception, and that is a collection of old boots. A boot which has long and faithfully served its owner cannot do otherwise than bear the impress of the wearer; and if a man is judged by his clothes, which he frequently is, there can be no manner of doubt that his character must be infinitely better exemplified in his old boots. If, therefore, the Government is to be moved to interest itself in making a collection of anything as a record of the age—as urged by the philatelists and numismatists in the correspondence columns of the Herald—we shall give our vote for a collection of old boots. One of the minor advantages will be that the work need not increase the deficit which Mr. Dibbs has discovered; for a splendid representative collection may be obtained from any tip. And we do not hesitate to express the opinion that if Mr. Dibbs and his colleagues employ their surplus activities in getting together such a collection they will confer a far greater benefit on the community than giving it a protective tariff.

* * * * *

It seems strangely out of keeping with the spirit of the age that the residents in a suburb should have to fight against the intrusion of great slaughtering-yards among them. The selfish disregard of others' interests shown in such a proposal is hardly more old-fashioned than the assumed necessity that a city's slaughtering-houses should be near the city. It takes a long time to drive into dull intellects the fact that railways have revolutionised the conditions of social life, and that 50 or 70 miles away is now about the equivalent of two or three miles' distance in the days of their grandmothers. No slaughtering-yards or cattle saleyards either should be in the vicinity of crowded centres of population; and why does the Government not realise at once the fact, which sooner or later will be forced on it nilly willy, that both the sale and slaughter of cattle should be far away in the country, not only for the health and comfort of the people, but for the wholesomeness of the meat itself. The thing is so self-evident that argument is wasted on it; and it is a pitiful thing to see a high-handed attempt to force on an unwilling people, as at Homebush, what is an undeniable nuisance, that if effected now by force or political intrigue, will just as surely be suppressed shortly on another turn of the political wheel. With such facilities as now exist for conveying meat for long distances in a chilled state, and having stores and salerooms for its distribution at convenience, it exhibits extraordinary narrow-mindedness to see a body of representative men persisting in the old-fashioned idea of driving cattle through crowded streets, and having them slaughtered in proximity to a dense population.

* * * * *

The projected visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury to Australia is an incident of interest and significance. It shows how largely the colonies are looming up in public attention when an ecclesiastical dignitary of such eminence determines to travel such a distance to see for himself the trend of questions in which he is most concerned. That he will receive a right royal welcome goes without saying. For though we are said to be an irreverent sort of people in the colonies, there is a marked disposition to give honour where honour is unmistakably due; and the personal character, as well as the ability, and high dignity of the Primate of England, will receive ample recognition from every class and denomination in the colonies. Whether there may be any particular object in the visit as bearing either on the relations of the colonial Episcopal Church to the home Church, or of both to the other denominations and the world in general, remains to be seen. But whatever may be the effect in the colonies, there can be little doubt that the trip will have a reflex action on the Church of England in the mother country. The independence of religious life in the colonies, when emancipated from the leading-strings of the State, the spirit of democracy penetrating even into the sacred things of the Church, and the absence of any sign of decay or destructiveness in this condition of things, will be a revelation to Dr. Benson; and we should not be surprised if the revelation should, less or more, have the effect on ecclesiastical conservatism which our methods are undoubtedly working on the political and social life of England.

William Clarke, chairman of the district, took the chair at 10 a.m. There were present the Revs. James Somerville, Henry Woodhouse, W. H. George, John Gardiner, A. S. Swift, Robert Johnston, Thomas R. M'Michael, John F. Orr, E. J. Rodd, W. G. Taylor, B. J. Meek, R. East, William Halse Rogers, J. W. Winspear, J. G. Morris Taylor, Frederick Colwell, C. J. Prescott, B.A., Thomas Parker, P. J. Stephen, and H. W. H. Butler. After devotional exercises, during which the Revs. James Somerville and J. W. Winspear led in prayer, the chairman delivered a short but appropriate address. The Rev. W. H. George having been elected secretary by a practically unanimous vote, the following appointments were made, viz.:—The Rev. R. East, assistant secretary; the Rev. J. G. Morris Taylor, secretary for church property; the Rev. F. Colwell, secretary for Sabbath schools; and the Revs. F. Colwell, Thomas Parker, and W. Halse Rogers, reporters for the press. It was agreed that the hours of sessions should be from 10 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. A message of fraternal greeting was sent to the Sydney East District meeting. Dispensations of absence, on the ground of sickness, were granted to the Revs. S. Wilkinson, J. Oram, and R. W. Orton, to whom it was decided to send letters of sympathy. A dispensation for one day was also granted to the Rev. Gustavus Thompson, who was unavoidably absent. The Rev. Henry Woodhouse asked permission to become a supernumerary for one year on account of ill-health, at the ensuing conference. The meeting expressed its sympathy with Mr. Woodhouse, and decided to recommend the conference to grant the request. The questions touching the character of each minister were satisfactorily answered. The Rev. E. J. Rodd satisfactorily answered the same question with regard to the theological students. It was resolved to recommend the conference to advance the Rev. H. W. H. Butler a year in his probation. The Rev. E. J. Rodd, secretary of the examining committee, pointed out that, in view of their great importance, the examinations of probationers ought to take place simultaneously in all the districts of the conferences. It was, therefore, determined to ask conference to so fix the dates of holding district meetings that this may be made possible. The matter of stationing ministers for the year was passed on to conference. Permission was given to all the ministers to attend the next conference. The meeting adjourned at 12.15 p.m. The chairman opened the afternoon session at 2 p.m. by announcing a hymn, after which the Revs. J. Gardiner and W. H. George led in prayer. An hour followed, during which the obituaries of the Rev. J. Bowes and the Rev. Dr. Kelynack were dealt with. Several grateful and touching references were made to the deceased, whose devotion to the work of God was so marked and whose success in that work was abundant. A telegram was received from the Sydney East District meeting, reciprocating the fraternal greeting. About 5 p.m. the Rev. W. Clarke, who has not quite recovered from an attack of influenza, vacated the chair, and the Rev. John Gardiner presided during the remainder of the session. Messrs. Joseph Walker and Alexander Stephen presented themselves as candidates for the ministry, and were examined in theology by the Rev. E. J. Rodd, after which the reports concerning their manuscript and preached sermons were submitted.

SYDNEY (EAST) DISTRICT WESLEYAN MEETING.

The first annual session of the East Sydney district meeting commenced its sittings in the Bourke-street Schoolroom yesterday morning. In the absence of the president of the conference, who is also the chairman of the district, the Rev. G. Martin was deputed to take the chair. After singing and reading of the Scriptures, the Revs. W. J. Davis, G. Lane, and G. Martin engaged in prayer.

The first business of the district was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:—Secretary, Rev. J. S. Austin; assistant secretary, Rev. F. Duesbury; Sunday-school secretary, Rev. G. C. Percival; property secretary, Rev. E. King.

The roll was then called, and the following ministers answered to their names:—H. W. T. Pincombe, G. Martin, W. J. Davis, R. Sellors, D.D., J. Clifton, F. Duesbury, R. Bavin, G. Lane, J. G. Middleton, F. Firth, J. G. Austin, J. Phillips, J. Woolnough, A. Holliday, C. Jones, W. Lucas, W. Glasson, G. H. Cowles, J. Bryant, E. King, and G. C. Percival.

The following ministers were absent:—Rev. G. Brown, who was in Queensland; J. E. Moulton, J. Monahan, C. J. M'Coy, W. E. Bourne, P. Clipsham, and J. W. Dowson.

The meeting decided to send a letter of sympathy to the Rev. J. Monahan in his sickness, and to grant him a dispensation of absence during the sittings of the session.

The death of the Rev. G. Pickering was reported to the meeting, and it was decided that the Revs. G. Lane and H. W. T. Pincombe prepare the obituary.

Sympathetic reference was made to the death of the Rev. Dr. Kelynack, and it was resolved that the Revs. G. Lane and R. Sellors, D.D., be requested to prepare a suitable record to be placed on the minutes of the district meeting, and that a letter of sympathy be sent to the bereaved family.

The meeting also decided to send a letter to Mrs. Bowes, expressing sympathy in the loss of her husband, who had rendered much good service to the Church.

The usual questions relating to ministerial character were then dealt with, and satisfactory replies given thereto.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After the devotional exercises, the Secretary read a telegram from the chairman of the West Sydney district meeting conveying fraternal greetings, and a suitable reply was ordered to be sent.

Dr. SELLORS moved the following resolution in regard to the theological training of candidates for the ministry:—"That this district meeting recommends to the conference that for next year an arrangement for the theological training of candidates be made similar to that which has existed during the present year, and that no minister be appointed to the office of theological tutor by the next conference." This was seconded by the Rev. G. Lane, and carried.

The secretary read a telegram from the Rev. J. E. Moulton, in reply to a wire sent him in the morning, to the effect that he wished to go back to Tonga if the conference deemed proper to so appoint him.

In regard to the extension of the term of itinerancy, the Rev. G. Lane stated that having obtained legal advice, he was authorised to inform the meeting that there would be no difficulty in having the term extended if the Church would endeavour to obtain the sanction of Parliament. It was decided to discuss the matter at the mixed district meeting.

Dr. SELLORS moved,—"That the conversation on the subject of the state of the work of God be held immediately after the financial district meeting, which would probably be on Thursday morning."

This was seconded by the Rev. R. BAVIN and carried unanimously.

The meeting was then adjourned till this morning.

CADBURY'S COCOA.
The Editor of the Medical Annual, after a careful examination of CADBURY'S COCOA, pronounces it to be both a food and a beverage of the highest quality, and counsels the Medical Profession to remember, in recommending Cocoa, that the name of Cadbury on any packet is a guarantee of purity.—[ADVT.]

AUSTRALIAN BANKING COMPANY.

SPECIAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS.

VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION DECIDED UPON.

SURPLUS OF ASSETS OVER LIABILITIES OF £60,000.

A special meeting of shareholders in the Australian Banking Company was held yesterday at the Carrington Hall, Castlereagh-street, for the purpose of considering a recommendation by the directorate that the company go into voluntary liquidation. The directors of the company and about 100 of the general body of shareholders attended the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Francis Abigail, and the proceedings throughout were of a cordial nature.

The CHAIRMAN, in opening the meeting, said that the company was brought to its present position by reason of the refusal of the Australian Joint Stock Bank to allow of an increase in the overdraft, which stood at £6418. This refusal of the bank was an ungenerous one, inasmuch as the company had carried on business with the bank for over four years, and had passed through the bank annually cash to the amount of from £200,000 to £300,000. Under ordinary conditions the company could have carried its securities to some other bank, and opened an account, but in the present peculiar position of financial institutions this could not be done. The Australian Joint Stock Bank held as security for the overdraft of £6418 deeds to the value of £25,000 and from £6000 to £7000 of trade bills. (Shame.) And in addition to these securities the bank was offered by some of the shareholders a personal bond for the purpose of allowing the overdraft to be increased, if necessary, to £20,000 or £25,000. The directorate of the company did all that men could do to enable business to be satisfactorily carried on, but failing to achieve success, the directorate decided that the only course open was to meet the shareholders and recommend that the company go into voluntary liquidation. During his absence in England the shareholders had a meeting and passed a resolution making the company, which it was proposed with the sanction of Parliament to turn into a bank of issue, one with unlimited liability in place of limited liability. (Cries of "No.") He was quoting from the record of what was done at that meeting. Moreover, the legal interpretation of the new articles of association was that the liability was now unlimited. That being so it became the duty of the shareholders to protect themselves by taking such action as would at the least possible cost realise the assets of the company in a way that would allow of the payment of all debts, relieve the shareholders of all burdens, and return to them a portion at least of the money they had invested in the company. (Hear, hear.) He now desired to place before the meeting a statement of the company's affairs. The statement was as follows:—

To Australian Joint Stock Bank				£6,418	14	6
To depositors: Three years, £1008; 12 months, £63,640 2s 10d; 9 months, £184, 6 months, £3503 10s; 3 months, £244 0s 2d; total				£68,579	13	0

The shareholders would understand, said Mr. Abigail, that a good many of the debts set down in the balance-sheet as "bad" were old ones to which reference had been made at the half-yearly meetings, and for the extinction of which they had decided to set aside £3000 annually. A telegram appeared in the newspapers the other day stating that the Court in Brisbane had appointed a liquidator to deal with the Brisbane Branch. This branch, they might bear in mind, was indebted to them to the extent of something like £1500 or £1600, hence there was little reason for those in Brisbane to fear that the assets in that city would not be looked after from the head office. As to the transactions with the Australian Joint Stock Bank, it would interest the meeting to learn that the directorate offered to the bank security to the amount of £74,000 for an overdraft up to £25,000, but the offer was distinctly refused. The total liabilities of the company stood at £105,309 0s 3d, and the assets, exclusive of bad and doubtful debts, stood at £165,286 12s, leaving a surplus of assets over liabilities of £59,977 11s 9d. The directors felt satisfied that in view of all the surrounding circumstances they could not see their way clear to continue business, and they therefore recommended to the shareholders that the company be wound up voluntarily. (Hear, hear.)

In answer to a shareholder, who drew attention to the fact that he had advanced £100 to the company by way of temporary loan, in order to do what he could to help the company to tide over its difficulty, Mr. Abigail said it was impossible to return the money at that stage. When the shareholders generally were invited to subscribe to the special trust fund to help the company over the financial crisis in the city, a sum of £1400 was raised, and those who rendered assistance in this way had a preferential claim upon the assets of the company. (Cheers.)

Mr. GEO. LAMBERT said he had prepared several questions upon which he desired to obtain information.

The questions were put and answered by the chairman.

Mr. J. CREER said he had no hesitation in saying that every one of the shareholders had to some extent been led astray, as matters were put before them in such a way at the last meeting that they did not understand that the company was to become one with unlimited liability. They made their old articles of association null and void with a view to bringing the company under the Banking Act.

The CHAIRMAN said he would like to draw Mr. Creer's attention to the fact that it was he (Mr. Creer) who seconded the resolution upon which the change was made. The resolution read,—"That a new company be formed, to be called the Australian Banking Company, for the purpose of taking over the whole business of the company, such company to be a non-limited company."

Mr. CREER said he never seconded any resolution which included the word "unlimited." The resolution he seconded was that they become a company under new articles of association, with a view to becoming a bank of issue under the Banking Act, and doubling their liability. He never approved of making the liability an unlimited one, such as it now was.

The Rev. W. BAIN said that at the meeting in question it was distinctly stated that their liability would be doubled. The term "unlimited" was not included in the resolution put to the meeting.

Mr. J. C. WEST said there was nothing to be gained by further discussion, and he therefore moved,—"That it has been proved to the satisfaction of this meeting that the company cannot, by reason of its liabilities, continue its business, and that it is advisable to wind up the same, and that the company be wound up voluntarily."

At the suggestion of Mr. Purvis the words "under the supervision of the Court" were added to the resolution.

Mr. CHAS. DIXSON seconded the resolution.

Mr. ARKINSTALL said he was not in favour of voluntary liquidation. Before going into that they ought to have a commission of inquiry. He proposed that the meeting appoint a committee of five or more shareholders, not being directors or officers of the association, to report on the liabilities, value of assets and securities of the company, and that the meeting be adjourned until such report was prepared.

Several shareholders pointed out that if there were any delay in deciding upon voluntary liquidation any creditor might apply to the Courts for a writ, and have the company placed in compulsory liquidation. The resolution re the appointment of a commission of inquiry was then dropped.

The resolution that the company go into liquidation was then put and carried.

It was also resolved that the board of liquidators consist of two members of the company—one to be elected by the shareholders and the other to be elected by the depositors, and the liquidators each receive remuneration at the rate of ½ per cent.

Mr. Abigail was unanimously chosen liquidator in the interests of the shareholders, and complimentary reference was made to the good service he had rendered the company, and to the confidence all felt in him.

Mr. ABIGAIL, in acknowledging his appointment, said it was an expression of confidence which would increase his energy in seeing the matter through to a successful issue. Their business in the past had been most profitable, and the last half-yearly balance-sheet was the best they had ever had. But very cruel treatment had been meted out to them, and as a consequence they had had to succumb.

The meeting then dispersed. This afternoon, at half-past 2, a meeting of depositors in the Australian Banking Company will be held in the Carrington Hall.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

MACQUARIE WARD.

A meeting of the friends and supporters of Alderman S. E. Lees was convened by circular at the Edinburgh Castle Hotel, corner of Bathurst and Pitt streets, to arrange for the approaching election. Alderman W. Kippax presided. A resolution was unanimously adopted, expressing renewed confidence in Alderman Lees, and the formation of a committee to secure his re-election. Alderman Lees returned thanks for their continued confidence, and promised faithful adherence in the future to his municipal duties. Over 50 names were enrolled, and many promises of support by letter in case of a contest, which is not thought probable. A vote of thanks to the chairman, and the appointment of N. J. Mackenzie as hon. secretary, was carried.

MR. J. F. CULLEN AT ST. LEONARDS.

Mr. J. F. Cullen, one of the members of Parliament for St. Leonards, addressed about 100 of his constituents in the Masonic Hall, St. Leonards, last night. Dr. Ward occupied the chair. Mr. Cullen, who had a good reception, said he had not come there as a candidate, but he did not think the time was far distant when he would have to meet them as a candidate. He had not come there to give an account of his stewardship because he was only before them a short time ago, and since then very little had been done to give any account of. He thought that possibly a decline in the energy of management and the vigilance necessary in dealing with parties had something to do with the retirement of the Parkes Government. Looking at the Government from outside they felt somewhat dissatisfied and disappointed at the interruption of public business. He wished to speak of the new Government. Mr. Dibbs deserved a great deal of credit for the selection he had made, leaving the "wild cat" party outside. The members of the Government stood well in the House. Take Mr. John See. He was not the sort of man to distort facts and figures to justify any attempt to introduce protection. He was too ingenuous to lend himself to any but the fairest representation of the financial condition of the country. He went on to speak of the members of the new Ministry, and, referring to the inclusion of Mr. Barton, he said that gentleman completely turned on himself. He had every respect for Mr. Barton's ability, but he could not join him in his hope for Australian federation with the present Government. He was afraid that federation would be blocked for many a long day, and they would lose the present opportunity of bringing about Australian unity, because he had joined with Mr. Dibbs to make protection first and federation afterwards. He only hoped when the House met that Mr. Barton would be able to give an explanation of his conduct. As to the policy of the Government, Mr. Dibbs said he was going straight out for protection, but when he went to explain the reason he was merely going to bring it in as an expedient. He wanted an excuse for bringing in the policy. Mr. Dibbs said that we had been living on loans and land booms, and they must find money for minor unproductive works. The money that had been spent out of loans for minor unproductive works was a mere trifle. To-day we could get sufficient for our railways and our tramways to cover our national debt. Victoria had borrowed more than we had during the four years ending 1890. Was it right for the representative of the country before the world to decry the security of our position when he knew that the depression was general throughout the world? Why this zeal about minor unproductive works? Were roads and bridges meant by unproductive works? If so, the way to deal with them was by passing a local government bill. Were branch railways and tramways minor works? Then if they were, Mr. Dibbs lost a splendid opportunity of preaching the doctrine of private enterprise, but he wanted some excuse for protection. There was a tendency growing up in favour of State socialism, and it was pretty easy to present a case in favour of the State doing everything, but when they looked into the matter it was easily upset. He thought he saw signs of socialism in the late Government, and perhaps it had something to do with the retirement of the Parkes Government. The new unionism said the State had the right to find work for every man, but unionism had the right to say who should do the work, and no one, unless he paid the entrance fees and levies, had the right to work at all. That was the claim of the new unionism. Why the London dockers closed their books and would not take any more members; they said they had enough dockers. They would not let some men get work if they desired it. They had this loud demand, blindly made often, for the reconstruction of society. A number of those who held these socialistic views should look at the post and telegraph system. There was the best example of State socialism. The socialists in England did the same thing until last year, when there was a strike among the letter carriers, and the Postmaster-General of England was denounced as a "sweater," and it was stated that the post-office officials were little better than serfs. If that was so under the beginning of State socialism what would it be if all works were carried out by the Government. Look at the post-office, the one example they had of State socialism, and it was a failure. They must have either voluntary or compulsory co-operation, and which was better, voluntary co-operation as they had it on their farms, in their factories, in their large business houses; or compulsory co-operation where they could not get out of it. He did hope the young men would look into the cry of the State doing everything. They wanted to be free men. He wished to say a few words about the prospects that were before them in their political situation. If Mr. Dibbs had come forward and said they would pass their Estimates so as to keep the financial affairs of the country in the square condition they had been in during the past two years, he thought he would have been supported by the whole House; but he had chosen his own course, and the freetraders must resist protection, and it would not be any blame on them if the Estimates were not passed this year. The freetraders could do nothing but oppose the introduction of protection. The appeal of protection today was not to the poor, but the rich, and they must resist it as unnecessary and mischievous. A word about the mixing up of loan moneys and revenue. If they contracted for £3,000,000 worth of works they did not think of raising that money all at once; no Treasurer ever did this, and it would be a great mistake to do it. The same thing was done by private men; they borrowed as they went along. He foresaw, he was sorry to say, an inevitable early dissolution of Parliament; it must come. He thought it was a pity it should have to come so soon, but on the shoulders of the present Government must rest the blame for disturbing the commercial and financial affairs of the country.

A vote of thanks to the chairman closed the meeting.

THE CHICAGO EXHIBITION COMMISSION

A meeting of the New South Wales Commission for the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago was held in the Colonial Secretary's Department yesterday. There were present—Mr. W. M'Millan (president), Messrs. R. Burdett Smith, M.L.C., R. D. Adams, W. H. Suttor, M.L.C., Dr. Renwick, J. Martin, M.L.A., W. S. Dowel, M.L.A., G. H. Greene, W. D. Cohen, J. Davies, M.L.C., J. Inglis, M.L.A., H. Hudson, A. W. Meeks, J. F. Burns, J. Garrard, M.L.A., F. E. Joseph, H. C. Frazer, J. S. Brunton, and J. Abbott, M.L.A. Letters were received from the Prime Ministers of South Australia and Tasmania, asking whether it would be advisable for the colonies to combine for the purpose of meeting the expenditure common to all the colonies, and in the matter of representation. These letters were forwarded to the commission by the Premier for an expression of opinion. The president said these letters opened up a very large question, to which he had given a good deal of consideration. Personally he could not exactly see how it could be advantageous to them to join with the other colonies in the preparation of the exhibits for the exhibition. It seemed feasible and only reasonable when the exhibits from the different colonies got to Chicago that there should be some kind of co-operation between the different executive commissioners to work together. He failed to see how if they were united into one large central commission, which he supposed was the idea of the letters received, how it would in any way facilitate the representation of the colonies as a whole. The work would have to be done under any circumstances in detail; each of the colonies would have to prepare its own exhibits, and each colony would have to have some central administration such as they were. He suggested that it would be well for the executive commissioners of the different colonies to work together at Chicago, so that if one space was allotted for the whole of the Australias there might be a proper exposition of the whole of the colonies, and it would be the means of bringing together the better classification of the colonies. After some remarks from members of the commission, approving of the suggestion of the president, the matter dropped, the president stating that he would report what the idea of the commission was to the Premier. The matter of office accommodation was further deferred, as no suitable offices had yet been offered to the commission. The following committees were appointed:—Agricultural and Forest Products: W. M'Court, J. Ednie Brown, H. W. Newman, James Inglis, J. S. Brunton, James Paterson, Jacob Garrard, A. W. Meeks, G. H. Greene, A. Kethel, Joseph Creer, Sydney Smith, John Hindle, Dawson. Wool, Silk, &c.: James Paterson, Joseph Abbott, W. H. Suttor, G. H. Greene, W. J. Lyne, G. H. Cox, Alexr. Cameron. Viticulture, Wines, &c.: F. E. Joseph, J. F. Burns, James Inglis, C. J. Roberts, N. D. Cohen, Charles Moore, E. W. O'Sullivan, W. M'Court. Horticulture: J. Ednie Brown, James Inglis, Charles Moore, A. Kethel. Livestock: Joseph Abbott, W. H. Suttor, G. H. Greene, G. H. Cox, Dr. Cox, Sydney Smith, J. Dawson. Fish and Fisheries: Dr. Cox, J. H. Carruthers, E. W. O'Sullivan, George Thornton. Mines, Mining, and Metallurgy: H. W. Newman, F. E. Joseph, J. F. Burns, John Davies, Jacob Garrard, James Martin, C. L. Garland, E. W. O'Sullivan, James Torpy, W. S. Dowel, Francis Abigail, Sydney Smith. Machinery and Implements: H. W. Newman, John Davies, J. D. Fitzgerald, James Martin, R. Hudson, J. See. Manufactures: F. E. Joseph, C. J. Roberts, John Davies, Louis Phillips, A. W. Meeks, G. H. Cox, R. Hudson, J. S. Brunton, A. Kethel, D. Manson, H. C. Frazer, James Martin, J. See. Fine Arts: R. Burdett Smith, Edward Combes, Bruce Smith, C. J. Roberts, George Thornton, W. H. Paling, D. Manson, H. C. Frazer. Liberal Arts, Education, and Ethnology: James Inglis, J. D. Fitzgerald, J. F. Burns, J. Garrard, J. H. Storey, R. Burdett Smith, W. H. Suttor, Bruce Smith, Dr. Cox, J. H. Carruthers, D. Manson. The matter of the women's work committee was deferred. The form of application for space and the official programme were approved. The president reported that he had seen the Premier as to the question of finances, and the matter was to be considered at a Cabinet meeting. The president explained that the administrative committee had concluded its labours, and it devolved on the commission to state what it would do. He thought there should be some committee which would relieve him of a great deal of work which must fall upon him. The administrative committee was then dissolved, and it was decided that there should be an administrative and finance committee, consisting of seven members; the following were appointed:—Messrs. Adams, Burns, Martin, Meeks, Hudson, Joseph Abbott, and W. H. Suttor. Mr. Martin moved "That all matters of finance, appointment, and general detail be referred to the administrative committee, they to report to the commission." The motion was seconded and agreed to.

THE MAIL STEAMERS.

The R.M.S. Ophir sailed from Plymouth on her maiden voyage to Australia on November 7.

The R.M.S. Orotava left Suez on November 6 for Australia.

The Messageries Maritimes steamer Australien passed Suez outward on 9th instant.

THE R.M.S. ARCADIA.

The R.M.S. Arcadia has been fixed to leave Melbourne at 2 p.m. on Thursday, and may be expected to arrive in Sydney early on Saturday morning, 14th instant.

THE UNION S.S. COMPANY'S LINE.

The Waihora, hence to Wellington, arrived at her destination on Sunday afternoon last; all well.

The Te Anau arrived at Auckland on Tuesday morning (yesterday) from Sydney.

The Hauroto is to sail from Wellington on Friday next for this port.

ARRIVAL OF A GERMAN WARSHIP.

A steel-built corvette, belonging to the German Navy, the Buzzard, arrived here yesterday for orders. Her destination will probably be Samoa. The Buzzard is a new fast ship, and carries eight guns of heavy calibre. She was launched last year, and commissioned at Kiel for foreign service in July of this year by Captain Gretz, who has with him as a staff Lieutenants Reibe, Kroncke, Herrklotsh, Dr. Uthemann, Chief Engineer Hochmann, and Paymaster Block. As a specimen of the German Navy the Buzzard is superior to many of the ships that have visited here. She is rigged as a three-masted schooner, and her displacement measurement is 1580 tons, while her engine power is stated to be 2800 horse, and her speed 16 knots. She is fitted with twin screws, and on the voyage out has given a very satisfactory account of her sea-going qualities, as well as her steaming capabilities. The Buzzard left Kiel August 15, called at Plymouth, Gibraltar, Port Said, Aden, Colombo, Batavia, Thursday Island, and at Cooktown. Her stay here will probably extend over a fortnight.

HUGE TIMBER RAFTS.

The idea of constructing a huge timber raft at Puget Sound, and either sailing or towing it across the Pacific to Australia, is not a new one, and on the Atlantic seaboard of America the experiment was made long ago. It did not prove an unqualified success. In one instance the rafts of great logs broke adrift, and for months after they were drifting about the North Atlantic, right in the track of merchantmen, and, of course, became a very serious danger to navigation. It now seems that a Mr. Charles Moore, of Galveston, Texas, proposes to undertake the shipment of a log-raft from Galveston to London, as an "experiment." He has consulted some of the oldest sea captains in America, who believe that the experiment will prove successful. Mr. Moore considers that there is less risk in shipping a log from Galveston to London than from St. John to New York. A raft from Galveston to London, it is urged, would not encounter the severe storms and seas incident to the coast from the Bay of Fundy to New York. Mr. Moore proposes to have the raft ready to start late in July of next year. Three months will be consumed in making it. It will consist of three sections, spiked together after the fashion of a catamaran. The structure will be put together in Galveston Harbour, and towed across the ocean by the steam-tug Storm King and a steamer of 3000 tons belonging to Messrs. Leyland, of Liverpool. The raft is to consist of Texas yellow pine, and is intended for ship and house building. If the experiment proves a failure the loss will be about 90,000dols.—plus the injury sustained by ships that may come in violent contact with the drifting logs. The American and British authorities are invited to seriously consider whether this new ocean peril should be allowed to come into existence.

ENGLISH SHIPPING.

By the mail are the following:—

The new ship Dunsyre has arrived in the Clyde from Falmouth for the purpose of being supplied with a couple of new masts. It will be remembered that she left Glasgow not long ago for Sydney, and while off the English coast was dismasted.

Amongst the overdues on October 2 were the General Domville, Taltal to New York, 40 guineas paid; Minnie Brown, 25 guineas paid; Rajah, Iquique to Rotterdam, 8 guineas. The Silverhorn, on which 15 guineas per cent. had been paid, is reported arrived.

A large four-masted ship was launched by Messrs. T. R. Oswald and Co., at Milford Haven, last week, named Windermere. She has been built for Messrs. Fisher and Sprott, London, at a cost of £27,000. Her registered tonnage is 2000 tons, and she will carry 4500 tons deadweight, or 3500 tons general London cargo. She has a double suit of sails and full outfit.

THE INSURANCE ON THE R.M.S. ROME.

The account of the fire on board the R.M.S. Rome has appeared in these columns, and with regard to the question of insurance a report to hand mentions that though the P. and O. Company run their own marine risks, they are careful to cover the hulls of their steamers against fire when in dock. On the Rome £150,000 was insured in London for the risk in dock during alterations and until delivered in London. Large lines were written by the London companies, who amongst them took about two-thirds of the amount, the remaining third being placed at Lloyd's. The claim will be a very heavy one. In the meantime, as showing the confidence reposed in the great company which owns this boat, it may be mentioned that when the underwriters were invited to send a surveyor down to the ship to look over her and advise the best course to pursue, the reply was, "We leave everything in your own hands: do as you think fair and proper." The underwriters are well aware that in leaving the P. and O. Company to act as if uninsured, they are taking the best course to secure the most favourable issue to the disaster: at the same time it must be gratifying to ever such a company as the P. and O. to be addressed by underwriters in such terms as these.

HALF-YEARLY REPORT OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE BANK OF AUSTRALASIA with the ACCOUNTS for the HALF-YEAR to 13th April, 1891, presented to the Proprietors at the Half-yearly General Meeting held on Thursday, 1st October, 1891.

REPORT.

The directors submit to the proprietors the Balance-sheet of the Bank as at the 13th April last, with the profit Account for the half-year ended on that date. After providing for rebate on bills current, for income tax, for colonial taxes on note circulation, and for all bad and doubtful debts, the net profit for the half-year amounted to £111,493 4s 8d. The addition of £15,097 13s 11d brought forward from the previous half-year gives a disposable balance of £126,590 18s 7d, of which the dividend and bonus declared will absorb £112,000, leaving £14,590 18s 7d to be carried forward to the next account.

The directors, after their usual examination of the colonial accounts, remain satisfied that the business is conducted with prudence and discrimination, although the aggregate amount is somewhat restricted as compared with that of the previous six months.

Pastoral prospects, as far as the season is concerned, may be regarded as highly satisfactory; but on the other hand, the price of wool has further declined since the issue of the last report.

General business in the colonies still suffers to a considerable extent from the reaction following over-speculation three years ago.

The directors much regret to report the death of their valued colleague, Mr. Joseph Harrold, who was elected in the year 1888.

Mr. Edward Montague Nelson, J.P. (managing director of Nelson Bros., Limited) is a candidate for the vacancy, and the court of directors have much pleasure in recommending his election by the proprietors.

The dividend declared is at the rate of 12½ per cent. per annum, with a bonus of 6s per share, or in all £2 16s per share, for the half-year, being at the rate of 14 per cent. per annum, and it will be payable, free of income tax, in London and in the colonies, on the 2nd instant.

W. A. M'ARTHUR, Chairman.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1891.

The annual banquet of the Lord Mayor of London was held on Monday evening. In reply to the customary toast the Marquis of Salisbury said that Mr. Balfour's work in Ireland was the best that country had ever experienced, and that peace and freedom from priestly dominion would follow the completion of the legislative programme of the Government.

Lord Salisbury also asserted that peace within and without the Empire was not troubled with a speck of a cloud on the horizon foreboding danger.

He further declared that the British Government had no intention of evacuating Egypt until that country had been placed in a condition to repel external attack and restain internal disorder.

Lord Salisbury regretted that New South Wales was in danger of no longer wearing the unspotted robe of freetrade.

The Berlin banker Sommerfeld, who, with his son, attempted suicide after the collapse of their firm, is dead.

The German nobility has been severely affected by the recent financial suspensions, and many nobles have lost hundreds of thousands of marks.

It is expected that other Berlin banks will fail, and that allied financial houses will share a similar fate.

A leading member of the English Bar has been retained to defend the Duc d'Orléans, the co-respondent in the Melba divorce suit.

Brigandage is rampant in Russia. At Kazan, Koursk, and Voronest goods trains have been plundered, and farmhouses belonging to the Russian gentry have been sacked.

The Paris Bourse exhibits great weakness. The Russian rouble has dropped nearly one-half in value, and a financial crisis is feared. M. de Rothschild, of Paris, is accused of "bearing" the last loan, but he denies the imputation.

The Government of Madagascar has refused to transact British and German consular business when it is tendered through the French Consul in Madagascar.

The defeat of Mr. J. E. Redmond at the Cork election has given an impulse to the Fenian movement.

By a cyclone in the Andaman Islands 60 persons have been killed and 200 injured.

Mr. H. M. Stanley and his wife arrived at Adelaide on Monday by the Arcadia. In an interview upon African affairs which appears elsewhere Mr. Stanley describes Emin as an utterly indecisive man, with no mind of his own, very well learned in bugs and beetles, and a most interesting talker on natural history.

At St. Leonards last night Mr. Cullen addressed a meeting of his constituents. He said that he did not think that the time was far distant when he would again have to come before them as a candidate, and that the freetraders could do nothing but oppose the introduction of protection.

The annual race for the amateur sculling championship of Victoria was rowed on the Yarra on Monday, and was won by W. Bridson, of Wellington, New Zealand.

Lord Sheffield and his team of cricketers arrived at Adelaide by the Arcadia on Monday.

In a speech at a banquet given by the Mayor of Melbourne on Monday night the Earl of Hopetoun emphatically contradicted the statements made recently by critics that the finances of the colonies were rotten, and that the loyalty of colonists to the empire was not worth an hour's purchase.

The death is announced of Mr. James M'Laurin, of Yarra Yarra station, near Albury. He was one of the oldest pastoralists in the district.

The Full Court yesterday upheld the appeal of Frederick Barrington Bloomfield, the plaintiff in the case of Bloomfield v. Jenkins, against the decision of the Land Court.

At a meeting of the New South Wales Commission for the Chicago Exhibition held yesterday, letters were received from the Premiers of South Australia and Tasmania asking whether it would be advisable for the colonies to combine for the purpose of meeting the expenditure common to all of them and also for the purpose of representation. The letters were referred to the Premier.

At a special meeting of the shareholders of the Australian Banking Company held yesterday it was decided to go into voluntary liquidation.

The Mayor of Sydney returned from Melbourne by the midday express yesterday.

In reply to a deputation from the Local Option League yesterday the Postmaster-General promised to introduce a bill on the local option question which he felt sure would be satisfactory to the temperance societies.

The Bowral Labour Electoral League has taken umbrage at the speech delivered by the Postmaster-General at Picton, as it is considered to have contained a sneer at the labour representatives. Mr. Kidd is to be asked for an explanation.

The number of bales of wool received at Sydney last week by rail and coastwise for export was 35,202, of the value of £458,000.

During last week 318,997ozs. of silver were produced by the Broken Hill mines, the value of that quantity being £59,500.

The Times states that the Land Tax Bill of New Zealand will have a disastrous effect, as it virtually destroys the mortgage system as applied to estates, and will lead to the recall from that colony of all realisable capital.

The announcement that a new claimant to the Tichborne title and estates has been discovered in Sydney, in the person of a lunatic named Cresswell, is exciting public interest in England.

It is considered impossible to establish the identity of Cresswell with the missing baronet unless he bears on the left forearm the emblems of faith, hope, and charity over the initials R.D.T.

It is reported that Dr. Robert Giffen, the well-known British statistician, has received instructions from Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to make inquiries while in Australia into the financial condition of the colonies.

The result of Dr. Giffen's investigations will be presented to Mr. Goschen before the introduction of his promised legislation to allow trustees to invest trust funds in Australian stocks.

On Monday, Mr. W. J. Lyne, the Minister for Works, officially inspected the ship Sobraon, which is being converted into a nautical training school for the accommodation of the Vernon boys.

Yesterday a wharf labourer named James M'Kay obtained a verdict for £500 and costs against the Victorian Railway Commissioners for injuries received through being knocked down by a railway truck.

An action was commenced in Melbourne yesterday, by Mrs. Ada Brown, for £3000 damages against the Victorian Railway Commissioners, for injuries received through falling over the end of the platform at Yarraville.

The Earl and Countess of Jersey and their family have taken up their residence at Sutton Forest for the summer months.

Sir F. Sargood and his colleagues in the Victorian Legislative Council have tendered their resignations to Mr. Munro, as they are not entirely with the other members of the Cabinet in reference to the one man one vote bill. Mr. Munro has not yet decided whether he will recommend the Governor to accept them or not.

The Marquis di Rudini, the Italian Premier, has claimed that his administration has been the means of effecting a saving of 50,000,000 lire during the past two years, and has produced a surplus of 9,000,000 lire. The relations between Italy and the other Powers are of a pacific character.

The province of Rio Grande do Sul, the most southerly region of Brazil, has declared its independence of the Republic. Discontent is general throughout Brazil.

The Customs receipts yesterday amounted to £11,657.

"Consequent upon the operation of the M'Kinley tariff the American Customs for the last quarter fell £7,000,000." The M'Kinley tariff is said by its supporters in the United States to be the most scientific and perfect method for giving effect to protectionist principles which has yet been devised by the wit of man. Similar views with respect to this admirable agency for restricting trade and establishing monopolies are professed by the representatives of protection in these colonies. Other tariff systems, such as the half-and-half ones of Queensland or South Australia, or even the more drastic one of Victoria, are good in their way as stages on the road; but the goal, the bright ideal, towards which New South Wales tariff reform should approximate, is the M'Kinley tariff. In that magnificent instrument of isolation and prohibition the talent and experience of the protectionist statesmanship of the United States have combined all their efforts, and the result is as near perfection on protectionist lines as it is possible to go. And now what the cable message tells us of the working of this consummate piece of State craft in the way of finance is that it has reduced the Customs revenue of the United States by the amount of seven millions sterling for the quarter, or at the rate of £28,000,000 per annum, and has as a consequence brought the revenue of the month considerably below the amount of the expenditure.

Our local apostles of the gospel of commercial restriction will no doubt be ready to assure us that the huge gap made in the national revenue of America by the working of this system is at once proof and measure of its efficiency in effecting the objects for which it was designed. All this enormous quantity of imports, they may tell us, which the tariff has shut out of the American Union will start into a new existence in the shape of home-made articles. At least, they may say, quoting from a document lately issued in this colony, the tariff has had, or will have, a result "in the establishing of new industries, and in largely increased employment for the people," to say nothing of building up some more of those colossal monopolies and millionaire fortunes which the ingenious Mr. A. Carnegie contends stand high among the beneficent effects of protection in America. Perhaps so. We do not at this point desire to contest this assertion, and may allow it to pass. But if the framers of the M'Kinley tariff had announced that the objects for which it was imposed included at once the encouragement of local industries and the provision of "large additional revenue" to defray the cost of "minor unproductive works," then the result of its working in knocking nearly £30,000,000 a year off the national income would not be a subject of quite so much congratulation. That a rigidly restrictive tariff should restrict is not so surprising a result as to evoke all the admiration which has been paid to the operations of the M'Kinley tariff. It is evident that the same result might be still more simply and effectively secured by passing a law of absolute exclusion of imports. The M'Kinley law does not prohibit but it restricts, and in restricting it reduces Customs revenue. Its effect is twofold—protection to internal manufacturers, and reduction of imports and the revenue derived from them. Congress in providing for this diminution of Customs did not also undertake to defray the cost of public works out of the deficit which the tariff must necessarily produce. America was for a long time afflicted with a large annual surplus, and has been led into many curious pieces of legislation by the desire of getting rid of this surplus without reducing the Customs tariff. At last it has successfully achieved its purpose, not by reducing Customs duties, but by increasing them. As a consequence, the long-existing surplus is changed into the beginning of a deficit. Of course, the burdens and exactions of the tariff will go on all the same, but the proceeds now will pass, not into the national exchequer, but into the pocket of the State-protected monopolists. The disproportions and inequalities of fortunes will be increased, and the millionaires will grow into billionaires out of the profits extracted by law from the masses of the people.

The double result which the American legislature knew well could not be accomplished at one and the same time by the tariff, that of at once shutting out imports and swelling the Customs revenue, some of our statesmen profess to believe can be easily brought about here. We can, it seems, impose a tariff under which goods will flow in unchecked, and by so doing yield "large additional revenue," and by which the same goods will be excluded, with the result of establishing new industries and largely increasing the employment for the people. Glowing pictures have been drawn of the hundreds of miles of new railways which we shall construct all over the country out of the proceeds of a tariff of Customs duties on goods which it is the purpose of the tariff to shut out from the country. Without the teaching of the M'Kinley tariff, it seems self-evident that if the system shuts out goods it will prevent their yielding revenue, and if it admits them it can give no protection. The enhancement of cost may go into the public exchequer or to the bank account of the protected manufacturer. But it cannot go to both at the same time. In the former case we may get our "minor unproductive public works," but we shall not get protection. In the latter case we, or the favoured manufacturers, may get protection, but then we shall have no revenue to defray the cost of our "minor unproductive public works," in which it would seem that one or two trunk and several branch lines of railway are to be included. If it is desired to demonstrate by actual experience the proposition that a thing cannot be in two places, that is to say in the public exchequer and in the pocket of the protected manufacturer, at the same time, we have to our hands the instances of our neighbour Victoria and the United States of America. The Victorian tariff yields a large revenue, but then it gives only very partial protection. This is shown by such facts as the late closing of woollen mills in that colony in spite of their being favoured with protective duties of 25 and 30 per cent., and by the circumstance that in 1890, with a protective tariff, Victoria imported more than New South Wales did with an imperfect freetrade one. The M'Kinley tariff is protective; but then, by virtue of its protective operation, it diminishes the sources of Customs revenue. In this colony the proposal is to construct minor unproductive works from the proceeds of duties upon goods which the tariff is intended to exclude from the colony. Mr. Dibbs, in whose manifesto this financial policy is stated, may have a clear prevision of the working of the matter. But it looks uncommonly like a measure to give all the profit to the protected manufacturer, and to leave only a deficit in the Treasury to defray the cost of the minor unproductive works which are put forward as the raison d'être of the whole scheme. However we view it, the teaching of M'Kinleyism in its practical working is significant as to the probable results of this scheme of deriving opposite and mutually-excluding effects from a single cause, and as to the ultimate state in which it will leave our public finances.

A few days ago we were informed that Dr. Giffen, the well-known statistician, was leaving England for Sydney, and would attend the meetings of the Association for the Advancement of Science to be held at Hobart. A visitor of such well-earned distinction will receive a warm welcome at the gathering; but we now hear that there is a special object in his visit to Australia, which will invest it with peculiar interest. It is reported in London that he has received instructions from Mr. Goschen to inquire into the financial condition of the colonies, and that the Chancellor of the Exchequer will await the reception of his report before introducing his promised bill to authorise the investment of trust funds in Australian stocks. The question of giving legal sanction to the investment of trust funds in Australian securities has been under consideration in England for a long time past. The step has been pressed upon the authorities with much energy and persistency. There have been indications of a disposition to comply with the request, but it has been at least equally evident that the matter was not one that would be treated lightly, or without a due regard to the responsibility to be incurred by the Government. In introducing such a bill the Government would not be guaranteeing the debts of the colonies, neither would it incur any financial obligations. But the passing of the measure would be equivalent in effect to an emphatic declaration of confidence in colonial securities, the influence of which would not be limited to the authority given to trustees, but would extend beyond them to other classes of investors. It cannot be denied, therefore, that a moral responsibility would be attached to the action. This has, indeed, been recognised in the negotiations that have taken place as to terms and conditions. Besides this, it is to be remembered that the Chancellor of the Exchequer is not uninterested in the position which English securities hold in the market; and as colonial debts are now attaining to large dimensions, and are likely to go on increasing, the rivalry of colonial stocks with English securities as an investment for trust funds is not to be overlooked. Mr. Goschen has acted cautiously hitherto, and this report as to Dr. Giffen's mission is credible as an illustration of the continuance of the same feeling.

And looking upon the matter dispassionately, it cannot be said that we have reason to complain. These colonies, having been entrusted with so large a measure of self-government, would have a right to resent an official inquiry into their financial condition by the Imperial authorities if it were dictated by a spirit of curiosity or meddlesome interference. But the actual circumstances are of a different kind. The Imperial authorities are asked to legislate in our interest, and, as we said before, to incur the moral responsibility of publishing an emphatic declaration of confidence in our financial condition and prospects, and unquestionable honesty as well. And at the very time when this is proposed they see in the public press a succession of attacks upon our solvency, and even upon our good faith. It may be doubted whether ever before in the history of the colonies the endeavour to weaken or destroy confidence in Australian securities has been so continuously maintained as it has within the last year or two, and there is evidence in the negotiation of recent loans that this detraction has produced some of its natural effect. But this is not the whole of the case. As if it were not enough for strangers whose motives we are not acquainted with to join in this attack, some of our own public men have abused their position as public men by blackening the reputation of the colonies under cover of a supposed monopoly of the desire to speak the truth. In June last we were informed by a London telegram that "the conflict between Messrs. Dibbs and M'Millan in the New South Wales elections as to the financial condition of that colony had caused a feeling of uneasiness in the city, and was considered to confirm the assertions of the Hon. J. W. Fortescue and Mr. Fairfield respecting the unreliability of the Treasury accounts." What a startling form of words have we here! "The unreliability of the Treasury accounts." We cannot be surprised if Mr. Goschen, before proceeding to issue something like a certificate of our solvency and honesty, should seek to obtain information as to our actual position through inquiries on the spot by a competent and disinterested man.

We have little doubt as to the result of Mr. Giffen's investigations. He is a competent man, and he has no personal or party purpose to serve. He has no score against opponents for adjustment, nor has he to discover a justification for the imposition of additional taxation. It will be his business to ascertain the truth, and to state it with fairness, "neither to extenuate nor to set down aught in malice." There are weak points in our finance, and it will be his duty to take account of them; there are strong points, and we shall not expect that by him they will be ignored. He will be able to discriminate between discrepancies arising from a conflict in methods of bookkeeping and controversy as to substantial facts. He is not a mere man of accounts and figures, but a trained journalist, who has been accustomed to study questions of public finance from a higher standpoint and in a more comprehensive way. And it may be hoped that, with his experience and knowledge of men and things, he will not be liable to be misled by one-sided representations, but will search out the facts for himself, and form his own judgment upon them. He will come at an opportune time, for as he was to leave by the Coptic on the 29th October, he should arrive either in the midst or at the close of the debate on the financial statement, which will provide him with material for thought and guidance in inquiry.

It is not altogether satisfactory to be looking forward to the visit of a stranger for a vindication of our position before the world. But, as we are neither self-contained nor self-dependent, but must trust in a large measure to the maintenance of our credit for the progressive development of the resources at our command, we can but welcome the visit, and anticipate hopefully the report, of an investigator who is likely to perceive and to declare "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." If others who have come amongst us have fallen short of this, through imperfect information, too easy credulity, prejudice, or disappointment, it is a cause for regret. It is still more so that such a matter as the public finance should be made a battle-ground for the conflicts of party or faction, or personal feeling. But it seems that we are exposed to these risks, and must face them; and in such circumstances we can contemplate the prospect of capable and fair criticism with a sense of relief.

The annual banquet of the Lord Mayor of London is usually looked to with some interest from the opportunity which it gives to the Prime Minister of England for lifting a little corner of the curtain that covers the secrets of Ministerial policy. The revelations are usually of a harmless character, and Monday's banquet furnished no exception to the rule. The comparative pacification of Ireland Lord Salisbury naturally attributes to the vigour and general excellence of the work of Mr. Balfour, without giving any share of the credit to the mollifying influence of the altered relations between Celtic sentiment and English Liberalism. The sympathy of Mr. Gladstone and the masses of the English people with the cause that is dear to the Irish race has had an effect in softening the fierceness of Irish discontent which ages of coercion had failed to accomplish; and without it, Mr. Balfour's régime, though characterised by much that is more humane and enlightened than what was experienced in other years, would have furnished in all probability an equally barren record. Of foreign relations the Minister speaks in that tone of confident optimism which is usually characteristic of Ministerial utterances at such civic festivals. The whole world will gladly join in wishing that it may be as stated by the leader of the British Government, who sees not a speck of danger on the horizon. But it is never forgotten that similar assurances of lasting peace have often enough before been given, on the highest authority, on the very eve of the outbreak of hostilities. It cannot be said that at this moment there are any circumstances in the relations of the Powers of Europe of an exceptionally menacing character, but such an assurance as this is so usual in high quarters of authority, on all occasions except in the presence of hostilities, as to be regarded as little more than conventional. With an incidental reference to the determination of the country to adhere to the principles of freetrade, which seems intended as a counterblast to the pretensions of the parties advocating what is known as "fair trade," and also to the theory of a British Imperial Zollverein, the Minister takes the opportunity of glancing at the Egyptian question, and declaring that on that subject the policy is unchanged. Various rumoured efforts have been mentioned as made by France and Russia, and even Turkey, to induce a withdrawal of the British occupation of Egypt; and this opportunity is taken by the Minister to publicly reaffirm the decision that the British forces shall not leave until the country has been placed in a position to repel external attack as well as to restrain internal disorder.

The distressing conditions in Germany, referred to in our cable news yesterday, ought to convey a warning to those who desire to plunge this colony into a protective system; for this has contributed very materially to bring them about. Protective duties have been piled up in Germany for the encouragement of manufacturing industries, and yet we are told by the Berlin correspondent of the Economist that there was a deadlock in the iron and textile trades, and that things were drifting towards the calamity which has since occurred. The textile manufacturing establishments in Westphalia and on the Rhine had dismissed thousands of hands, and reduced the hours of those that remained. Misery was spreading among the working classes, and the Government had been repeatedly asked for aid. The cotton spinners, in consideration of the general state of affairs had reduced their prices by 15 per cent. The iron and the steel trade was depressed. It appears that the manufacturers are controlled by the mine-owners, who keep up the prices of their coal and coke, selling to outside markets at lower prices than to them; thus enabling foreign manufacturers to compete with them. It is a common feature of the protectionist system that leads to over-production, and to the sale of goods to outside markets at lower prices than are charged within the protected area. For this reason we have heard of Victorian manufactures selling in New South Wales cheaper than on the other side of the Murray. While the Victorian speculator can get 5s 6d per bushel for wheat in Melbourne, he has to sell his surplus in Sydney for 5s 3d, after paying for the cost of carriage. In new lands as in old—in Victoria as in Germany—the local consumer has to pay more than the outside consumer, almost invariably, as we see, with distressing results. Our legislators will do well to look at the reports, which say that "misery is spreading among the working classes" of Germany under the protective system, accentuated by the high prices which the manufacturers are charging for their productions. The working men of Sydney and of the colony are no doubt able to pay 10 or 20 per cent. or more for their boots and their clothing, without feeling the consequences of protection so seriously as the unfortunate people of Germany; but within a few weeks every elector and every elector's wife in this colony will be enjoying the fruits of the fiscal system which is admittedly producing such disastrous consequences in Germany, where, our cablegram states, the commercial depression is the greatest that has occurred for thirty years. We have to go back beyond this to the period of protection to find anything of the kind in the United Kingdom. It would be too much to hope that the new Government will be dissuaded by the misery now being produced in Germany by the protective system from introducing ad valorem duties. But the representatives of the people, who will have to pay all those high taxes, may consider the matter before sanctioning the proposals to be submitted to them. Our merchants are already preparing to protect themselves as far as they can against the high duties; but the consumers will have to pay them if their representatives allow them to be passed.

His Excellency the Governor, the Countess of Jersey, and their family have taken up their residence at Sutton Forest for the summer months. Lord Jersey will come to town once a week to perform his Executive Council duties, and return the same evening to his country home. Save a garden party to be given to metropolitan and suburban municipal dignitaries on the 20th instant, his Excellency has no public engagement fixed. Arrangements have not been completed for the visit of the Countess of Jersey to New Zealand, and it is certain that she will not journey south before the beginning of next year.

Lord Jersey presided over the weekly meeting of the Executive Council held yesterday. The meeting was attended by all the members of the Ministry. The whole work before the council was cleared off; but the business transacted was of a purely routine character. The Governor left for Moss Vale in the evening.

The English mails to October 9, per R.M.S. Arcadia, left Adelaide on Monday last, and are due to-day in time for delivery from the General Post Office at about 2 p.m.

The Hon. R. E. O'Connor, M.L.C. (Minister of Justice), has been nominated by the Hon. Sir Wm. Windeyer, and seconded by Mr. Alexander Oliver, to fill the vacancy in the fellowship of the Senate of the University of Sydney, caused by the retirement of Sir Patrick Jennings.

On Monday, Mr. W. J. Lyne, the Minister for Works, officially inspected the ship Sobraon, which is now being converted into a nautical training school for the accommodation of the Vernon boys. Consequent upon his visit to the ship, the Minister is strengthened in his opinion that the necessary alterations will cost at least £10,000. He is a firm believer in the training-ship system in preference to sending boys to gaol, and as a consequence he recognises the necessity for additional training-ship accommodation. He inclines strongly to the belief, however, that a much better provision at far less cost than that incurred by the purchase and alteration of the Sobraon could have been made, even if the Wolverine had been transformed and utilised for this purpose. The ship being here, and £2000 having already been expended, Mr. Lyne is of opinion that he must complete the work, which, it may be added, is being done under the supervision of the Public Works Department.

The deputation from the New South Wales Local Option League that recently waited on Mr. John Kidd, Postmaster-General, relative to the non-inclusion of any local option measure in the Government programme, was informed by Mr. Kidd that he would undertake to bring the matter before the Cabinet. On Friday last he informed another deputation that the Government had agreed to leave the local option question an open one in the Cabinet, and that the Ministry had no objection to his taking up the matter as a private member, as Mr. O'Connor had done, as to the Payment of Members Bill. Mr. Kidd promised the deputation to introduce a bill which he felt sure would be satisfactory to the temperance societies, and he said that he expected the Government to give him facilities in getting the matter dealt with.

The Mayor of Sydney returned from Melbourne by the midday express yesterday. During his visit to the Southern city Alderman Manning inspected the new refuse destructors (Cracknell's patent) which have just been completed for the Melbourne City Council. He was conducted by the Mayor of Melbourne, and accompanied by Aldermen Hart and Jeanneret of Sydney, who are members of the special sub-committee recently appointed to deal with the question of the disposal of city refuse, and by Mr. R. W. Richards, City Surveyor. The destructors, which are upon the crematory principle, were seen in operation, and the Mayor arranged to be supplied with results as soon as the official trials have taken place. Subsequently a visit of inspection was paid to the destructors (Fryer's patent) constructed to the order of the South Melbourne Council. This plant has been in operation for several months, to the satisfaction of the corporation. Alderman Manning was enabled to obtain information which, he thinks, will be of value to the members of the sub-committee when they meet; and it is his intention to have a comparison made as early as possible between the working of the two systems. The Mayor examined several new buildings in course of erection, one particularly in which terra cotta is being largely used for the construction of floors and walls, and in addition he was supplied by Mr. Mountain (city surveyor) with data concerning street conveniences which the Melbourne Council are providing. His inquiries were also extended to the subject of electric lighting, a public scheme having been adopted by the Melbourne municipal authorities. He ascertained that it has been determined to include provision for private lighting, though the specifications are not yet ready, and that a permanent electrical engineer has been appointed to control the undertaking.

The funeral of the late Mr. J. E. Ormiston, accountant to the Colonial Secretary's Department, took place yesterday morning at Rookwood. It was attended by a large concourse of the deceased's friends and confrères in the public service. Amongst those who proceeded to the Necropolis were Mr. J. H. Carruthers, M.L.A., Mr. Hugh Taylor, M.L.A., Mr. G. W. Newcombe, one of the oldest public servants of New South Wales, and the whole of the Colonial Secretary's staff, excepting three, who were compelled to remain in the department to attend to urgent business. Amongst the former fellow-workers of the late Mr. Ormiston who paid respect to his remains were Mr. Critchett Walker, C.M.G., the Principal Under-Secretary; Mr. M'Kenny, Mr. Taylor, and Mr. Sydney Maxted. The coffin was hidden by numerous beautiful wreaths and crosses sent from the Colonial Secretary's Office, by Mr. H. Taylor, Mr. Carruthers, and many others. The Rev. Mr. Unwin conducted the funeral service in the Anglican Church portion of the Necropolis. Mr. Ormiston's death was so sudden and unexpected that his departure from this life is scarcely realisable by those with whom he was in daily contact. He was at his duties in the office on Saturday morning; he was out with a friend and medical adviser until 6.30 on Saturday; and he was dead at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning. Although unwell for the previous few days, neither he nor his friends anticipated anything serious. The cause of death was asphyxia, accelerated by la grippe.

Mr. William Small died the night before last at Ryde. He was 95 years old, and he was the oldest native in the colony. The cause of death was influenza.

The greater part of the time of the Full Court yesterday was monopolised by the consideration of two special cases submitted for decision on behalf of appellants. The first matter was with regard to the conflicting applications of Alfred Jenkins and F. B. Blomfield for a conditional purchase and conditional lease of the same land in the Dubbo district. The decision of the land board was in favour of Jenkins, and Blomfield appealed to the Land Court. This tribunal, however, held that Blomfield, not having lodged a caveat against Jenkins' application, had no right of appeal to the Land Court, and that he had not appealed against the disallowance of his own application. The Full Court, however, decided that the Land Court was in error, and allowed the appeal with costs. In the second matter the A. J. S. Bank in September last year, as the transferees by way of mortgage from Robert John King of a conditional purchase of 640 acres taken up in August, 1883, authorised W. L. Seeley to take up on its behalf a conditional lease of about 640 acres under section 20 of the Crown Lands Act of 1889. The local land board, however, refused to confirm the application on the grounds that the 20th section of the Act of 1889 was not intended to empower transferees by way of mortgage or security of conditional purchases made before the Act of 1884, to obtain conditional leases in virtue thereof after the expiration of 90 days limited by the 54th section of that Act. This decision was upheld by the Land Court, and yesterday, after some extremely dry arguments on the meaning of the word "before" in section 20 of the Act of 1889, the Full Court arrived at the same decision, though Mr. Justice Innes and Mr. Justice Stephen submitted that the point was surrounded with considerable difficulty, owing, as the Court has more than once remarked, to the complexity of our land Acts in certain respects. The appeal of the bank was dismissed with costs.

In the Equity Court yesterday, before Mr. Justice Manning, the suit of Muston v. Ives, in which the plaintiff asked that the defendant might be restrained by an injunction of the Court from proceeding to sell the property of the plaintiff, taken in execution under a writ of fieri facias, was dismissed with costs.

The Land Court met yesterday at Darlinghurst, for the hearing of motions; but as there had been no return of service, Mr. Canaway, on behalf of the Minister for Lands, applied for and obtained an adjournment until November 23. On Friday the Court will give judgment in the applications under the Crown Rents Act of 1890.

At the Metropolitan Quarter Sessions yesterday Charles Marks Felke and Kate Wearin pleaded guilty to charges of having maliciously broken several large window panes, valued in all at about £45; and Ernest Price pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a purse, containing a couple of tram tickets and £3 15s 4½d in cash. The prisoners were remanded for sentence. Alexander Colquhoun, found guilty on a charge of inflicting grievous bodily harm upon a Chinaman, was also remanded for sentence. Alfred Kenny, charged with the theft of a gold watch, valued at £8, was acquitted. Several prisoners whose cases were considered earlier in the session were placed in the dock to receive sentence.

National Library of Australia http://nla.gov.au/nla.news-page1396340

The Public Service Inquiry Commission is drawing its inquiries in reference to the various branches of the Department of Public Works to a close, but we understand it is still willing to accept any evidence that may be tendered as to the department's administration, either from persons outside the service or from the officers of the department.

Yesterday the Railway Commissioners opened five tenders for the supply and delivery of 1,200,000 wood-paving blocks, the lowest offer being that of Mr. Francis Guy, whose price was £10,424 10s 4d. For the erection of a transhipping shed at Goulburn, Messrs. Taylor and M'Clure were the lower of two tenderers, and the price of the contract was £1387 18s 1d. The same contractors offered to build a similar shed at Junee for £728 19s 8d.

On Saturday a report was received from Albury stating that the engine of a mixed train, when between Yerong Creek and Doodle Cooma, at midnight on Friday, had been fired upon with ball cartridge. Inquiries have been instituted by the Railway Commissioners, and the matter has also been placed in the hands of the police. The police authorities say there is a possibility of the train having been fired at with a revolver; but officials of the Railway Department entertain doubts in regard to the reported occurrence, as there is a lack of evidence to prove that the marks on the engine tender were made by bullets.

A special meeting of shareholders in the Australian Banking Company, carrying on business at the corner of Pitt and Market streets, was held yesterday afternoon at the Carrington Hall, for the purpose of considering a recommendation by the directorate that the company go into voluntary liquidation. Mr. Francis Abigail (chairman of directors) presided, and submitted to the meeting a statement showing the position of the company. He pointed out that the assets of the company, after striking off all bad and doubtful debts, were of the value of £165,286, or £59,977 in excess of the liabilities, and that had it not been for the treatment experienced at the hands of the Australian Joint Stock Bank, the company might still be carrying on a flourishing business. On the company's overdraft of £6418 the A. J. S. Bank held security to the amount of £25,000. Inducement was held out to the bank to allow the overdraft to be increased up to £20,000 or £25,000, but all in vain, the bank refusing proferred security to the extent of £74,000. After discussion, the meeting resolved on voluntary liquidation under the supervision of the Court, and unanimously elected Mr. Abigail as liquidator in the interests of the shareholders. A second liquidator will be appointed by the depositors, who meet this afternoon. The board of liquidators will consist of two members of the company, and each will be remunerated at the rate of one-half per cent.

The first contract for the foundations of the buildings intended for the purposes of a retail fruit market, and which are being erected at the Haymarket by the City Council, has been completed with expedition. Tenders for the superstructure are called for, and will be accepted at a meeting of the council to be held on the 24th instant. During his recent visit to Melbourne the Mayor (Alderman W. P. Manning) viewed the new fish and general produce markets which the city authorities are building in Spencer-street, paying particular attention to the cooling chambers with which the premises are being furnished.

The members of the Horticultural Society of New South Wales held their monthly meeting at Messrs. Quong Tart and Co.'s rooms, King-street, last evening. Mr. W. Campbell was in the chair. The exhibits of blooms and plants comprised many varieties. In speaking in regard to them, Mr. H. M. Hamilton, a visitor who has had large experience in judging in England, expressed his admiration of them, and singled out the roses on view for special commendation.

The steamer Jubilee, with upwards of a hundred passengers on board for New Zealand, returned to port yesterday through stress of weather. She was exposed to the fury of a hard S.W. gale last Thursday night, Friday, and Saturday, and sustained considerable damage. None of the passengers received any serious personal injury, and they give a favourable account of the conduct of the captain and crew, and of their bravery and kindness in a time of serious peril. An exceptional danger arose in consequence of heavy seas finding their way into the stokehole, washing the fires out, and for a period of 30 hours the whole of the ship's company was employed baling out the stokehole, and lowering buckets of coal down in the hope that sufficient steam could be maintained in the main boilers. Not, however, until the weather moderated on Sunday last did they succeed, and it was then decided to return to Sydney and effect repairs. The Jubilee left here a week ago yesterday for Wellington, and she was nearly 500 miles upon her voyage when she fell in with the gale which proved so disastrous to her.

The fire brigades' competitions at the Agricultural Society's Grounds, Moore Park, concluded yesterday under somewhat unfortunate circumstances, for, owing to some dissatisfaction which arose, the majority of the country brigades left the ground in the afternoon at the conclusion of the fourth event. Details of the affair are given in another column. The prizes won during the demonstration were presented at the Town Hall in the evening by the Mayor and Mayoress of Sydney. To-day, as an appropriate ending to the demonstration a picnic is to be given at Wollongong. A special train will leave Redfern at 9 a.m., and run through to Wollongong, where various sports and pastimes will be indulged in.

Shopkeepers and others would do well to be on their guard against forged bank notes now in circulation. We have been shown by Messrs. J. Albert and Son, of 108 King-street, a £5 note of the Australian Joint Stock Bank of this character. The forged note was tendered in payment for 4s 6d worth of articles purchased at the music depot of Messrs. Albert and Son, and is numbered 8359677. The imitation appears to have been made by the agency of photography, the lines of the original engraving showing that blurred appearance common to forgeries of this class. The colouring of the note has been evidently a matter of some care, and the forgery, though not so clever as to defeat examination, is sufficient to delude the runway.

A meeting of the central committee of the Local Option League was held yesterday. Mr. Edward Dowling, J.P., was in the chair. The fact that the local option vote is to be taken at the Sydney municipal election on the 1st proximo was referred to, and a hope was expressed that the people would vote against any more new licenses. The secretary was instructed to confer with the local option party touching the more effective Sunday Closing Bill, and that against the employment of women as barmaids. An interesting return of the benefit of prohibition through the medium of local option from the City of Quincy, Massachusetts, was read, showing the moral and commercial progress amongst 16,711 people; also, a return from the Mayor of Cedartown, where, with 3500 inhabitants, only one policeman is required; he has so little to do in keeping order that most of his time is devoted to street commissioner's work.

The annual meeting in connection with the Newtown Wesleyan Church took place last evening, in the schoolroom adjoining the church. Mr. P. Board, M.A., occupied the chair, and was supported by a number of prominent ministers, amongst whom were the Revs. Messrs. Woolnough, Rogers, Lucas, and Holliday. The chairman delivered a short address, in which he referred in commendatory terms to the work of the Church during the past 12 months. It had been carried on, he said, on thoroughly practical lines and in a thoroughly practical manner. Probably the members had not made so much noise in the world as other denominations or bodies, but all the same the work had been going on quietly and thoroughly, and had made itself felt very considerably. The attendance at the services had given ample evidence of this. Mr. John Salmon, secretary to the trustees, made a short statement as to the financial position of the church. The expenditure for the year on the new buildings, he said, had been about £4500. A mortgage on the corner block of land adjoining the church had been given to the A. M. P. Society on very favourable terms, and the trustees had leased the land at an annual rental of about £300 per annum. Addresses were delivered by several of the ministers present, and special hymns were sung by the choir. In connection with the anniversary it may be mentioned that successful services were held on Sunday last. In the morning the sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Holliday, and in the evening by the Rev. Mr. Phillips. A flower service in the afternoon was conducted by the Rev. T. Parker.

The fourth of the series of lectures recently given by Mr. J. L. Bruce, in the Marrickville School of Arts, was on "Light." Mr. R. Owen Friend occupied the chair at the lecture. The lecturer, in his preliminary remarks, referred to the health-giving properties of light. He said it was a well-known fact that vegetable life did not thrive without light, and the absence of it also affected animals adversely. In hospitals it had been found that there was an appreciable percentage more recoveries in the well-lighted wards than in the darker ones. In lighting, whether by natural means or artificially, the source of light should always be invisible, or, failing that out of the range of the eye. Light-coloured floors were as a rule objectionable, while, on the contrary, such ceilings were desirable, as they helped to diffuse the light over the room. Defective window light could be improved by the use of daylight reflectors, while in basements prismatic pavements were very effective. A properly-formed prism was a very perfect reflector, as it gave out 92 per cent. of the light falling on it, as against 90 per cent. given out by the best silvered glass. Sunlight should shine on every outer wall of a house at all seasons of the year, and it was shown by a diagram of Mr. Seagar's heliometer that this could be secured only by placing the house anglewise to the cardinal points, as if set squarely there would be no sunlight on the south side of the house all the winter, when it was especially needed. Kerosene and coal gas as illuminants were then shortly dealt with. Candles and oil lamps were preferable to gas, in that they contained no sulphur. Gas, in burning, generated sulphurous acid, and this vitiated the atmosphere in ill-ventilated rooms. Sulphurous acid thus formed rotted book-bindings and similar substances; but with proper ventilation, it would not accumulate in sufficient quantities to cause harm. For lighting purposes, kerosene oil at 1s 10d per gallon was cheaper than gas at 5s 6d per 1000ft., all things being equal. Cheapness in house lighting depended a good deal on the pattern of the gas or kerosene burners used, the later types of these being much more economical than the older. At the conclusion, a vote of thanks was accorded on the motion of Mr. Roseby.

A bazaar in aid of the Children's Hospital, Glebe Point, was held at Claremont, Randwick, on the 6th instant. The young ladies of the school, Miss Hyland's pupils, have for several years past materially helped the funds of the hospital by making, and obtaining from their friends fancy and useful articles for sale. Their recent effort has proved as successful as a former bazaar, each realising about £70. The bazaar was held in the large school-room, where the visitors were introduced to a number of nicely-arranged and well-supplied stalls presided over by about 20 of the Claremont pupils. In the absence of Mrs. Stanger-Leathes, at whose suggestion the good work was originally taken up, Mrs. Hough opened the bazaar. She commended Miss Hyland and her young workers for finding time during their studies for this charitable effort, and asked for liberal encouragement from those friends who were present. The sale only extended over some five or six hours.

The general committee of the Canterbury electorate branch of the Labour Electoral League met on Monday night, a good number of the delegates from the various divisions being present. Mr. W. Jackson presided. The rules, which had been previously discussed, were confirmed, after which the replies from the divisions re the proposed alteration of the platform, &c., were read and voted upon, with the following result:—The suggested alteration in the qualification for membership was disapproved, but a motion in favour of a conference, representing the whole of the branches, being held, and one, approving of adding a new plank to the platform "prohibiting the alienation of further Crown lands," were agreed to. Attention was directed to the action of the Hurstville division of the branch calling upon Messrs. Bavister and Danahey to take steps to bring about a reconciliation of the party with Mr. Kelly and the other seceders, and a motion was carried disclaiming that action, it being pointed out that Hurstville had no right to take such action without the sanction of the general committee of the branch of which it is only a division, and also that, as Mr. Kelly and his associates left the party, it is for them to seek reconciliation.

On Monday evening the School of Arts Debating Club debated the following:—"That the labour party were justified in their action in voting against the Parkes Government on the occasion of the motion for adjournment in reference to the Coal Mines Regulation Bill." On which an amendment was moved,—"That the political conduct of the labour members in the Legislative Assembly has not been such as to justify the continuance of public confidence in them as a political party."

The following notices were yesterday posted at the Sydney Exchange:—"During the week the number of bales of wool received at Sydney by rail and coastwise was 35,202 bales, valued at £458,000. The amount of coal exported from Newcastle (exclusive of Sydney shipments) was 40,650 tons, of which the value was £20,225. The amount of silver obtained from the Broken Hill mines was 318,997oz., valued at £59,500. The total value of silver raised, coal exported, and wool received during the week was £537,725."

The jockey Regan, who was admitted into the Parramatta District Hospital on Monday, suffering from concussion, caused by a fall while riding in the steeplechase at Rosehill, has much improved.

The funeral of the late Dr. L. F. Sachs, who has been a resident of this colony for nearly 30 years, took place on Monday morning at Manly, where deceased had resided for 16 years. The funeral was attended by Messrs. John Woods, Augustus Morris, Broad, Ridge, Hilder, Hole, Drs. Watkins and Thomas, also by his two sons, Messrs. L. and J. Sachs. The floral offerings of respect and sympathy were numerous. The burial service of the Church of England was read by the Rev. T. S. Willis, M.A.

The funeral of a well-known Marrickville resident took place last Monday. Mr. William Elliott, J.P., was at one time a member of the municipal board, and more lately of the local school board. He took a lively interest in the Wesleyan Church, of which he was a member. Mr. Elliott came to the colony 28 years ago, and in business circles was known as the head of the firm of Messrs. Elliott and Clarke, of West Sydney. He was an active Orangeman and Freemason. He leaves a widow and four children.

We have received from Marcus and Andrew a copy of "Woods's Australian Diary for 1892, No. 25." This well-known publication is well adapted to the needs of professional men. The present edition gives a page to each day, with the usual miscellaneous information.

In consequence of the indisposition of Miss Apolline Niay her afternoon recital at the British Pianoforte Warehouse (Messrs. Broadwood's) had to be postponed yesterday at very short notice. A date for the recital will be fixed hereafter.

Amateurs of music will regret to learn that the illness of more than one of the performers engaged for the Chamber Matinée Concert announced for to-morrow has led to the postponement of the event until some day next week. Mr. Huenerbein is unfortunate in having thus to defer the first of a series of concerts to which so many amateurs had been looking forward, but the disappointment could not be avoided, and has in some measure been met by the ample notice thus given to the subscribers.

"Robbery Under Arms" will be performed for the last time on Friday, so that the stay of the Dampier Dramatic Company in Sydney will have been short. So far, Mr. Dampier has been well supported after his long absence, and the virile strength of his impersonation of "Captain Starlight," aided by the characteristic Australian scenery, which forms the setting of the story, will doubtless tend to the continued success of his season. On Saturday the Evangeline Opera Company, conducted as before by Mr. Edward E. Rice, will produce a new burlesque entitled "The Corsair," for the first time in Sydney. Miss Fannie Liddiard, as Conrad, will appear in the name-part with Miss Virginia Earle in a new character as "Medora, Maid of Athens," and Messrs. Geo. K. Fortescue, Joseph W. Harris, George Walton, Harry Leston, and other popular comedians, will play the comic characters. The new piece has already had a great run in Melbourne and Brisbane, and is said fully to equal that other piece of nonsense, "Evangeline," the success of which was so marked on its production by Messrs. Macmahon at the Criterion Theatre some months back.

There is no change to record at the Garrick Theatre, where "Run Wild" is found admirably suited to the taste of playgoers. Miss Loe's portraiture of tender-hearted little Collie Parker is full of breezy life, brightness, and gentle feeling, and "Run Wild" itself is a refined comedy which can boast many touches of human nature.

The last performance of "The Dancing Girl" will be given at Her Majesty's Theatre this evening by Miss Laura Villiers' dramatic company. The drama ranks with the best of Mr. Henry Arthur Jones's pieces, and, as it is beautifully staged, and for the most part intelligently played, this evening's farewell performance should attract general attention in theatrical circles.

At the Criterion Theatre the revival of "School" has proved so popular that Mr. Boucicault has decided to extend the run of the comedy beyond the six nights for which it was originally billed. The piece is very pretty, and as the cast brings forward Messrs. Boucicault and Lawrence in new characters, and involves the return of Miss Romer and Mr. Gordon to the company, whilst Messrs. Titheradge and Tyndal and Miss Pattie Browne are seen once again in rôles they have already made popular, the revived interest in the comedy is no matter for surprise. "School" will be performed until further notice.

The city organist (Mr. Wiegand) will give the usual recital at the Town Hall this afternoon, when some classical items will be included in the programme.

Mr. George Rignold telegraphed last night an important change of plan, by which the re-appearance of himself and company at Her Majesty's Theatre will take place a week earlier than was originally anticipated—namely, on Saturday evening. For some weeks past Mr. Rignold has had "Youth" in rehearsal in Melbourne, whilst on this side Messrs. Clint and Owen have been preparing for a grand revival of the military, spectacular drama. At the end of last week Mr. J. W. Hazlett was despatched to Melbourne to ascertain the condition of preparedness in which matters stood at Her Majesty's, and he reported so forward a state in regard to the drilling of "supers." and other matters in his department as stage-manager, that Mr. Rignold determined not to postpone the production any longer. Accordingly the Rignold Dramatic Company, whose season at the Melbourne Theatre Royal terminates to-night, will travel overland by to-morrow's express, reaching Sydney on Friday morning. The great scenes showing the embarkation of troops, the battle, the prison revolt, and other episodes in "Youth" will then be furnished, and there will be nothing to hinder production on Saturday. Mr. George Rignold will, of course, play his old part as Frank Darlington, with Mr. Jewett once more as Major Reckley, whilst Mr. William Rignold will appear for the first time as the Rev. Joseph Darlington. The other members of the company will be welcomed back for the most part in familiar rôles, and the revival should prove popular.

Certainly (says the Melbourne Argus) it would be to the interest of the various Australian colonies if the Treasurer in each State could be made a non-party officer. As matters stand the broad rule is that each new Treasurer lays himself assiduously out to picture the financial position of his colony in the most gloomy colours, in order, apparently, that the citizens may recognise that he has been called to the helm just in time to save the State from a catastrophe, though nothing is more certain than that if he had stopped out no catastrophe would have happened. The new Treasurer poses as the saviour of society, and apparently he never thinks of the mischief he may occasion elsewhere. There never was a time when Treasurers needed to be more guarded in their utterances, and rarely have the holders of the office in certain of the colonies been more incautious. The ever-blundering Mr. Dibbs is a case in point. Our cable messages mention that his statement that the recent loan of £4,500,000 is nearly all spent already has greatly strengthened the party which is now assailing Australian credit—as in the nature of things it must do. Yet in Australia the veriest tyro knows that the statement, as made by Mr. Dibbs, is most unfair. The loan was to a large extent a conversion loan; that is to say, it went to replace expiring debentures carrying a high rate of interest with debentures carrying a low rate. Allowing for discount and charges little more than £2,000,000 net came to the colony, and it is well known that the bulk of this sum had been expended during the nine months the Treasurer had been waiting for his opportunity to put the loan on the market. The fact that only about £900,000 remained to be expended was familiar to every financier and to every politician, and yet Mr. Dibbs announces the circumstance as something of a scandalous revelation. As regards the general revenue the predecessors of the hon. gentleman both anticipated that the year would close with a surplus. The Premier declares that instead of a surplus there will be a debit balance, and that new taxation—protective duties, of course—are called for in order to raise more revenue. It is an undeniable fact, however, that the revenue for the first nine months of the year has been £7,317,000, as against £6,900,000 for the corresponding period last year, and with a gain of this important character the Treasurer should be well able to make both ends meet. A total revenue of nearly £10,000,000 per annum ought to be sufficient for any Colonial Treasurer. Mr. M'Millan and Mr. Bruce Smith both describe the Dibbs allegation as alarmist and untrue, and as made for the sole purpose of justifying new Customs duties. These gentlemen mean to call Mr. Dibbs to account when the House reassembles, but, in the meantime, the most is made in London of the utterances of a Premier who is pessimistic because he views affairs from the low standpoint of paltry party interests. In creating a paid chairman of the Railway Committee both the New South Wales and the Victorian Houses made an experiment in the way of appointing a paid national officer on the Swiss model, and if the financial position is always to be abused for party purposes by party Treasurers another step in this direction may yet have to be taken.

We are requested to call attention to an advertisement which appears in another column, announcing that it is proposed by members of the University to give a complimentary dinner to the Registrar, Mr. H. E. Barff, M.A. Members wishing to join are requested to communicate with the hon. secretary, Mr. Thos. W. C. Ward, University-chambers, Phillip-street.

As will be seen in our advertising columns, Mr. Larmour has secured the services, for Coogee Aquarium, of the Misses Albu during the remainder of their stay in Australia.

The report for the week ended November 7 of the number of pauper patients under treatment in the metropolitan hospitals at the Government expense is as follows:—Coast Hospital: Admissions, 48; discharges, 43; deaths, 2; number remaining, 229. Sydney Hospital: Admissions, 28; discharges, 17; deaths, 5; number remaining, 74. Moorcliff Eye Hospital: Admissions, 2; discharges, 5; number remaining, 46. Prince Alfred Hospital: Admissions, 25; discharges, 11; death, 1; number remaining, 76.

ARRIVAL OF THE ENGLISH ELEVEN AT ADELAIDE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

Lord Sheffield and his team of cricketers arrived yesterday by the Arcadia, and were welcomed on the vessel by Mr. H. Y. Sparks, president, and a large number of members of the Cricketing Association. On coming to town, the Englishmen spent the afternoon at the Oval, where they had a very cordial reception. The members of the team are in good health, and Grace looks particularly well. At the Oval they watched with interest George Giffen's play. Lord Sheffield said he considered Giffen played a magnificent game. In the course of the interview he said he regards the team as a very strong one, although the absence of Shrewsbury and Gunn was to be regretted.

MR. T. J. HOUGHTON, M.L.A., AT GRAFTON.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

GRAFTON, Tuesday.

Mr. T. J. Houghton, member for the Glebe, addressed a meeting of 350 persons in the Theatre Royal to-night. The Mayor presided. Mr. Houghton went at length into the causes that led to the creation of the labour party in the Assembly, and the objects to be achieved by that section. He disclaimed that the labour party was responsible for the present political crisis, and strongly denounced Sir Henry Parkes for precipitating it and thus destroying three or four months work. He said he believed Sir Henry Parkes intended this should be the case when the business was resumed after the last general election. He considered the present Government was composed of as able a body of men as could be got in the House, but considered there should be others in its composition besides lawyers and capitalists. If the Government survived the division that must take place on the fiscal question, he saw no reason why they should not continue in office to the end of the term. The labour party had not decided what action they would take regarding the fiscal question, but there were four courses they could adopt. First, to support the Government; second, to vote against them; third, to go outside the bar of the House during the division; and lastly, to vote as they individually thought best. He was not prepared to say which course they should adopt. He dwelt at considerable length on the planks of the Labour Electoral League, and though there were some interruptions, he was fairly listened to during an address of two and a-half hours, at the conclusion of which he was accorded a vote of thanks. Mr. T. M. Davis, member for West Sydney, was in town to-day from the North, but was too unwell to address the meeting. Mr. Houghton delivers an address at Maclean to-morrow night.

THE NEW ZEALAND LAND TAX BILL.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The Times states that the Land Tax Bill of New Zealand will have a disastrous effect, as it virtually destroys the mortgage system as applied to estates, and will lead to the recall from that colony of all realisable capital.

THE TICHBORNE ESTATES.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The announcement that a new claimant to the Tichborne title and estates has been discovered in Sydney in the person of a lunatic named Cresswell is exciting public interest in England.

It is, however, considered impossible to establish the identity of Cresswell with the missing baronet, unless he bears the emblems of faith, hope, and charity over the initials "R. D. T." on the left forearm.

DR. GIFFEN'S TOUR.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

It is reported that Dr. Robert Giffen, the well-known British statistician, has received instructions from Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to make inquiries while in Australia into the financial condition of the colonies, the result of which will be presented to Mr. Goschen before his promised legislation to allow trustees to invest trust funds in Australian stocks is introduced.

AFFAIRS IN BRAZIL.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The province of Rio Grande do Sul, the most southerly region of Brazil, adjoining Uruguay, has declared its independence of the Republic.

Discontent is general throughout Brazil.

THE SINKING OF A VESSEL.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

A cyclone at Port Blair, in the Southern Andaman Island, caused the steamer Enterprise to sink, when 77 persons were drowned.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

An explosion has taken place in a colliery at Nanticoke (sic), by which 18 miners were killed and many injured.

BANK FAILURES IN BERLIN.

[By Cable.]
(From our Correspondent.)

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The Berlin banker, Sommerfeld, who, with his son, attempted suicide after the collapse of their firm, is now dead.

The panic in Berlin led to a run on several of the banking institutions.

It is ascertained that the German nobility is severely affected by the recent suspensions, and many nobles have lost hundreds of thousands of marks.

Nov. 10.

Five minutes before the suspension of Hirschfeld and Wolff a clerk of a Berlin firm arrived with a deposit of £25,000, which, had it come in time, would have averted the disaster.

It is expected that other Berlin banks will fail, and that allied financial houses will share a similar fate.

PROBABLE FINANCIAL CRISIS IN PARIS.

[By Cable.]
(From our Correspondent.)

LONDON, Nov. 10.

The Paris bourse exhibits great weakness. The Russian rouble has dropped nearly one-half in value. A financial crisis is feared.

M. de Rothschild, of Paris, is accused of bearing the last loan. He denies the imputation.

THE LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

SPEECH BY THE PRIME MINISTER.

THE IRISH POLICY.

NO PRESENT EVACUATION OF EGYPT.

[By Cable.]
(From our Correspondent.)

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The annual Lord Mayor's banquet took place this evening, when Alderman David Evans entertained a large company.

In reply to the customary toast, the Marquis of Salisbury, Prime Minister, delivered a speech. He said that during the year he had had to regret the loss of precious colleagues removed from the Ministry by death.

Mr. Balfour's work in Ireland, he declared, was the best that country had ever experienced, and peace and freedom from priestly dominion would follow the completion of the legislative programme of the Government.

In regard to the labour troubles, Lord Salisbury said that the settlement of the engineers' strike indicated that there would be fewer strikes if labour would act of itself, and ignore second-hand advice.

Peace within and without the Empire, his Lordship asserted, was not troubled with a speck of a cloud on the horizon foreboding danger.

The great subject for the future was that of the renewal of the British commercial treaties, in connection with which he was convinced that the country would adhere to the principles of freetrade.

The British Government had no intention to evacuate Egypt until that country had been placed in a condition to repel external attack and restrain internal disorder.

Nov. 10.

Lord Salisbury regretted that New South Wales was in danger of no longer wearing the unspotted robe of freetrade.

CRITICS OF THE COLONIES.

LORD HOPETOUN IN REPLY.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In replying to the toast of his health at the Mayor's banquet last night, the Governor (the Earl of Hopetoun) took occasion to refer to some of the criticisms on the colonies which have been published at home by recent visitors. He remarked that these travelling scribes were well treated here, and some persons even took the trouble to see them act their own play, but the kindness had not been well repaid, for they had been declared little better than savages, the finances had been described as rotten, and the loyalty of colonists to the Empire as not worth an hour's purchase. These statements he emphatically contradicted, and declared that they were not likely to foster a friendly feeling.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondents.)

BUNDARRA, Tuesday.

Influenza is prevalent in the neighbourhood. Only three cases are reported in town.

COOMA, Tuesday.

The influenza appears to be on the decline here.

COONAMBLE, Tuesday.

Several cases of influenza have occurred here, but none are of a serious character.

COWRA, Tuesday.

No more deaths from influenza have occurred locally, except that of Mr. Florence, of Woodstock. The disease is, however, still very prevalent.

CUDAL, Tuesday.

Influenza is still running its course. Almost every household contributes its quota to the sufferers, but no fatal cases have as yet occurred. About seven or eight days appears to be the limit of the attack. The climate is very healthy.

GILGANDRA, Tuesday.

No amusements of any kind took place here yesterday in consequence of the prevailing epidemic, which is, or has been, in every house in the neighbourhood. The most serious case is that of Mr. Fletcher, manager of Bongeabong station, who, in spite of two visits from doctors from Dubbo, a distance of 40 miles, lies in a precarious state.

GOULBURN, Tuesday.

Though the influenza epidemic is abating, and few fresh cases are reported, the disease still continues to claim victims. Four deaths have occurred since Saturday, including that of a child named Denney, whose parents died last week. The whole family has thus succumbed. The patients in the Town Hall are doing well, no fresh cases requiring attention by the relief committee.

GRENFELL, Tuesday.

Influenza is very prevalent here.

GUNDAGAI, Tuesday.

The influenza epidemic is now abating. There are a great many people down with it. Mr. A. Boggis, post and telephone master at Jugiong, died from the complaint on Sunday.

HARDEN, Tuesday.

The influenza is abating in the town, but there are still a few bad cases out in the country parts.

MILTON, Tuesday.

Influenza is very prevalent. Doctor Ryan estimates that one-fourth of the inhabitants of the district have been stricken down. There are some very severe cases.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

Three more victims have succumbed in Newcastle to influenza during the past four days—viz., Messrs. T. G. Clegg, H. Searle, and M. M'Carthy, all well-known and respected citizens. The disease is still prevalent.

NOWRA, Tuesday.

Many persons here are still suffering from influenza.

RYLSTONE, Tuesday.

Mrs. Howe, senior, one of our oldest residents, died here yesterday from the effects of influenza. A few more cases here are extremely critical.

TAREE, Tuesday.

Mrs. Wolfe, of Oxley Island, died on Saturday morning from bronchitis following upon influenza. This is the first fatal case in the district from the influenza epidemic, which has, so far, not been at all prevalent here.

YOUNG, Tuesday.

Additional shearing operations are greatly delayed through the influenza in several sheds. More than half the number of hands are on the sick list.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Dr. Goldie, aged 73, an old resident of Williamstown, died from influenza yesterday.

THE CAMPBELLTOWN MOUNTED INFANTRY TOURNAMENT.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.

Twenty-eight members of the newly-formed company of Mounted Infantry of Liverpool, under the direction of Captain Newman, proceeded on horseback to the Campbelltown tournament yesterday, and presented a very creditable appearance. Several of the members took part in the various competitions. Private Wearne, lately transferred from the Campbelltown company, won the rescue, and rode in really fine style, reaching the winning-post before any of the other competitors had mounted with their dummy. He also ran a close second for picking the apple. A section also entered in the Lloyd Lyndsay, and was the only section that acted up to regulations, all the others dismounting and firing in front instead of behind their horses. The Picton section was awarded the first prize and Liverpool entered a protest, which has not yet been decided. C. Armstrong, of Liverpool, also won the flat race after a desperate struggle. It is intended to hold a tournament here as soon as possible.

THE ARRIVAL OF MR. H. M. STANLEY.

INTERVIEW WITH THE EXPLORER.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

Mr. H. M. Stanley, who is accompanied by Mrs. Stanley, arrived by the Arcadia on Monday. The great explorer, who was unable to visit Adelaide, was met on the steamer by several members of the Geographical Society. Mr. Stanley evinced great interest in the short account of Stuart's trip by W. P. Auld, who was one of the party. Mr. Stanley has made preparations to continue his voyage to Melbourne. Mrs. Stanley was also introduced to the Geographical Society. In the course of an interview with the Register reporter, the following conversation took place:—

How long will you be in Australia, Mr. Stanley?—About four months, perhaps longer, perhaps less.

And your movements?—Well, that's more than I know; that depends upon Mr. Smythe. I have left the tour and the arranging of lectures, &c., to that gentleman, and the general opinion seems to be that I am in good hands.

What are the latest important developments in Africa?—Well, there have been a good many lately. True, there have not been any rapid movements calculated to arouse suspicion. Developments are going on quietly. Africa has changed altogether during the last year or two. Why in the jubilee year 1887 there was more than two-thirds of Africa still open, but what an alteration has been made since my return. Africa has been distributed into various divisions. There is German East Africa, and Italian East Africa; then the French have come from the Mediterranean and taken a division along the Niger. Then the Portuguese, the English, and the rest of them have had a slice. All this was arranged last year. Each of those countries has its own custom-house, inland administration, special forces, police, &c. Now an expedition cannot land in any part of Africa without being asked its business. Why, continued Mr. Stanley, you cannot even go and hunt the elephant without first getting permission. When a traveller is going into the German division he must carry the German flag, when in the French the tricolour, and when on British territory the union jack, and so on.

How do you account for the German expeditions ending so much in failure?—Replied Mr. Stanley, in a quiet, contemplative way: They have been rather unfortunate. It is because they adopt the military style, instead of that cautious political system that has been found to work so successfully by others. It is a little judicious mixture of both these elements that has worked so well in similar expeditions; but still perseverance may do a great deal, and it all depends whether this very necessary qualification will last long enough, as it will be necessary to prove that the German system is capable of leading to ultimate success. I fancy the Germans will go on and on, and although a little hard at first on the natives they may find by experience that this militaryism, which in the past proved so unfortunate, is not the wisest policy to pursue; that, in fact, it will not pay to frighten the people. The best way is to win their regards, or at least their suffrages.

And the Portuguese, Mr. Stanley—are they likely to be dangerous neighbours in Africa?—They will remain just about the same as they always have been of late. They have perhaps caused a little excitement in trying to do more than they were able to do, but it is a good thing to have an active neighbour. There is nothing like a friendly rivalry, and in that respect the Portuguese may be of some value to Africa. That is just, I have always said, and reminds me that at one time British people were doubtful about claiming any of the routes in Africa. It is the best for Africa, and the best for England that Germany should be in Africa, and the best for Germany that England and others should be there. If Germany got the whole of it progress would be extremely slow; but have the excitement and activity caused by rival neighbours, and you have an all-round benefit. While Emin was in Africa the Germans never once thought of him as a countryman, but as soon as they found that England took interest in him on the ground solely that he was an officer of the Egyptian army, the protegé of England, then the Germans at once claimed him as their own dear countryman. When he arrived on the coast they banqueted him in right royal manner. He walked out of a window, as you may remember, and it nearly cost him his life. After the accident they doctored him up for about six weeks, and then enlisted him as an officer of the German Government, and sent him out with a most powerful expedition, something like 900 persons, and a number of officers. It was, indeed, a fine turnout. They wandered about for a while, staring on the shores and at the end of Lake Victoria, until the company became completely disorganised; and again did Emin Pasha show his utterly impracticable and unmanageable character.

And to repeat a rather famous question, Mr. Stanley, where is Emin?—Well, replied his rescuer, a quiet smile stealing over his face, the last heard of him was that he was on English territory, and that the expedition had disbanded, and the Germans had repudiated him.

You say he was an impracticable man?—Yes, absolutely. We set out on the relief expedition with the feeling that we were to rescue a noble man, a high-souled man—indeed, a second Gordon. We toiled on and on, buoyed up with such feelings as these; yet it did seem strange to us on more than one occasion that this man, with a reputed strong will, had not made an effort to extricate himself. Then various matters came to light that shook our faith in our hero. What would you think of a man that could sit down and write a letter to Germany, which was published in a German paper, saying he was lost, that all hope of rescue was gone, and within the very same hour—yes, before the ink had time to dry on his blotting-pad—writing a letter to me, we being close at hand? When we did meet him he was not ready. Instead of governing his people as a Governor ought, and watching over them, Emin was prying round bushes after bugs and beetles. We did not know what to make of him. He could not see that the people were dissatisfied—that, in fact, there was open rebellion. They had been telling him as plainly as possible for a long time, but he could not see it until they commenced to steal the Government stores and ammunition and take them into the bush. He is an utterly indecisive man—a man with no mind of his own, very well learned, of course, in bugs and beetles, and a most interesting talker on all matters of natural history. Yes, a charmingly interesting man, a good conversationalist—a man just suited, for instance, for a ladies' afternoon tea party.

What is your opinion, Mr. Stanley, of Mr. Gladstone's idea of throwing Egypt over?—That it would not be fair for England to leave Egypt after such a marvellous success. It would upset the whole country. Oh, no; England must hold on to Egypt. I am sure whatever following Mr. Gladstone may seem to have now, such a policy has only to be definitely stated before Parliament, to be badly beaten. Nothing could be better than Lord Salisbury's attitude towards Egypt. It is time enough for England to retire from Egypt when that is the wish of the Khedive and his Government and the people. There is no such wish expressed or felt, and until that time it is useless for England throwing up the good work. It would be fatal to England's interest on the shores of the Indian Ocean, and it would be fatal to Egypt. Then, in addition, it would be necessary to get security from Europe that, in the event of the evacuation of Egypt, it would not be followed by some other Power taking it. Unless there was this security, the millions that England has been obliged to spend in making peaceful progress during the last six years would be simply thrown away.

At this interesting point the interview was interrupted by the arrival of several members of the Geographical Society.

A DETERMINED SUICIDE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

On Sunday morning a man named Dumai, a night watchman at South Melbourne, met a young stranger with his clothes dripping wet and in a wretched condition. He asked him what was the matter, and the man replied that he had been in the river. Dumai, in pity, took him home, when the man suddenly cut his throat, and expired instantly. He has since been identified as Robert Jobbings, 26 years of age, a cattle-drover, who had come from Queensland, and spent all his money in betting and drinking. Towards the last he sold his waistcoat for beer. He had been suffering from delirium tremens.

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

James M'Kay, a wharf labourer, to-day obtained a verdict of £500 with costs, being the amount claimed against the Railway Commissioners for injuries sustained through being knocked down by a railway truck.

An action was commenced to-day by Mrs. Ada Brown for £5000 damages against the Railway Commissioners, for injuries through falling over the end of the platform at Yarraville. She was a passenger by a train, and the portion of the train where the guard's van was did not draw fully up to the platform. The night was dark, and it was whilst proceeding to the guard's van to look after her luggage that the accident occurred. The plaintiff was injured in the back, and alleges that the platform was improperly lighted. The defendants admit that the platform was not long enough, but contend that the only obligation cast on them is to convey passengers to their destination, and provide safe exit for them.

This afternoon Ernest Hutchison gave a pianoforte recital in the Athenæum Hall. The performance was the best he has given in Melbourne, some of his renderings being remarkably fine.

The direct railway route from Melbourne to Ballarat has been closed for several months, in consequence of damages by the flood between Bacchus Marsh and Ingliston. It will be re-opened for traffic on Wednesday, when the ordinary time-table will be resumed.

Elizabeth Freeman, a young woman, was tried and acquitted at the General Sessions to-day, on a charge of the forgery and uttering of a cheque for £132 on the Bank of Australasia on August 18. She presented a cheque in the name of S. Peters, the amount of the cheque being perforated and initialled as though it had been presented to the ledger-keeper. A short time after the prisoner presented a second cheque, in the name of R. Noble for £1374, similarly marked. The suspicions of the bank officials were aroused, and the prisoner was arrested. She stated that a man whom she met a few days previously had sent her with the cheques. He promised to give her money to buy clothes, and to take her to Sydney.

The annual session of the Baptist Association of Victoria was commenced to-day. Mr. D. C. Rees, the President Elect, was introduced by the Rev. E. Harris, the retiring president, and took his seat. The business was of a formal character. A public meeting was held in the evening, when the president delivered his inaugural address.

The Australasian Sugar Refining Company's new works at Port Melbourne were formerly opened to-day with some ceremony.

The annual session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Victoria was commenced to-day. The Rev. A. Youl was nominated as Moderator in succession to the Rev. W. J. Gillespie. In the evening the Rev. Charles Berry, of Wolverhampton, England, delivered an address, and had a very cordial reception.

The financial position of the Melbourne Hospital was considered at a meeting of the committee of the institution to-day. Notice of motion was given that in order to bring the expenditure within the income, it is desirable to close one or more wards till the Government provides the necessary funds.

The committee of the V. R. C. has received a protest against Malvolio as the winner of the Melbourne Cup, on the ground that he was incorrectly nominated. The committee will hold an inquiry on Thursday. In the meantime the Cup stakes have not been paid. A protest has been lodged with the V. R. C. against the payment of the first place money in the Flemington Stakes on Saturday last to the winner, Mr. D. S. Wallace's filly Urith, on the ground that the filly was incorrectly nominated, it being alleged that she was nominated as by Newminster from a Marchioness mare, when she should have been nominated as by Newminster from a Maribyrnong mare. This matter will also be investigated on Thursday.

The settling over the Melbourne Cup meeting and the Williamstown Cup meeting passed off in a very satisfactory manner to-day. There were reports of one extensive backer not being present, but his friends state that his settling will be all right.

An inquiry was held by the stewards of the V. R. C. to-day into the running of Marvel in the Canterbury Plate. It resulted in a caution being administered to Harris, the rider of Marvel.

Mr. L. J. Moody has been appointed secretary of the Q. N. Club. There were 44 applicants.

The quantity of sugar exported from the various ports of Queensland from the 26th September to the 23rd October was 5602 tons, making a total of 21,271 tons since the 20th June last.

While the Yaralla was unloading at the A.U.S.N. Company's Wharf this morning a labourer, named John Thompson, fell down the hold and was killed instantly.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

PERTH, Tuesday.

The evidence taken at the inquest on Charles Stratton, a compositor, who was drowned in the Perth River on Thursday last, showed a creditable attempt by Alfred Chapman to save him. Chapman endeavoured to assist him upon several occasions, but he was seized by Stratton, who was in a very terrified condition, and dragged under water. The jury added a rider expressing admiration of Chapman's conduct.

A married woman, 25 years of age, named Jane Jones, has been arrested at Albany on a charge of deserting her children at Fremantle, aged 18 months and 4 years respectively. She was residing with a youth named Thorpe, about 16 years of age, with whom she left Fremantle a few days ago. When arrested she drew a loaded revolver from her pocket but did not use it.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

A public welcome will be accorded to Lord Sheffield and his party of English cricketers on Tuesday. The Mayor of Adelaide, Mr. Cohen, M.P., presided, to whose complimentary speech Lord Sheffield and Dr. Grace replied.

The Governor and Lord and Lady Kintore returned from Melbourne this morning, after their visit to the Governor of Victoria.

At a meeting held at Moonta this morning a resolution was carried that the enginemen should not go to work, but stand shoulder to shoulder. The meeting was considered one of the best ever held, and the men never appeared more firm or more united.

At the inquest on the diver Tiety, who was drowned at the raising of the launch Bluebell at the Semaphore, a verdict was returned that death resulted from gradual suffocation, accelerated by physical unfitness for the work. No blame could be attached to anyone.

Major-General Downes sustained a fall from his horse while returning from the military manœuvres yesterday. He will be laid up a few days owing to the severe shock he received.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN VICTORIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

With regard to the political crisis two Cabinet meetings were held to-day, and the question of the attitude of Ministers in the Upper House towards the one man one vote principle was freely discussed, but Sir F. T. Sargood, and Messrs. J. M. Davies, Simon Fraser, and C. J. Ham were adamant. They contended that, as each had pledged himself against the abolition of plural voting, not one of them could consistently take up a different attitude. It was also pointed out that the question had been regarded as an open one in the Cabinet; and it was not fair to depart from that arrangement simply because the Ministry was challenged. At a second interview the prospect of an agreement was equally remote, and Ministers in the Upper House came to the conclusion that they had no option but to tender their resignations. In the Lower House the Ministers are disinclined to have the resignations accepted, pending the consultation with their supporters. It was accordingly decided to wait till next day before resolving to recommend the Governor to accept the resignations.

A caucus of the Legislative Council was held to-day to consider what should be done with the One Man One Vote Bill. The feeling was against rejecting the bill on the second reading, because that would be tantamount to snubbing the Assembly, but it was concluded that it would be well to provide for a dual vote.

AUSTRALASIAN PARLIAMENTS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondents.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the Legislative Council to-day a large number of petitions were received from municipal councils all over the colony praying for the rejection or amendment of the Amending Constitution Bill providing for the one man one vote principle. Some of the petitions were strongly worded. One mentioned the bill as a pernicious and obnoxious one. The President declined to have it read, as it referred to burglars and larrikins having equal voting power with honest men.

Sir F. Sargood then intimated that he and his Council colleagues had tendered their resignations as members in connection with the bill in question. They were sorry to leave their colleagues, with whom they had worked harmoniously, but had only acted after full consideration. He concluded by moving the adjournment of the House to the next day, which was agreed to.

In the Legislative Assembly Mr. Munro said that certain remarks had been made in the House with regard to the bill before the other House. Mr. Gillies rose and said the House was taken by surprise by the statement being made now. He thought the great majority of members did not think it desirable to discuss the question. Mr. Munro said he was not going to discuss it. Mr. Gillies observed that he should be sorry to see the discussion entered on just now. Mr. Munro said his important statement would be made next day. The Cabinet had met, and had given full consideration to the position of the one man one vote question. His colleagues in the Legislative Council were at one with the Government on the general policy of the bill, but were not entirely with them on matters of detail. That being so, after full consideration the members of the Cabinet in the other House had tendered their resignations with the view of their being submitted to the Governor. He had taken until to-morrow to decide whether he would recommend the Governor to accept them or not. Mr. Bent submitted the report of the railway standing committee recommending the construction of a line from Korumbutta, on the Great Southern Line, to the Coal Creek, Strezlecki and Jumbunda coal mines, provided the department obtained the land free of cost, and that the Railway Department are satisfied that the output of coal would be sufficient to pay working expenses and interest on the cost of construction. The Municipal Overdrafts Indemnity Bill was read the first time. The report of the Select Committee to investigate the question of the subdivision of the mallee blocks was taken into consideration. The committee recommended that no further transferrence of the blocks into allotments be allowed, and that the Government resume the allotment and block land when required for bona-fide agricultural settlement. An amending Mallee Bill should be speedily introduced for improving the machinery of the land boards, for the classification of resumed land for survey before selection, for the division of resumed blocks, and for providing conditions of improvement. Mr. M'Lean, Minister of Lands, intimated that he was generally in favour of the report, but he suggested that in all cases in which consent to subdivide had been given before the appointment of the committee the subdivision should be permitted to go through. The discussion which followed was generally favourable to the report, which was ultimately adopted. The Council's amendments in the Legal Professions Bill were considered, and ultimately agreed to. The House rose at 11 p.m.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

In the Legislative Council, the Pearlshell Fisheries Bill and the District Courts Bill were read the third time and passed. The Rabbit Boards Bill was passed through committee. On the motion for the second reading of the Water Supply Wells and Tanks Bill an amendment that it be read that day six months was carried. The Irrigation Bill was further considered in committee. The House adjourned at 9.30 p.m.

In the Assembly, in reply to Mr. Archer, the Colonial Treasurer said the Engineer for Harbours and Rivers and the Marine Board of Launceston had been in correspondence in reference to the sale or leasing of the dredges Platypus and Saurian. A number of matters were discussed on a motion for adjournment. The House went into Committee of Supply on the Estimates from the loan funds. The vote for Harbours and Rivers gave rise to a very long discussion on the dredge question. The action of the Government in proposing to sell the dredge was strongly condemned by the Opposition. The discussion eventually assumed the shape of stonewalling. The House is still sitting.

GENERAL BOOTH IN TASMANIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

LAUNCESTON, Tuesday.

General Booth arrived at Hobart from New Zealand to-day, and was heartily welcomed by the Salvation Army. Mr. Bird, the Treasurer, met General Booth at the wharf. The General is Mr. Bird's guest. At Mr. Bird's request General Booth held a meeting during the afternoon in the Temperance Hall to explain his views regarding his colonisation scheme. The building was crowded to excess. The Governor and Mr. Bird accompanied General Booth to the hall. The Governor, who presided, eulogised General Booth's reform scheme. Lady Hamilton, the Minister of Lands, and a number of clergymen were on the platform. General Booth's speech was similar to those delivered elsewhere.

CAVALRY ENCAMPMENT ON THE RICHMOND RIVER.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

CASINO, Tuesday.

Major-General Richardson, accompanied by Colonel M'Kenzie, inspected the Richmond River and the G Lismore troops of the N.S.W. Cavalry Regiment, also the Casino Cadet Lancers, at Woorowoolgen yesterday. The troops have been encamped during the past week, and have been drilling assiduously and undergoing instruction in camp duties under the command of Captain M'Neill, Fourth Hussars, assisted by Warrant Officer Thompson, N.S.W. Cav. Staff. 130 of all ranks were in camp, and the Casino Brass Band was present at the inspection. On the arrival of the inspecting officer the guards were turned out, and the tents of each troop inspected, the General expressing satisfaction at the good order and cleanliness of the lines and the manner in which the camp was pitched. A mounted parade was subsequently held on a splendid plain suitable for drill purposes, situated opposite the camp and surrounded by heavily-timbered hilly, country well adapted for outpost and reconnaissance duties. Three squadrons under the command of Captain M'Neill, Fourth Hussars, were formed of the troops in camp, the Richmond River forming the first squadron under the command of Lieutenant Fanning, and equipped as Lancers. The second squadron consisted of the Lismore men under Captain Taylor and Lieutenant Allman, equipped as Dragoons, the 3rd squadron being the Casino Cadet Lancers, under Captain Riley. The men were clean and smartly turned out, and looked a well-mounted serviceable body of cavalry; and the Casino cadets looked and rode well, and formed a useful addition to the adult squadrons. The General was received with a salute. He minutely inspected the ranks. The march-past movements were satisfactorily gone through at a walk and gallop, the Casino Band playing each squadron past the saluting-point. Captain M'Neill then exercised the squadrons in the New South Wales cavalry drill, recently adapted from the German Uhlans, in dashing style. The movements in echelon of squadron columns, and the advance of the Dragoon squadron at a gallop in rough country, dismounting and firing, the retiring and charging, the Lancers squadrons advancing at a gallop in support, being specially good. Cossack posts and picket duties concluded the inspection, after which the troops were formed up and addressed by the General, who in the course of a eulogistic speech complimented Captain M'Neill on the result of the inspection and the work done in camp. He stated that it was not his custom to address the troops at inspections, but he took into consideration the praiseworthy patriotism displayed by the men of the Richmond River and Lismore Cavalry troops in holding a local camp at their own expense, the Government only providing the camp equipment. Much more efficiency was attained by a few days work in camp than by all the other detached drills held during the year. The drill, he considered, was good and useful, but that of the Casino squadron was particularly so. The drill of the Lismore was satisfactory, more especially when the term of service of the latter troop was remembered, and the manner in which the cadet Lancers took part in the manœuvres in conjunction with two other squadrons was marvellous when the short time the troop had been in existence was remembered. The troops were then marched to camp and dismissed. The tents are now being struck, and the men are busy retiring. Camp stores and all traces of what has been a busy camp during the last week are fast disappearing. Major-General Richardson and Colonel M'Kenzie return to Sydney to-morrow.

Maiden Plate.—John Hinde, 1; Gus Pettigren, 2; George Beresford, 3.
Caledonian Handicap, 20 sovs., 130 yards.—John Hinde, 1; Arthur H. Hinde, 2; Arthur L. Hinde, 3.
Hurdle Race.—John Hinde, 1; William Marshall, 2; Tim Hayes, 3.
Ladies' Bracelet, 120 yards.—Frank Hart, 11 yards, 1; John Hinde, 11 yards, 2; Alick M'Donald, 9 yards, 3.
The gathering was very successful. There was a large attendance.

BARMEDMAN, Tuesday.
A cricket match yesterday, Temora v. Barmedman, was won by the former by seven wickets. It was a most exciting contest until the second innings of Temora.

BUNDARRA, Tuesday.
Yesterday was observed as a holiday. Racing, a cricket match, and a picnic filled the day agreeably, and a concert by the Inverell amateurs was held in he evening, followed by a ball. The Inverell brass band assisted. The weather is very hot and dry.

CARCOAR, Tuesday.
Yesterday was kept as a close holiday. A large number of residents left for the surrounding districts by train. Several local cricket matches were played, the most interesting one being the local club against Blayney. The former won by 9 runs.

CLIFTON, Tuesday.
Yesterday was observed as a holiday among the mining community in Illawarra. Clifton and the surroundings were yesterday visited by large numbers of pleasure-seekers, who appreciate the magnificent scenery which abounds about this locality. Light rain set in last night from the north-east, and has continued the greater portion of to-day. It will do immense good throughout the district.

COOMA, Tuesday.
The holiday passed off quietly yesterday. At the races the sport was good, but the attendance only moderate. The Friendly Societies' Ball in the evening at the School of Arts was very successful. The weather was showery, and heavy rain fell to-day up to noon. It is now bright and warm.

GLEN INNES, Tuesday.
The Prince of Wales's Birthday was celebrated by a great gathering of the Friendly Societies on the showground. A procession was formed near the Masonic Hall, headed by the Town Band, to the grounds. The societies taking part were the Oddfellows, Rechabites, and Hibernian Lodges. Sports were indulged in. The principal events were :—All Comers' Handicap, 130 yards, was won by Hutton ; the Friendly Societies' Handicap, same distance, by A. Leece ; the Oddfellows' Handicap, 125 yards, a silver cup presented by Dr. Wrigley, to be won twice, for members only, was won by W. Rahill. There was also a cricket match between Our Juniors and Armidale Combined Schools, and resulted in a win for the local team. The Juniors entertained their visitors at the Railway Hotel in the evening. The Friendly Societies had a ball at night in the Town Hall, at which there was a large attendance. The weather was beautifully fine, the whole proceedings going off splendidly.

GRENFELL, Tuesday.
Yesterday was observed as a close holiday. Various picnics and private parties were held. A wild flower show in aid of the Grenfell School of Arts was opened in the Oddfellows Hall last night.

GUNDAGAI, Tuesday.
The holiday yesterday was duly observed by the closing of all business places ; but the only sport was the Reserve Rifle Company's match, the winners being J. Higgins, Captain Griffin, and J. H. Jeremias.

KIAMA, Tuesday.
The Prince of Wales's Birthday was celebrated yesterday with the usual festivities. The excursion train on Saturday and the holiday train yesterday brought a large number of visitors to town, but the rain during the forenoon somewhat spoiled their pleasure. The town wore a holiday appearance, the pilot station and many principal buildings being decorated with bunting. On Church Point a cricket match took place between the Lyndhurst (Sydney) team and Kiama, which resulted in an easy victory for the latter, although the Kiama team was represented by only three members, the remainder being emergency men.

MOLONG, Tuesday.
Sports were held yesterday in connection with the Loyal Pride of the West Lodge of Manchester Unity, Order of Oddfellows. The proceedings started with a procession of members, headed by a brass band. Sports were afterwards held on the recreation ground, which were well attended. The Opening Handicap was won by H. Caldwell, the Members' Race by Neville, the Boys' Race by Turner, the Girls' Race by O'Keefe, the Navvies' Race by Williams, and the Married Men's Race by Baxter. In the Anniversary Sheffield Handicap, 150 yards, H. Caldwell and E. Neville ran a dead heat, and divided the prize. It was a splendid race ; a yard would have covered the four men at the finish. Quarter of a Mile Race was won by M'Aviney. The Orange District Cricket Club played the Molong Cricket Club here yesterday, and, after an interesting game of two innings, Molong won by seven runs.

MURRUMBURRAH, Tuesday.
A day's sports were held yesterday on the showground, in connection with the Independent Order of Oddfellows. The brethren, numbering about 60, marched to the ground, headed by the town band. The attendance was about 500. The following is the result of the several events :—
Open Handicap, 130 yards, £5.—W. Gannon, 1; F. Franklin, 10 yards, 2.
Sheffield Handicap, 150 yards, £15.—F. Franklin, 16 yards, 1; E. Kirk, 20 yards, 2; W. Davis, 15 yards, 3.
Oddfellows' Race.—W. Plumb, 13 yards, 1; F. Franklin, scratch, 2.
Hunters' Contest.—Mr. J. Walsh's Young Bolaro, £7, 1; Mr. Tracey's Veto, £2, 2; Mr. Flannery's Farmer, £1, 3.
A ball in the evening was held in the Assembly Hall. The building was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and dancing was indulged in till daylight.

MURWILLUMBAH, Tuesday.
Yesterday was a close holiday. A cricket match, the Tweed River v. Southern Queensland, was played at Tumbulgum. The home team won by an innings and 36 runs.

NARRANDERA, Tuesday.
The Prince of Wales's Birthday was observed here as a close holiday. All places of business and the Government offices were closed. The weather though overcast and cool in the morning up to 11 o'clock turned out hot during the rest of the day. The attractions of the day were the Wesleyan annual Sunday school picnic held in the police paddock, a mile from town. A large number of children and adults were present. Athletic sports were also held on the show grounds for the benefit of the local hospital. Prior to starting the sports all the friendly societies marched in procession through the streets, and thence to the show grounds, headed by the town band. The attendance at the sports was not so large as was anticipated. The local amateur dramatic club gave an evening entertainment for the benefit of the hospital.

NOWRA, Tuesday.
The Waratah Lodge of Oddfellows (G. U.) celebrated its anniversary yesterday by athletic sports and pony racing on the showground. There was a fair attendance. Mr. J. H. Wheeler was starter, and Mr. M'Leod judge. Mr. J. Quilty won the Grand Sheffield Handicap of 150 yards by a start of 26 yards. J. Caddell, 27 yards, won the Hurdle Race from J. Cruickshanks, 17 yards, after a close race. The pony race in heats excited much interest, and was won by Mr. B. Thompson's Sandfly from 12 competitors.
Prior to the procession to the ground in the morning a special meeting of the lodge was held, and an address presented to Mr. Edwards for his services during several years past.

TAREE, Tuesday.
The anniversary of the Wesleyan Sabbath-school was celebrated at Taree yesterday by a picnic in Fleet's paddock. There was a large attendance of children and their friends.

A programme of events is arranged to take place to-night under the electric light in the show ground.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondents.)

BARMEDMAN, Tuesday.
Many sheds have not yet finished shearing.

BOURKE, Tuesday.
The wool brought in by camels, whose drivers yesterday came into collision with the lorry drivers, was found this morning with the bales cut open. Over a dozen bales were thus injured. Two tarpaulins were also cut in a similar fashion. The charge of assault against the Afghans came on for hearing this morning, and was not concluded when the Court rose. The case was adjourned till to-morrow. The evidence for the prosecution shows that the camel-drivers and lorry men tried to enter the railway yard gates simultaneously, and that the Afghans then tried to block the lorries by catching hold of the horses and hitting them over the heads. The defence has not yet commenced.
The labour party will select a candidate on Thursday night for the electorate. Mr. Millen, who is the only candidate who has so far declared his views, speaks to-morrow night.
Mrs. M. Goode, an old resident of 30 years' standing, died last evening. The deceased lady leaves a large family, which is settled in the locality.

BOWRAL, Tuesday.
The local branch of the Labour Electoral League has taken umbrage at the speech of the Postmaster-General at Picton. The league considers that that part of his speech having reference to the labour party was a sneer at the labour representatives. The secretary is to be instructed to write to Mr. Kidd for an explanation.
The Athletic Club is busy making good arrangements for the visit of Lord Sheffield's English Eleven. Fifty cricketers, representing all parts of the district, have been selected to practise and from these 22 to meet the Englishmen will be chosen.

CAMDEN, Tuesday.
Several townsmen took the cadet encampment by surprise late last night. The rain aided the attacking party. The cadets broke up camp this afternoon.
The Wesleyan and Primitive Methodist Sunday-school held a picnic yesterday, when a large number of friends and visitors were present. Sports, concert, &c., were held at Oaks, and between 300 and 400 people were present.
At the local rifle range yesterday a large number of riflemen took part in the competition for nine prizes. The ranges were 400, 500, and 600 yards, seven shots at each. The following are the winners : Private G. F. Turner, 93 points, 1 ; J. Poole, 90 points, 2 ; W. Rix, 90 points, 3 ; F. W. A. Downes, 87 points, 4 ; R. Hindes, 85 points, 5 ; F. R. Cowper, 85 points, 6 ; Farrendon, 82 points, 7 ; R. Thomas, 81 points, 8 ; Captain W. R. Cowper, 80 points, 9 ; Privates A. J. Dorst and John Moore, with 80 points each, were counted out.

CARCOAR, Tuesday.
Travelling agent P. O'Rourke, of the Young branch of the Shearers' Union, has been visiting during the week the various agencies. He reports that everything in connection with the union men is going on favourably. Most boards with a rare exception consist of all union men.

COOMA, Tuesday.
A fatal accident occurred at noon to-day. A lad named Giles, from Summer Hill station, near Nimitybelle, aged 13 years, was trying to push a dog into the Cooma Creek, just below the Sharp-street crossing, when he accidentally slipped in. The creek was running rather strong in half-flood. The lad was carried down, and after making ineffectual attempts to clutch the willows on the banks, he was drowned. The police have been dragging for the body, but so far, without success.

COONAMBLE, Tuesday.
The quarter sessions were held to-day before Judge Docker, Mr. Dawson prosecuting. The only business was in connection with the late fatal fight at Brightling Park, Ambrose Tobin, one of the principals in the fight, and the two seconds being charged with manslaughter. After hearing some evidence his Honor withdrew the case from the jury and the accused were discharged.
Most of the local sheds have cut out and shearing will soon be finished in the district.

CUDAL, Tuesday.
Haymaking has been commenced in a few instances. The yield is satisfactory.

GOULBURN, Tuesday.
Five forged £5 notes on the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank were passed on Saturday night. The imitation is a clumsy one.

GRAFTON, Tuesday.
J. M'Pherson, engineer on the river passenger steamer Iolanthe, was drowned last night. Deceased slept on board the vessel, which was lying at the wharf, and was missed this morning, his clothes being found on board, whence it was surmised that he had been drowned. The river was dragged, and the body recovered. Deceased was unable to swim, and how he got into the water is unexplained. A man employed on the adjacent wharf heard a splash during the night, but thought it was produced by a lump of coal falling into the water.
Mr. T. J. Houghton, M.L.A. for the Glebe, has addressed a public meeting here on the political situation from a labour standpoint.

LITHGOW, Tuesday.
Messrs. Cook and M'Donald, Ms.L.A., have been visiting the Oberon portion of the district inquiring into the local wants. They are announced to speak at Katoomba towards the end of the week. At the last meeting of the Labour Electoral League it was decided to invite Mr. Black and other members to address a public meeting here at an early date.

MILTON, Tuesday.
It is a magnificent season. Grass and clover are in abundance. Trade is not so brisk, but the prospect is good.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.
Miss Myra Kemble opened at the new Victoria Theatre last night for a short season with "Dr. Bill." She had a grand reception, and was the recipient of several splendid bouquets. The piece was applauded throughout.
John Reeves, charged with stealing an overcoat, &c., from Charles Skinner, at the railway station, Newcastle, yesterday, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment.
Mortality is increasing from various causes in Newcastle. There were 16 funerals on Sunday and Monday.
This morning, at 11 o'clock, Reginald Pine, an apprentice on board the barque Inchkeith, now lying in the harbour, fell down the hold, and was seriously injured. The chief officer came on shore and reported the accident. Dr. Eames went off, and ordered the lad's removal to the hospital, where he now is.

QUEANBEYAN, Tuesday.
At the quarter sessions to-day, before Judge Murray, James Henry Smyth was found guilty of selling mortgaged sheep, and was remanded for sentence. The case against Woodcroft and Mackay, for sheep stealing, is proceeding.

TAREE, Tuesday.
The district is being canvassed for shares for an opposition steam company, it being considered by many that the freight and passage money are far too high.

WINDSOR, Tuesday.
An inquest was held yesterday on the body of a child, 18 months old, named Florence Chamberlain, who was found in a well on the premises of Mr. Thomas Primrose, her grandfather. The child had only been out of sight of the household a few minutes before she was found floating, face downwards, in the well. The well was closed, but in the door there was a hole, covered with tin, and it is supposed she fell through this. A verdict of accidental drowning was returned.

The weather was cloudy, and a few light showers fell during the day, but did not interfere much with the pleasure of the day's sports.

MILITARY TOURNAMENT AT WAGGA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

WAGGA, Tuesday.
A highly successful military tournament, under the auspices of the F troop of the Murrumbidgee (New South Wales) Regiment of Cavalry, was held on the racecourse at Wagga. The troop turned out well. The weather was splendid and the attendance good, notwithstanding several counter attractions. A well-arranged programme of military sports, exercises, and footracing was carried out in a satisfactory manner. The cavalry and infantry cadets paraded in the morning, and were well represented. The competition was keen and interesting. It is proposed to hold a similar gathering annually. The management reflected credit upon the officers commanding the cavalry, Captain Lorimer, Troop-sergeant M'Grath, Staff-instructor Cook, and secretaries R. H. Hunter and John Hughes. The following are the results :—

The heat of the last four days has been abnormal, the thermometer in the courthouse verandah registering 89° at 6 p.m. Twelve hours' steady rain has fallen, 107 points being registered.

GOULBURN, Tuesday.
Heavy rain fell last night and this morning.

GULGONG, Tuesday.
It rained steadily all night, with several thunderstorms. Heavy showers fell during the day. One hundred and forty points have fallen since last evening. At 3 p.m a flash of lightning struck the telegraph office, splintering the wallplate in the verandah. The electric current entered the office and broke a window. Luckily, one operator was away at dinner and the other was in the postal department.

GUNDAGAI, Tuesday.
The weather on Sunday and yesterday was very close, but a change set in last night, and rain came down in torrents up to 10 this morning, when the weather cleared up again. The gauge registered 108 points. The country is looking splendid.

GUNNING, Tuesday.
It began raining last night. Up to noon 120 points were registered. It is now fine.

HARDEN, Tuesday.
Steady rain set in last night and continued till a late hour this morning. It will be the means of doing an immense amount of good to the crops.

KIAMA, Tuesday.
Rain, which commenced yesterday morning, continued during the forenoon, after which the weather cleared a little, but it commenced raining again late in the afternoon and continued all night and up till noon to-day.

LITHGOW, Tuesday.
A fine soaking rain fell last night and continued to-day at intervals. About an inch and a half has fallen, and this will do a lot of good in the farming centres all through the district, as the rain was much wanted lately.

MILTON, Tuesday.
Rain fell this morning, giving 62 points. It was raining till noon.

MOLONG, Tuesday.
Steady soaking rain has been falling since last report. It is still raining, with every appearance of a continuance. The rain was wanted badly for the wheat and the general crops.

MOSS VALE, Tuesday.
Refreshing spring showers fell here during last night and to-day. The season is splendid, and is considered by farmers as most encouraging. There is good feed in the paddocks, whilst the orchards promise a grand crop of fruit.

DEATH OF A RIVERINA PASTORALIST.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

ALBURY, Tuesday.
General regret was expressed in town to-day when news arrived from Germanton that Mr. Jas. M'Laurin, of Yarra Yarra station, who has been ailing for several months, died to-day. The late Mr. M'Laurin was one of the oldest pastoralists in this district. He held a prominent position among the pastoralists of New South Wales for many years. Yarra Yarra, where Mr. M'Laurin resided up to the time of his death, is the largest station in the district. It was purchased by its late owners some years ago at a high figure from James Day, one of the pioneers of grazing in Riverina, who died a few days ago. Mr. M'Laurin came to the Albury district in 1852, and before that time was engaged in pastoral pursuits near Deniliquin. Prior to that date the deceased gentleman, who had been connected with stock all his life, was largely interested in the stock trade to Adelaide. In 1872 Mr. M'Laurin stood for the Hume electorate, in which at that time Albury was included. After one of the most severely contested struggles ever known in this part of the country he defeated his opponent, the now Hon. Geo. Day. Mr. M'Laurin did not stay long in Parliament, however, but shortly after the election resigned, and has since lived on his station, near Germanton. The death of the deceased gentleman is sincerely regretted through Riverina. The remains are to be interred at Albury on Thursday.

TRADES MOVEMENTS.

At the usual meeting of the executive of the Trades and Labour Council, held at the Trades Hall last evening, a deputation was received from the St. John's Ambulance Society, consisting of Dr. V. Kelly, Major Parrot, and Mr. Brennan. The deputation requested the executive to recommend the council to bring under the notice of the affiliated bodies the objects of the society, with a view to classes being formed for instruction in the principles of first aid. It was stated that a well-known medical practitioner was willing to instruct classes free of charge if the unions would make the necessary arrangements. The society did not recognise religion, politics, or nationality, and its sole object was to relieve suffering humanity. It was pointed out that the coalminers of England had rendered considerable service to their fellow-workers when accidents had befallen them through the knowledge they had obtained from instruction imparted by the society, and the deputation was of opinion that those unions in connection with the building trade, mining industry, and shipping should especially take advantage of the society, as accidents were very frequent in those callings. After further explanation the executive decided to submit the following resolution to the council for adoption :—"The Trades and Labour Council impresses upon the societies affiliated the advisability of holding special meetings for the purpose of hearing a medical gentleman discourse on the benefits likely to accrue to the members of such societies joining the classes of the St. John's Ambulance Society."
The Shop Employees' Union met at the Temperance Hall last evening, when discussion was confined to the second reading of the Early Closing Bill, which it was stated would come before the House on the 23rd instant.
The Furniture Trade Union last evening discussed the advisability of appointing a deputation to approach the Government to suggest the removal of duty from imported timber, methylated spirit, and varnishes, and placing a heavy duty on imported furniture. The matter was, after debate, allowed to stand over until the next meeting.
The committee of the Journeymen Hairdressers' Union met at the Trades Hall last evening, and compiled a list of those employers not abiding by the decisions of the recent conference with the employees. It was agreed to submit the list to the next meeting of the Trades and Labour Council, and then publish it.
The Gardeners' and Gardeners' Assistants' Union last evening decided to establish a free labour bureau for the benefit of members and employers, and to invite the Furniture Trade Union to meet representatives in conference regarding the employment of Chinese labour.
The Stonemasons' Union has voted its portion of the profits of the Eight-hour Demonstration to shares in the Trades Hall.

THE JUBILEE IN A GALE.

AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE IN MID-OCEAN.
STOKEHOLE FLOODED AND FIRES OUT.
SOME NARROW ESCAPES FROM DROWNING.
SOME THRILLING INCIDENTS.
RETURN OF THE STEAMER TO SYDNEY.

One of those perils of the sea that every now and then falls to the lot of the best of ships, the steamer Jubilee, of Sydney, was exposed to on last Friday and Saturday out in mid-ocean, distant about 500 miles from Sydney. The Jubilee sailed from here on Tuesday, the 3rd instant, for Wellington, New Zealand, and, after being away just a week, she unexpectedly turned up here yesterday. Her arrival created some excitement, for she is full of passengers, and all sorts of conjectures, more or less mixed with forebodings of evil, were indulged in as the steamer came up the harbour and shaped a course for the Government wharf at Pyrmont. Within 10 minutes of her arrival the wharf was thronged by an eager crowd, amongst whom were the friends of passengers, all anxious to learn what had happened. She looked all ataunto. Her topsail schooner rig was intact, and at a little distance her external appearance would not excite the least notice. Upon nearing the wharf, however, a number of scattered packages of what appeared to be fruit cases were first observed, and near the after-hatch there was a good-sized buggy lying in a wrecked condition to some extent. Her port and starboard bulwarks were conspicuous by their absence, and on the port forward davits a boat was missing. But the worst damage was further aft, and as the ship breasted in to the wharf, or rather to alongside a vessel lying at the wharf, it was seen that an enormous sea had battered in the whole front or break of the poop. This is where the upper saloon is situated, and it called for no special exercise of the imagination to decide that the passengers in that part of the Jubilee must have had a very lively time of it. Immediately the ship's lines were made fast it was gathered that the Jubilee had fallen in with an exceptionally severe storm. Green seas had torn along her decks fore and aft for many hours. Great bodies of water, towering high over a by no means low 'midships bridge, had fallen with resistless and relentless fury on the skylights, deluging the engine-room and the stokehole, and finally putting out several of the fires, until steam could not be kept up, and the ship was left at the mercy of the sea, to be worked as best her skilful commander could work her by the sole aid of such canvas as he could set. But perhaps the plainest statement of the difficulties the Jubilee was in is told in the extract from the official log given below, though the visitor to the steamer could not but wonder at the tremendous—ay, the omnipotent—power of even a single wave when it breaks on board ship. Large boats fastened to massive ringbolts, and carried high up on the bridge, were lifted by a sea and carried hither and thither as a cork might be, while great lengths of steam pipe leading to the after-winch were wrenched from the deck and bent and twisted into a variety of shapes before being hurled in as many directions about the ship. Entering the saloon in the poop the first thing that catches the eye is a wrecked pantry, and a scarcely recognisable bar and chief steward's cabin. There is very little left of either pantry, bar, or cabin, and the miracle is that every passenger in that part of the steamer was not drowned in his or her berth. The ladies had a terrible time of it. There were a great many on board, and as it was 2 o'clock in the morning when (quoting the expression in the log-book) "a tremendous sea struck her abaft the bridge" and burst in the poop front, smashing everything before it, the mystery is that several lives were not sacrificed. It was at this particular juncture that Captain Richard Brothers played a gallant part. As the sea swept aft it caught his second officer, and Captain Brothers, seeing the man snatched off his feet towards the lee-rail, sprang towards him, and, being a strong man, held him until the danger was past, and the wave that was carrying its victim to an almost certain death had divided itself between wrecking the saloon and escaping to leeward. The scene inside the saloon on that memorable morning was one not soon to be forgotten. The crashing in of the bulkheads appalled every occupant of the place. The deafening uproar of the storm, now made more dreadful because it could be more distinctly realised since the entrance to the saloon was opened by the fury of the sea, terrified the most courageous of them. Many were praying for safety ; all longed for daylight. Captain Brothers at this time was everywhere in demand, but his first attentions were given to allay the fears of his lady passengers, some of whom were very much alarmed. He carried each one on his back from the flooded compartments down the companion-way, to the saloon on the main deck away from danger and comparatively away from discomfort. Upon the most serious occasions a spark of humour has sometimes chanced to show itself, and it so happened here. Some of the heaviest ladies were just as much as the worthy captain could assist in this way, and his endurance and pluck became rather severely taxed, to the amusement of the lighter weights. In any case it was not an easy task, owing to the frightful rolling and pitching of the vessel. Everyone was safely transferred to other quarters, however, and it is creditable to him that not an individual on board sustained any serious personal injury throughout the whole of this violent weather. The chief steward had a very remarkable escape from being washed overboard. When the sea broke in the saloon it first smashed in his cabin, as completely wrecking it as if knocked to pieces by a score of mechanics engaged for the purpose, and when the wave receded it swept the steward away with it, and, as in the case of the second mate, was carrying him over the lee rail when he clutched a rope, and hung to it long enough for the next sea to wash him back again and out of danger. There is a matter that much stress is laid upon by the passengers of the Jubilee, namely, the splendid work of the ship's company. For 30 hours without a break sailors and firemen and some of the passengers themselves never ceased to bale the stokehole out and clear the bilges, so that the fires could be lighted and steam got up sufficient for the requirements of the engines. Day and night the men fought the rising water in that part of the vessel ; and while no one says anything but what is highly creditable to the conduct of the captain, his officers, and the engineers, there is a meed of praise recorded on all sides on board at the noble exertions of the crew. Determination, endurance, and self-denial were shown by every member of the Jubilee's company, and it was due to the exercise of these qualities that the ship came out of the storm. It is stated as a theory on board with regard to the great quantity of water in the stokehole that the heavy seas shipped had washed the small coal into the bilge pumps, causing them to become choked, and in this way permitting the water to steadily rise until, as mentioned, the lower fires were quenched and two of the others nearly so. The brief report of the trip given in the log and above referred to is that the steamer left here on November 3 at 5.30 p.m., and cleared the Heads at 6.15 p.m. On the 4th there was heavy rain and generally squally weather, with a moderate sea, and on the 5th the wind came strong from the S.W. in the forenoon, but at night it was blowing a gale from S.S.W. At 2 a.m. on Friday, the 6th, the ship was in the throes of a stiff gale and high sea, rolling heavily. At 4 a.m. her head was put to the sea, and at 4.30 it washed away the jib, and carried away the rails off the forecastle head. She was then labouring badly, and shipping great quantities of water. At 6 a.m. a sea struck her aft and filled the deck, washing away some fruit stowed there, and at 8 a.m. her head was to the S.S.W., and a furious gale was raging from that quarter. At that time great bodies of water took charge of the deck, and dashed through the alley-ways in an immense volume. All the firemen were working to clear the bilges, and as they could not do it all the sailors were sent to help. The water was rising, and so continued in spite of the continuous baling maintained by the firemen, sailors, and volunteers, and by 6.30 p.m. the fires (two lower) were out, and two others almost defunct. No steam could be kept up in the main boilers that would be of any use, so the donkey boiler was set going to furnish steam to the steering gear. When she was rolling that night it was found there was not sufficient steam to keep the vessel's head to the sea, so at 10.50 p.m. she was got on the port tack with a set fore trysail and main staysail, the sailors also trimming the ship to starboard. At midnight still unable to get steam on, the men working away baling out as fast as they could, and Saturday morning, the 7th, found the ship still with a hard S.S.W. gale with high sea, labouring heavily, and no abatement of the seas breaking on board. At 1.20 a.m. Saturday a sea broke aboard and carried away the working boat, also starting the port forward bulwarks. Hove the ship to with fore trysail and main staysail, blowing fierce squalls, and a tremendous sea running. At 2.20 a.m. another sea, the one that swept clean away the port bulwarks, also part of the starboard, and shifted the lifeboats as already described, and wound up by bursting in the break of the poop, broke over abaft the bridge. Baled out the water in the saloon, passengers and stewards working with a will, and at 4 a.m. set to work to patch up the holes wrought by the sea. By 8 a.m. the weather was better, and by noon both wind and sea had fallen greatly. In the stokehole the men were still baling without much success. At 8.30 a.m. set the fore trysail and the main and fore staysails, and at midnight on Saturday it was fine and clear. Sunday was fine, and by noon the baling was finished with, fires were started, the engines were once more set in motion, and by 4 p.m. they were going full speed ahead towards Sydney. Before the port was reached all the saloon passengers met in the main cabin, and a vote of thanks was passed to Captain Richard Brothers for the splendid manner in which he had acted throughout.

THE FATAL FIRE AT BREWARRINA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our Correspondent.)

BREWARRINA, Tuesday.
The inquest on the bodies of James and Michael John Birks, who lost their lives by the fire on Saturday night, was commenced yesterday, and concluded to-day. Clara Birks, aged 11, gave evidence to the effect that she went to bed leaving a lighted candle standing on the drawer of a looking-glass. She was awakened by a fire on her pillow. She called her brother, who answered, and she then ran for her mother at a neighbour's house a quarter of a mile off. On their return the house was in flames. A neighbour named William Higgins displayed great courage and determination in attempting to save the children when informed of their whereabouts. A verdict of accidental death was returned. The jury on the fire requested the coroner to hand over the fees to Birks, who has lost everything. The funeral of the victims was largely attended.

MEETINGS.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.
The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Benevolent Society was held at the board rooms, at the asylum, yesterday afternoon. Mr. U. W. Carpenter occupied the chair, and there were also present—Messrs. I. J. Josephson (hon. secretary), William Henson (hon. treasurer), E. T. Penfold, H. W. Hammond, W. Pratt, John Starkey, H. Hargroves, E. Maxted (manager), and J. P. Grant (out-door inspector).
It was decided to request the vice-president (Mr. J. Roseby, J.P.) to attend the charity conference, to be held in Melbourne on the 17th instant, as the representative of the benevolent society.
A return was laid on the table showing the state of the institution during the last month. There remained in the asylum on the 30th September 370 persons. During October 33 women and 42 children were admitted, and there were 23 births. Five children died and 129 persons were discharged, leaving on the 31st of October 334 inmates, of whom 199 were women and 135 were children.
The out-door relief inspector (Mr. J. P. Grant) reported that the weekly average number of cases had been 503, being one less than the average during the previous month. There were 36 new applications for, and 29 renewals of, relief during the month. The number of cases visited and specially reported upon was 143. In 64 cases the relief was discontinued, and in eight cases the rent money was disallowed. The value of rations distributed was £182 0s 6d, and the amount paid as rent was £185 10s 6d, making a total expenditure of £367 11s, or £88 5s 10d less than the expenditure of the previous month. The rations distributed included 8055 loaves of bread, 4346lb. of flour, 1202lb. of beef, 2405lb. of mutton, 2286lb. of sugar, and 562½lb. of tea. There were only four weekly distributions during October as against five during the previous month.
The matron submitted a library return showing the number of books issued during the month to be 37.
After the transaction of other formal business the meeting adjourned.

PRESBYTERY OF SYDNEY.
The monthly meeting of the Presbytery of Sydney was held in St. Stephen's Church last night. There were present the Rev. J. Walker, moderator ; G. M'Innes, B.D., clerk ; J. Auld, M.A. ; R. M'Kinnon, G. Grimm, M.A. ; J. M. Ross, J. Paton, A. Miller, M.A. ; T. G. Molyneaux, LL.B. ; W. S. Frackelton, M.S.B.D. ; W. M. Dill-Macky, W. J. Cuthbert, R. Thomson, R. Dill-Macky, S. T. Dickenson, T. E. Clouston, B.A. ; J. Milne, M.A. ; W. Burnett, M.A., B.D. ; R. S. Paterson, Dr. Gilchrist, ministers ; and Messrs. M'Naughton (2), M'Rae, Wilson, Taylor, Cavendish, Kirkland, Wallace, Cook, Caldwell, W. H. Paterson, Rev. J. Paterson, Dr. Macky and Dr. Fraser, and Mr. J. Gibson. The commission of Mr. A. M'Whirter to represent Gladesville, was sustained. The following motion, of which Dr. Fraser had given notice, was then called on :—"Whereas it is necessary for the peace and prosperity of the Church that the causes of irritation and dissatisfaction which proceed from the Church office should finally cease ; and whereas it is expedient that the Church should now revise the whole of its financial arrangements, especially those for the Sustentation Fund and the Church Extension Fund, the Presbytery of Sydney hereby overtures the venerable the General Assembly to take these premisses into consideration, and to appoint a committee to report on the whole subject of these finances and the future arrangements in connection therewith." By 13 votes to 9 it was decided to strike out the first clause—"Whereas it is necessary" to "finally cease and." Dr. Fraser then moved the remainder of the motion, stating that the time to economise had arrived, and it was necessary to have a revisal of the whole scheme of the finances of the Church. The Rev. R. S. Paterson seconded the motion pro forma, but afterwards by consent he withdrew his seconding. The motion therefore lapsed. Dr. Fraser moved that "Whereas it happens that between one General Assembly and the next matters arise which require the immediate attention of the Church through its highest court, and whereas it is desirable that the General Assembly should be relieved of a portion of the business which annually comes before it, the Presbytery of Sydney hereby overtures the venerable the General Assembly to take these premisses into consideration." The Rev. W. M. Dill-Macky seconded the motion, which after some discussion was agreed to. Dr. Fraser and the Revs. W. M. Dill-Macky and J. Walker were appointed to support the overture in the General Assembly. The Rev. J. Paton moved, and the Rev. R. S. Paterson seconded, "The rescission of the resolution re the election of the Moderator of the Presbytery by the ballot." The motion was carried by 15 votes to 7, and the Presbytery resolved in terms thereof. The Rev. Dr. Gilchrist moved,—"That this Presbytery desires to express its sense of the great loss sustained by the Christian Churches of this colony, by the death of the Rev. William Kelynack, D.D., president of the Wesleyan Conference of Australia, who for upwards of 30 years took a leading part in the denomination to which he belonged, and endeared himself to the ministers and members of all Evangelical Churches by the zeal and energy with which he threw himself into every good work intended for the general well-being of the community." The Rev. Hugh M'Kinnon seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously. On the motion of the Rev. T. E. Clouston, seconded by the Rev. W. S. Frackelton, it was resolved that a committee be appointed to draw up a suitable minute with regard to the death of the Rev. Dr. Nish, of Melbourne. A progress report re Riley-street was received. A communication from the Waverley trustees and committee was ruled informal. The Rev. J. M. Ross gave in the report of the committee on Mossman's Bay, and, on his motion, seconded by the Rev. J. Auld, it was resolved to recognise Mossman's Bay as a self-sustaining church extension charge.

FREE TRADE: FREE PEOPLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I write this letter to implore those freetraders who have lent their countenance to the cause of federation to reconsider their position. The case against federation has never yet been stated, and the colony is blindly drifting into the greatest calamity that can possibly befal it. Sir John Robertson—one of the truest patriots the country ever had, who always took the right side on every great public question, who, to his own personal loss and in the teeth of the fierce opposition of those with whom he was naturally associated, broke down the atrocious land monopoly of 30 years ago—in his old age and with his dying breath uttered strong words of warning. But the arguments, not against mere details of the draft bill, but against federation itself, have never yet been presented as Sir John would have presented them in his younger days. This work has yet to be done, and it is the mission of the leaders of the freetrade party to do it. The present is a suitable time for turning right-about on this question. We have now a Ministry pledged to both federation and protection. This is a natural alliance, just as an alliance between freetrade and federation is most illogical. It is fitting that the natural descendants of the Tories, the enemies of liberty in every shape and form, should, while aiming to destroy the freedom of the individual, conspire also to barter away the freedom of the State. Federation is neither more nor less than handing over this community to the domination of a foreign yoke. It is no less so because that foreign yoke consists, not of a single despot like a Czar, but of three millions of people voting by ballot. The interests of our million will often conflict with those of the foreign three millions, but being in the minority, we must submit to any injustice they see fit to impose. If we are to have protection, I would rather have it for our colony alone than submit to such a fraud as protection against the world and intercolonial freetrade. Even protectionists hardly deny that protection will have an injurious effect on many existing industries. Its professed object is to crush foreign trade ; all those, therefore, who depend directly or indirectly on foreign trade must suffer. Protectionist organs imply as much in their continued abuse of and sneers at "foreign traders." But as a set-off against this, they argue that protection will create new industries ; and doubtless this is in a measure true. Probably for every hundred men thrown out of employment by protection 10 men will gain employment by the new industries created. Now, if this colony is protected against the other colonies as well as against the rest of the world, these 10 men will be living in New South Wales. Whereas with intercolonial freetrade and outside protection, the 10 men will be mer. living in other colonies. For, as the other colonies have had protection for years, with the result that many stimulated industries are already in operation, they can at once supply us with all the articles we require of those descriptions, thus leaving no opening for the starting of such new industries here. It is therefore evident that even from a protection standpoint this colony has much to lose and nothing to gain by federation. Nevertheless it is probable, now that protection and federation have joined hands in the Government, that the two fallacies will henceforth be permanently allied.

What has this colony to gain by federation ? Absolutely nothing. The other colonies do not tax and dare not tax a single article with which we supply them in competition with other countries. Victoria taxes the meat, fruit, and vegetables we send her ; but her own people, being the consumers, pay those taxes. If the duties on those products were removed as against us, and retained as against the rest of the world, it would give us no advantage, as the rest of the world do not supply such articles to Victoria. The case is just the same with South Australia and Queensland. They will take no more of anything from us with federation than without, but we shall be compelled to take from our neighbours at their own prices many products and manufactures which now we are free to buy in the markets of the world.

I cannot in this letter even attempt to state the case against federation. It would take many letters to do that, for the reasons against it are legion. In whatever way the thing is looked at it will be seen to be utterly bad and mischievous—bad and mischievous for Australia as a whole, and for New South Wales in particular. As it is admitted on all hands that federation must infallibly lead to protection, it seems amazing that so many freetraders should have been infatuated by it. Protectionists see their inconsistency and scoff. It would never have happened were it not that in an unhappy moment our veteran leader, without consulting anyone, took federation under his wing. The result is that two sessions of Parliament have been almost entirely wasted over this wretched fad, while the country languishes for all sorts of needed practical legislation. Another result has been to force into an isolated and awkward position some of our ablest men, such as Mr. Reid and Mr. Haynes. The time has now come for the party to return to the path of consistency, and unitedly to battle for freetrade and a free people.

I am, &c.,
JOSEPH PALMER.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

The regular trotting and race meeting, under the management of the Sydney Driving Park Club, takes place this afternoon at Moore Park, commencing at 2.15. The track is in good order, and the usual conveniences of transit by rail and road will be available for visitors.
The first pony and galloway meeting, under the auspices of the Illawarra Racing Club, will be held on the Wollongong racecourse this afternoon, and city visitors to that sporting resort can travel by the train leaving Redfern at 9.30 a.m., returning at 9 p.m. There are half a dozen items on the card, the first of which is set down for 2 p.m. Bookmakers can secure tickets on application to the secretary before going to the course, and thereby save the admission fee to the paddock.
Registration was granted yesterday by the A. J. C. to the Tamworth, Pooncarrie, Moss Vale, and Wee Waa race meetings.
The settlement of liabilities incurred at the Rosehill November Meeting took place at Tattersall's rooms yesterday, and passed off without complaint.
The adjustments for the handicaps to be decided at Moorefield on Saturday next saw the light yesterday, and Mr. Scarr's estimates are published in another part of this issue. Gildus heads the list of those engaged in the Tramway Handicap, with an even 9st., which is quite enough for him. Oxenham has nothing to complain of when asked to carry 8st 7lb, and the same may be said of Oddfellow and Avenger at their respective imposts, while Lady Lovel, Auctioneer, and Brown Bess seem to have also been treated with a shade of leniency. The Welter Handicap is headed by Marvellette, who has her full share in 10st 11lb, and perhaps the best in may be Marcelle, Pet Girl, Carbon, and Escort. Nightingale, Rostellan, Upstart, and Bonnette have not been imposed upon in the Kogarah Stakes. Tridentine is at the top of the tree in the Moorefield Handicap with 9st 5lb, and at that she has not been badly treated. Don John, if returned to his old form, should be hard to beat when asked to carry 8st 7lb, while Merrigal, Avenger, Pet Girl, and Brown Bess have none the worst of the adjustments. Merrigal has been apportioned his full share in 10st for the Stewards' Mile, but it may be that Repeater, Escort, St. Albans II., and Rosstellan have not been overburdened.
The erection of a spacious and handsome pavilion, to be used as a tea-room, has been commenced at Randwick, on a central site at the rear of the grand stand, and midway between the scratching tower and the members' section of the paddock. The design has been furnished by Mr. H. C. Kent, architect. The contract for the woodwork has been let to Messrs. E. and A. Scott, of Randwick, and the plumbing work to Mr. Robert Lee. The ground plan is octagonal, with latticed walls and iron roof fitted with glass louvres, and the building will accommodate about 150 persons. The pavilion will be completed in time for the A. J. C. Summer Meeting, and will be a valuable addition to the tea-rooms already in use.
The committee of the Sydney Driving Park Club have decided to hold the benefit meeting in aid of St. Vincent's Hospital on the 25th instant, and a liberal programme will be framed for the occasion. Such a deserving object should meet with generous support from all interested in sport, and the joint secretaries (Messrs. Webster and E. G. Froom) will be glad to receive and acknowledge donations in aid of the funds.
Nominations for the five events on the card for the Lillie Bridge Trotting and Race Meeting, to be held next Saturday evening, close with the secretary at 4 p.m. to-day. The items include races for ponies 11.3, 12.1, 13.0, 13.1, and a mile trot for ponies 13.2 and under.
The management of the Sydney Driving Park Club announce in this issue the bill of fare to be discussed at their trotting and race meeting, to be held on the 18th instant. The items on the card are as under :—Ete Ete Handicap of 20 sovs. (13.2), ½ mile ; Park Handicap of 30 sovs. (14.1), 5 furlongs ; Time Handicap Trot of 25 sovs., 2 miles ; Unique Selling Race of 30 sovs., 4 furlongs 50 yards ; and Flying Handicap of 30 sovs. (14.2), 5 furlongs. The usual entrance fee of 1 sov. must accompany each nomination, and entries close with the secretary, Mr. E. G. Froom, on Friday next, at 4 p.m.
Trainers and jockeys engaged at the Canterbury Park pony and galloway meeting to-morrow can secure tickets of admission to the saddling paddock on application to the secretary before 4 p.m. to-day.
A liberal programme has been announced for the A. J. C. Summer reunion, which takes place on Boxing Day, and owners and trainers of racing stock should note that the general entry has been fixed for the 30th inst., when the following items will demand attention :—Hurdle Race, a handicap sweepstakes of 5 sovs. each for starters, with 200 sovs. added, second horse 50 sovs. from the prize, two miles ; Flying Handicap, a sweepstakes of 5 sovs. each for starters, with 200 sovs. added, second horse 50 sovs. from the prize, six furlongs ; Selling Plate of 300 sovs., for three-year-olds and upwards, weights—3 years 9st, 4 years and upwards 9st 7lb, the winner to be sold for 200 sovs., selling allowances down to 50 sovs., the surplus on selling price to be divided between the owner of the second horse and the club, one mile ; Nursery Handicap of 200 sovs., with a sweepstakes of 5 sovs. each for starters, second horse 50 sovs. from the prize, for two-year-olds, five furlongs ; and A. J. C. Handicap, a handicap sweepstakes of 5 sovs. each for starters, with 250 sovs. added, second horse 50 sovs. from the prize, for three-year-olds and upwards, one mile and a-quarter. The conditions have been framed on the usual lines, and the entrance fee of one sov. is a necessary accompaniment of each nomination.
The sum of £200 has been distributed over the 10 events comprised in the programme framed by the Barrington Jockey Club for their annual races, to be held on the 26th and 28th December. The leading events are the Jockey Club Handicap of 50 sovs., and the Grand Stand Handicap of 40 sovs.
With reference to the probable objection to Malvolio, the Melbourne Cup winner, which was mentioned in our (Argus) issue of Saturday, no protest had been lodged with the executive of the Victoria Racing Club up to Monday evening. The subject was, of course, much discussed on Saturday, but the general opinion is that whether a protest is duly lodged or not it will make no difference to the settling of wagers over the race. Wagers are regulated by the betting rules of the Victorian Club, and the rule dealing with this particular matter reads as follows :—"Rule 2. The interests of the bets are inseparable with the interests of the stakes, except when the winning horse is disqualified owing to a default in making stakes ; or, if an objection be made to the qualification of the horse on the ground of incorrect pedigree or nomination, after the race is run, the bets shall go to the horse that comes in first ; provided always that all protests in reference to wrong nomination or wrong age, if not lodged before the race, or within a quarter of an hour after the race is run, shall not affect bets." It will be seen that the intention of this rule is clearly dated, and is clearly meant to be that bets shall not be affected by wrong nomination unless the objection is made within 15 minutes after the race is run. In Malvolio's case the only objection could be on the ground of wrong nomination, and as no objection was entered within the prescribed quarter of an hour after the race was run, it seems clear that as everything else was correct the bets go to Malvolio.
The Carathool Jockey Club will distribute £100 in prizes at their Christmas Meeting, on December 28.
The adjourned annual meeting of the members of the Balranald Racing Club was held on the 30th ultimo, when a most satisfactory report and balance-sheet were submitted. The latter showed a credit on the year's transactions of £155 13s 2d. The report stated that the committee had succeeded in inducing the Minister of Lands to re-dedicate the whole area of 390 acres for a racecourse only, and consequent on that action being confirmed a number of improvements would be made in the reserve, including a better system of water supply, destruction of rabbits, and the erection of wire netting on the boundary fence. The report and balance-sheet were received and adopted, and the office-bearers for the ensuing year were elected as follows :—President, Mr. W. J. Mein ; vice-presidents, Messrs. P. Macpherson and E. Stooke ; hon. treasurer, Mr. G. Lobsey ; committee, Messrs. W. Rider, R. Beaty, S. King, W. Mackenzie, D. Flynn, J. C. White, T. Limon, J. Limon, R. D. Murray, and E. Cotching.
A programme comprising nine events has been issued by the Tamworth Jockey Club for their Boxing Day Meeting. A novelty on the bill of fare is a "Chinamen's Race," all horses to be ridden by Celestials. The added money for the day's sport totals £120.
Advices from Riverina record the death of Mr. Rupert Clarke's racing mare Risk, by Bertie from Adventuress. Risk was a fair performer, and during the last year she won seven races out of 16, having secured the Deniliquin Amateur Turf Club Handicap, in January last ; the Swan Hill Handicap, in March ; the Balranald Town Plate, in the same month ; the Grand Stand Handicap, at Balranald, on the following day ; the Echuca Town Plate, in April last ; the Thule Stakes, at Deniliquin, in July last ; and the Flying Handicap, at the last midwinter meeting of the Deniliquin Jockey Club.
The Hay sportsmen, as represented by the local New Year's Race Club, hold their annual reunion on December 31 and January 1, and have provided an attractive bill of fare for the occasion. There are five items on the card for the opening day, and six for the second day, the principal of which are the New Year's Gift of 70 sovs., the Midsummer Handicap of 40 sovs., and a Time Handicap Trot of 25 sovs., while the added money aggregates £285, supplemented by bracelets, value 25 guineas, 10 guineas, and 7 guineas, presented by Messrs. J. Talbot, J. Dillon, and G. Ashcroft respectively.

CANTERBURY PARK PONY AND GALLOWAY RACES.

Appended are the weights for the handicaps to be decided at Canterbury Park to-morrow :—

The date of the annual meeting was fixed for the third Friday in January next, the second night of the race meeting. A vote of thanks to the chairman terminated the meeting.

IMPORTANT SALE OF THOROUGHBRED STOCK.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.
An extensive sale of racehorses in training and other thoroughbred stock was held to-day by Messrs. Yuill and Co. at Newmarket. There was a large attendance of visitors, but buyers were not very plentiful, and as a rule prices obtained were not high. Mr. R. K. Maitland bought Carrington for 220 guineas, and it was reported that he sold the horse at a profit shortly after buying him. Cuirassier was paraded, but his owner declined 2000 guineas for him, 3000 being wanted. A large price for Hartington was declined. Tradition was also paraded, but 400 guineas was the best offer, and he was passed in. Churchill, Wairua (the hurdle-racer), and The Loon were also passed in, as the offers did not realise owners' ideas. Those sold were : Indolence, Mr. Littlewood, 65 guineas ; Fishplate, Mr. Keppel, 15 guineas ; Lord Coxcomb, Mr. T. J. Dean, 10 guineas ; Basail, Mr. J. D. Whitehead, 17½ guineas ; Stoneylimbed, Mr. Jackson, 27½ guineas ; Loiterer, Mr. M'Millan, 20 guineas ; Gloriation, Mr. Mitchell, 52½ guineas ; Glad Tidings, Mr. Woods, 25 guineas ; Princess Ida, Mr. Woods, 35 guineas ; Dance Away, Mr. H. Connolly, 10 guineas ; The Locust, Mr. M'Farlane, 26 guineas ; The Seal, Mr. Murray, 20 guineas ; Lady of Lyons, Mr. Wood, 37½ guineas ; Merry Pebble, Mr. J. M'Millan, 75 guineas ; Glenloth, Mr. Carmody, 400 guineas ; Werong, Mr. J. M'Millan, 145 guineas ; Bendigo, Mr. E. Keys, 215 guineas ; My Queen, Mr. Creswick, 195 guineas ; Maud, Mr. W. THE AMATEUR SCULLING CHAMPIONSHIP OF VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.
The annual race for the Amateur Sculling Championship of Victoria took place on the lower Yarra yesterday, resulting in the finest contest yet held for the distinction. There were nine entries, including representatives of New South Wales, Tasmania, New Zealand, and Victoria. Mr. E. R. Ainley, of the Yarra Club, was the favourite. Among the visitors Mr. John M'Rae, of Sydney, was considered the most dangerous. The water was smooth, and a light wind was in the pullers' favour, and there was no appreciable current. Seven scullers competed, Mr. B. C. Smith, of Footscray, and Mr. J. T. Freeman, of Echuca, failing to appear. The men got away to an even start. The ferry was reached in 2 minutes 17 seconds, Bridson a length and a-quarter ahead ; then Ainley, Gow, M'Rae, and Ritchie. Spottiswoode Point was passed in 8¼ minutes, Bridson four lengths to the good. The Junction was reached in 18 minutes 6 seconds, Bridson still four lengths ahead, Ainley half a length in front of Ritchie, then Gow, then M'Rae, seven lengths back. Mr. W. Bridson, of Wellington, won by three lengths. Mr. Ainley was second, half a length off ; Messrs. K. Ritchie, of Tamar, and R. Gow, of Tamar, two lengths behind him ; Mr. John M'Rae, of Sydney, two lengths further back. Mr. J. E. Sneider, of Yarra, also raced.

THE MACLEAN REGATTA.

MACLEAN, Tuesday.
Logan rowed over the course to-day for the amateur race in which the foul occurred. The Recovery Handicap was won by A. Cormack, 25lb., with J. Ford, 15lb., second, and C. Green, feather, third. Green led for half a mile, when Cormack passed him and won by three lengths from Ford. The settling takes place to-night, and the Sydney scullers leave for Sydney to-morrow.

THE GLEBE BOWLING CLUB AT NEWCASTLE.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.
Four rinks of the Glebe Bowling Club visited Newcastle yesterday, to play a friendly game with the Newcastle Club. The visitors were met at the train, and entertained at luncheon at Sidney's Centennial Hotel. Mr. T. Smith, of the Newcastle Club, on behalf of the local players welcomed the visitors. After dinner a friendly game was played on the Newcastle green. The result was as follows :—Newcastle, 107 ; Glebe, 98, the local club winning by nine points.
Newcastle Club.—No. 1 Rink : Leader, W. M'Leod ; scorer, J. Gulliver ; measurer, J. Gillam ; captain, T. Smith—31. No. 2 Rink : Leader, E. Hall ; scorer, J. Pearson ; measurer, H. INTERCOLONIAL CRICKET MATCH.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA v. VICTORIA.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.
The cricket match between teams representing South Australia and Victoria was resumed yesterday. The clouds, which had been hovering about during the morning, gradually cleared away, and in the afternoon the sun came out and made the weather very warm. At half-past 1 o'clock an adjournment for three-quarters of an hour was made for luncheon. Up to that time only one additional wicket, Blinman's, had fallen. During the afternoon the team of English cricketers arrived on the ground, and was accorded a hearty welcome. Cheer after cheer was sent up as the visitors crossed the ground.
G. Giffen batted beautifully, but soon lost his partner, Blinman, who fell a victim to Phillips's off theory. 4-32-280. Walter Giffen then partnered with his brother, and for some time the scoring was slow. Couples and singles were the order of the day. When Giffen was 155 Marshall failed to hold a hot one which was sent back to him. Several runs were stolen, and, gradually, the score mounted. Change after change in the bowling proved of no use. Shortly after the arrival of the Englishmen, Giffen completed his second century amid rounds of applause ; the same stroke completed the fourth hundred of the total score. With the total at 441 George Giffen drove the ball hard and straight, and it struck his brother on the hand and crushed his fingers against the handle of the bat. Walter had to immediately retire, and it is doubtful if he will be able to bat again during the match. The retiring batsman had played perfect cricket for 65, and during his stay had not given the slightest chance. Redman, of South Adelaide, filled the vacancy, and had hit two chanters and one 3 to leg, when Macleod caught him in the slips off Marshall. 6-11-460. Noel came in, and started scoring at once. After having remained quiet for some time, Giffen opened his shoulders, and, with a leg hit for 4, a sweet cut for the same number, and then a triplet and a single, the board showed his score to be 250. He had thus beaten his score of 237 made in Melbourne at the beginning of the year. The 500 went up at 25 minutes to 5, Giffen having done the needful. At 511 Noel was out to a catch by Harry off Phillips, and then, at 518, Giffen went out to Phillips. He had hit the ball high in the air, and M'Lean, in a long field, ended the champion's great innings. Hayward and Moore played out the time.
The match was resumed at noon to-day. The weather was very fine. The Governor and Lady Kintore attended. Lord Sheffield and the English cricketers were also on the ground. Moore was soon got out, but the last two men played well, especially Hayward, and added 42. Walter Giffen was unable to bat, though Blackham offered to allow him, and the innings closed. The Victorians fielded well. M'Lean, Harry, Coulton, and Stuckey being especially brilliant. Phillips was the only bowler who gave much trouble to the batsmen.
Walters and Bowman opened the Victorian batting and made runs at a fair rate off the bowling of Jarvis and Lyons. Giffen soon had to bowl, and at 79 a beauty sent back Walters, who had batted well. Bowman and Walters made a long stand, batting tediously, and attempting no liberties as the bowling and fielding were good. It took 2¼ hours to make the first century. M'Leod started to slog, and lifted a ball which was easily caught at deep mid-on. Harry batted nicely, while Bowman continued to stonewall. They both got out in successive overs. Bowman was batting 2¾ hours, and did not give a chance.
The full scores are as appended :—

INTERCOLONIAL LAWN TENNIS MATCH—NEW SOUTH WALES V. VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.
The intercolonial lawn tennis match, New South Wales v. Victoria, terminated to-day. The single matches played yesterday resulted in a substantial lead for Victoria, and the double matches played to-day did not materially affect the result, the final result being a win for Victoria by 53 sets to 10. The matches to-day were interesting, and were watched by a considerable number of spectators. In the morning the Victorian players started with their usual dash, and only lost one set, which was credited to Mackenzie and Wilkinson. In the afternoon the visitors seemed getting accustomed to the courts, and their play all round considerably improved. Cropper and Mansfield played an exciting match with Green and Shuter, and won one set out of three. The latter players had a hard tussle with Wilkinson and Mackenzie, of the Sydney team, two of the sets being only decided by one point. The University pair won by 2 sets to 1. Cramond and Kearney, of Victoria, performed best, going through the day's play without the loss of a single set. Tribute is due to H. R. Crossman, of Sydney, whose play throughout has been very high-class, though attended by a considerable amount of ill-luck. The shield presented by Mr. W. J. C. Riddell for the best all-round play in the intercolonial match was won by A. Kearney, of Geelong, who went through the whole match without losing a set. The following are the scores :—
Cropper and Mansfield v. Crammond and Kearney, 1-6, 2-6, 0-6 ; Crossman and Noble v. Shuter and Green, 4-6, 2-6, 1-6 ; Mackenzie and Wilkinson v. A. A. Chomley and Hulton, 3-6, 1-6, 6-3 ; M'Kenzie and Wilkinson v. Crammond and Kearney, 3-6, 2-6, 0-6 ; Cropper and Mansfield v. Shuter and Green, 4-6, 6-5, 2-6 ; Crossman and Noble v. A. A. Chomley and Hulton, 2-6, 5-6, 0-6 ; Crossman and Noble, v. Crammond and Kearney, 3-6, 5-6, 0-6 ; Mackenzie and Wilkinson v. Shuter and Green, 6-5, 5-6, 1-6 ; Cropper and Mansfield v. A. A. Chomley and Hulton, 1-6, 6-1, 2-6. Total result of the doubles : New South Wales won 4, Victoria 23. Total result of the singles : New South Wales won 6, Victoria 30.
The champion matches will be played to-morrow, when for the first time South Australian players will compete.

PEDESTRIANISM.

Entries for Mr. D. Blyth's 81st weekly meeting, to be held on Saturday, close to-night.

THE TAILORS' STRIKE.

The position of affairs in connection with the strike of tailors was unaltered yesterday. The strike committee held two meetings, and dealt with the reports of the pickets and a considerable amount of correspondence. The firm of Morriss and Shaw, 298 George-street, signed the log as a first-class shop, but the large employers still remain firm. The employees of the firm of Griffiths and Co., of 112 Pitt-street, which a week ago conceded the demands of the union, waited upon the strike committee during the morning and stated that the firm had decided not to pay the log and had dismissed the employees, stating that their work would in future be completed by Jews. The announcement was received with surprise. The employees of the firm of Finlayson and Co. struck work yesterday, and during the day the principal of the firm waited upon the strike committee and asked permission for his men to return to work for three days whilst he considered the new log. He was however informed that he had had ample time to consider the demands of the men, and that if he liked to sign the price list his employees would immediately be instructed to resume work. Mr. J. Kelly reported the result of his visit to Goulburn. He had called a special meeting of the branch of the Union there, and the men had decided to vote all their funds and strike a levy of 10 per cent. on the earnings of each member in aid of the strikers in Sydney.
The Pressers' Union has decided to hold a special meeting to-night to consider the strike.
The following additional amounts have been voted towards the support of those on strike :—Stonemasons, £5 ; Newcastle Wharf Labourers, £2 ; furniture trade, £2.
A special meeting of the Tailoresses' Union was held at the Temperance Hall last evening, when initial steps were taken for the drafting of a log.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Mr. Hepher, president of the Tailors' Union, in replying to-day to our statement contained in your issue of the 9th instant, compares the new log with the prices said to be paid by us in the following manner :—

Prices previously paid by us.				Prices in New Log, subject to extras at 1s per hour.
Frock coat	£1	14	0	Frock coat	£1	14	6
Morning coat	1	7	0	Morning coat	1	7	6
Tweed sac coat	1	0	0	Tweed sac coat	1	1	6
Tweed trousers	0	9	2	Tweed trousers	0	10	0
Vest, first-class	0	9	0	Vest, first-class	0	10	0

It will be seen by this statement that the difference between what Mr. Hepher says we are paying and what the new log requests us to pay is 6d on frock coats, 6d on morning coats, 1s 6d on sac coats, 10d on trousers, and 1s on vests.
The frock coat which the new log puts down to cost £1 14s 6d for making is not a completed garment, and would not be worn by anyone. The comparison we made between the prices we pay and the demands of the new log was for garments such as we ordinarily supply to our customers, the difference being on frock coats 9s 9d, morning coats 9s, tweed sac coats 8s 6d, tweed trousers 4s, vests (first-class) 4s 6d. Mr. Hepher has misquoted our statement of the time required for making garments, which should be—for one man, 2 frock coats weekly or 3 sac coats, or 5½ pairs trousers, or 6 vests, or 2 morning coats, in five days.
This is an accurate comparison of our present prices with the new log, viz. :—

Prices paid by us.				New Log.
Frock coat	£1	18	0	Frock coat	£2	7	9
Morning coat	1	10	3	Morning coat	1	19	3
Tweed sac coat	1	3	6	Tweed sac coat	1	12	0
Tweed trousers	0	10	0	Tweed trousers	0	14	0
Vest, first-class	0	9	6	Vest, first-class	0	14	0

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT—TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

In Banco.—(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE, Mr. Justice INNES, and Mr. Justice STEPHEN.)

MACKENZIE V. BOROUGH OF YOUNG.

Mr. Wise appeared for the appellants (defendants), and moved for a rule nisi to have the verdict entered for them. The action, which was tried at Young, before Mr. Justice Windeyer and a jury of 4, was brought by Donald Mackenzie against the borough of Young to recover compensation for trespass by the borough upon premises situated partly in Main-street and partly in Short-street and pulling them down. It appeared that the property in question consisted of a butcher's shop and a printer's shop, and plaintiff alleged that he held the houses under a business license, but he was not in occupation either personally or by tenant on the 4th April last, when the houses were pulled down. He, however, contended that he had never abandoned them. The defence was that the premises at the time the borough took action were in a dangerous condition, and had become a nuisance to the public. The jury found that the property was not a nuisance, and a verdict was given by consent for 40s, with leave reserved to the defendants to move the Full Court. They now moved for a rule nisi on the following grounds—1. That the verdict was against evidence and the weight of evidence. 2. That plaintiff failed to establish that he was possessed of the lands in respect of which he sued. 3. That the defendants were entitled to commit the grievance complained of, inasmuch as by so doing they were lawfully abating a public nuisance. 4. That a document purporting to be a business license under the Mines Act conferred no title on the plaintiff, and was not a business license under the said Act, inasmuch as it was not proved to have been issued by the Governor; that it purported to be issued over lands, dedicated, aligned, and used as public streets within the limits of a municipality; that it was otherwise not in conformity with the requirements of the Mines Act.

The rule was granted on the grounds asked.

EXPARTE ROBERT ULPH.

Mr. Blacket, instructed by Mr. H. A. Lyons, appeared for the applicant Robert Ulph, and moved for a rule nisi for a common law mandamus calling upon George O'Malley Clarke, S.M., to show cause why he should not be ordered to proceed with and determine a certain plaint and summons. It appears that Ulph, a stonemason and contractor, sued Messrs. Thomas and Hall to recover the sum of £9 1s 0d, balance of account for excavation work and laying drains. There were two contracts, one for £44 and the other for £10 10s, and £6 12s was charged for extras, bringing the total up to £61 2s. Defendants paid £54 11s, leaving a balance of £6 11s, which, with £2 10s additional extras, brought the sum claimed up to £9 1s. The point was taken in the Petty Debts Court that the magistrate would have to inquire into the whole matter, and that, as the Court had no jurisdiction beyond £10, the plaint could not be proceeded with. Mr. O'Malley Clarke adopted this view, and plaintiff's case therefore fell through. He now desired to obtain a mandamus directing the stipendiary magistrate to hear and determine the matter.

The rule was granted, returnable on Friday next.

(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE and Mr. Justice STEPHEN.)

RE DAVID WILSON, THOMAS BROUGHTON CAVEATOR.

Mr. Wise, instructed by Messrs. Way and Way, appeared for the caveator Broughton, and moved for an order directing David Wilson, who is applying to bring certain land in the parish of Willoughby, known as "Lamb's Grant," under the provisions of the Real Property Act, to file his case in answer to that of the caveator. Dr. Donovan, instructed by Messrs. Norton and Co., appeared for Wilson to oppose the motion. It seems that Wilson lodged his application in July, 1882, and in May, 1883, the application was duly passed. On the 22nd June of the same year Broughton lodged his caveat, and in October last he filed his case, but applicant had not yet lodged his case. Mr. Wise admitted that the caveat had lapsed, owing to the caveator not having taken proceedings within three months, but he stated that on the 20th June, 1883, Wilson being about to leave for England, agreed that if Broughton would stay proceedings in his absence he, on his part, would take no advantage of Broughton, and for that reason the caveat was not kept alive.

The application was dismissed with costs, as the caveator had no power under the Act to call upon the applicant to file his case.

(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE, Mr. Justice INNES, and Mr. Justice STEPHEN.)

IN RE FREDERICK GORNALL (LEE AND ANOTHER CAVEATORS).

It was announced that this matter had been settled.

BLOMFIELD V. JENKINS.

Mr. Canaway, instructed by Messrs. Macnamara and Nathan, appeared for Frederick Barrington Blomfield, the appellant from the decision of the Land Court; Mr. Pring appeared to show cause. This appeal was upon the following special case, which was stated for the decision of the Court:—On January 15, 1891, Alfred Jenkins and Frederick Barrington Blomfield each tendered to the land agent at Dubbo at the same time an application for an original conditional purchase, and an application for a conditional lease in virtue of such conditional purchase. The applications were for the same land, and upon a ballot being taken to determine the respective priorities of the applications for the original conditional purchase, the application of Alfred Jenkins was determined to be prior. Blomfield did not lodge any caveat against either of Jenkins's applications. On March 2, 1891, the local land board proceeded to deal with the applications on their respective merits, and they allowed the applications of Jenkins and disallowed those of Blomfield. On the 16th of the same month Blomfield gave notice of his intention to appeal, and, upon the matter coming before the Land Court, the attorney for Jenkins objected that Blomfield, not having lodged a caveat against Jenkins's conditional purchase application, had no right of appeal to the Land Court against the local land board's decision, and that he had not appealed against the disallowance of his own application. The Land Court upheld these objections and dismissed the appeal. The questions for the decision of the Supreme Court were:—1. Whether, under the circumstances, the Land Court was right in holding that Blomfield was not a party to the proceedings before the local land board in respect of Jenkins's applications. That as Blomfield was claiming a right to the land, he should have lodged a caveat against the confirmation of the applications, and that not having done so he was not entitled to appeal against the decision of the board thereon. 2. Whether Blomfield's notice of appeal was to be construed as a notice of appeal against the disallowance of his applications, or whether, having regard to the grounds thereof, it was to be considered as more than a notice of appeal against the confirmation of Jenkins's applications.

After hearing Mr. Pring, and without calling upon Mr. Canaway to reply,

The CHIEF JUSTICE said he was of opinion that the Land Court was wrong. The 30th section of the Land Act of 1884, which provided for the lodging of caveats, had no applicability to section 11 of the Act of 1889. Under the 11th section of the Act of 1889 there was really nothing to lodge a caveat against, and if Blomfield was obliged to lodge a caveat against Jenkins the latter was equally obliged to lodge a caveat against Blomfield. The system of caveats provided for by the 30th section of the Act of 1884 did not apply to the 11th section of the Act of 1889. Although these persons were claiming a right to this particular piece of land, nevertheless, looking at the rest of the section, and the time provided for lodging these caveats, and seeing that no time was provided for the land agent to send in the result, it appeared to him that the 30th section could not apply; but that the section which did apply was the 17th. For these reasons he was of opinion that the Land Court came to an erroneous conclusion in not hearing the matter.

Mr. Justice INNES said he concurred. It did not appear expressly upon the case as stated that Blomfield at the hearing before the land board then and there objected to the allowance of Jenkins's applications, but it seemed to him that by inference from all the papers laid before the Court in connection with the matter, the Court might take it that he did do so. That being so, the question was whether because he did not lodge a caveat in pursuance of the provisions of the 30th section he was precluded from appealing to the Land Court against the erroneous overruling of his objection, which was properly taken before the land board. It seemed to him that he was not precluded, and that being so, it was not necessary to express any decided opinion as to whether he could or might have put himself within the provisions of section 30 or not. He had not put himself within its provisions, and the question was whether he was nevertheless not entitled to make this objection. It seemed to him that he was a party to a "proceeding dispute or claim," and was entitled to be heard irrespective altogether of being a caveator. It seemed to him that the case came under section 17 of the Act of 1884, and Blomfield, although he could not take advantage of section 30, not having lodged a caveat, could take advantage of section 17, and thus be entitled to appeal from the adjudication of the board, and he had a right before adjudication to put forward his objection.

Mr. Justice STEPHEN said he agreed with their Honors that the Land Court was wrong, but he did so on a ground in regard to which their Honors did not appear disposed to concur with him. He based his decision upon the phraseology of the 30th section, and he did not think that these competing applicants for the same piece of land were applicants claiming a right to the land so applied for. They were simply applying to have a right granted to them. The subsequent part of the section seemed to confirm his view.

Appeal allowed, with costs.

IN THE A. J. S. BANK AND THE CROWN LANDS ACT OF 1889.

Mr. Pilcher, Q.C., and Mr. Pring, instructed by Messrs. Cope and King, appeared for the A. J. S. Bank, appellants; and Sir Julian Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. Canaway, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, for the Land Court. This was an appeal by the Australian Joint Stock Bank against the decision of the Land Court. The special case stated for the opinion of the Court was as follows:—On September 11, 1890, the A. J. S. Bank, being the transferees by way of mortgage from Robert John King of a conditional purchase of 640 acres, taken up on August 16, 1883, authorised William Leonard Seeley to take up on September 13, 1890, Mr. Barton Lodge, on its behalf a conditional lease of about 640 acres, under section 20 of the Crown Lands Act of 1889. The manager of the bank, made a statutory declaration, showing that the bank held the conditional purchase by way of mortgage only. On October 9, 1890, in pursuance of the aforesaid authority, Seeley made an application for the conditional lease in virtue of the conditional purchase. On the application coming before the local land board for confirmation on April 2, 1891, the board held that the application must be disallowed, on the ground that the 20th section of the Act of 1889 was not intended to empower transferees, by way of mortgage or security of conditional purchases made before the Act of 1884, to obtain conditional leases in virtue thereof after the expiration of the 90 days limited by the 54th section of that Act. On April 24, 1891, the A. J. S. Bank appealed to the Land Court against the refusal of the board to confirm the application for the conditional lease, but the Land Court held, following their previous decision in W. E. White's case, that the local land board were right in refusing the application. Against this decision the bank now appealed.

After hearing argument,

The CHIEF JUSTICE said there was no doubt that in all these cases the construing of these Acts of Parliament was extremely difficult. It was very difficult indeed to ascertain from the words of the Acts what the intention of the Legislature was. The Judges were not legislators, and in order to ascertain the intention of the Legislature the Court had to refer to the words which were used in the Acts. It appeared in this case that the conditional purchase was taken up on the August 16, 1883, which was before the Land Act of 1884 came into force, and it was vested by transfer in the appellant bank. They contended that they had a right, under the 20th section of the Land Act of 1889, to apply by virtue of the conditional purchase taken up before the Act of 1884 for a conditional lease. In order to ascertain and put a true construction upon the word "before" in section 20 of the Act of 1889, the Court must look and see what was the law before the Act of 1889 was passed, and, as far as they could, gather the intention of the Legislature from previous Acts. In order to do so they must look at the Act of 1884, by which conditional leases came into force for the first time. Before that period conditional purchasers could take up conditional leases, but they were called pre-emptive leases, and they were leases which never could become conditional purchases; but under the Act of 1884 a conditional lease was of an essentially different nature, for after certain conditions were performed and certain payments made it could be turned into an absolute property in the conditional leaseholder, who then became seized in fee of that which he had held as a conditional lease. Section 50 of the Act of 1884, which dealt with the preferent right to purchase out of a conditional lease, was now repealed and was replaced by section 25 of the Act of 1889. The 48th section of the Act of 1884 created these conditional leaseholds, and it provided that those persons who took up conditional purchases under the Act could apply for a conditional lease, but no one else. Then came the 52nd section of the same Act, which recognised that there were a number of conditional purchasers in the colony who had at that time pre-emptive leases, and it provided that these pre-emptive leaseholders, by virtue of their conditional purchases, might, within 90 days of the commencement of the Act, apply to turn the pre-emptive leases into conditional leases. After the 90 days had expired, no holder of a conditional purchase under the repealed Acts could acquire under the Act of 1884 a conditional lease. That was clearly the intention of the Legislature, and it was clearly expressed in the words which the Legislature used. Once the 90 days had expired, the only means of acquiring a lease was first of all by the originally-acquired lease under the Act of 1884. Now, the Court had to consider whether there was anything in the Act of 1889 which would lead to the conclusion that the Legislature intended to change this state of things, and give for the first time to any class of conditional purchasers under the repealed Acts—whether transferees by way of mortgage, corporations, or other persons—the right which the Act of 1884 deprived them of. The argument used on behalf of appellants was that the word "before," in section 20, was a word of general applicability, and must mean any time before the passing of the Land Act of 1889. He thought it ought not to receive that wide and general construction, and it ought to be construed in reference to the subject matter with which the section was dealing. If they were to hold that the word "before" in this section referred not merely to conditional purchases taken up under the Act of 1884, but also to conditional purchases taken up previous to that Act, they would have the extraordinary result that mortgagors and mortgagees would derive a benefit of which other persons were deprived. Such a state of things would open the door to fraud upon the country, for a person who had taken up a conditional purchase before the Act of 1884 need only mortgage it, and he would then have a right to take up a conditional lease—a thing which, as long as the conditional purchase was unmortgaged he could not do. These Acts had to be read together, and looking at their history as discoverable from the Acts themselves, he had come to the conclusion that it was not the intention of the Legislature that the transferee of land purchased before 1884 could hold a conditional lease. On the contrary, the clear intention of the Legislature was that conditional leases could only be obtained by virtue of conditional purchases made under the Act of 1884.

Mr. Justice Innes and Mr. Justice Stephen concurred, though not without some difficulty.

The decision of the Land Court was therefore held to be correct, and the appeal was dismissed, with costs.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice MANNING.)

MUSTON V. IVES AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Knox (instructed by Messrs. Levy, Hemsley, and Perkins) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Langer Owen (instructed by Messrs. Stephen, Jaques, and Stephen) for the defendant. The motion was one for an injunction. The plaintiff, Wm. Thomas Muston, was the lessee of certain lands in Pitt and Castlereagh streets granted by the trustees of the late George Hill, deceased for 30 years, from October 12, 1890, at a ground rent of £1550 per annum. The lease contained a covenant by the plaintiff to erect buildings on the lands to the value of £20,000. Plaintiff entered into a contract with the defendant, Walter Ives, who is a builder and contractor, for the erection by defendant of a theatre, hotel, and shops for the sum of £20,700. Defendant commenced the erection of the building, and certain sums of money became due to defendant from plaintiff upon certificates given by the architect for the buildings. Those sums not having been paid defendant on the 6th August last caused a writ to be issued from the Supreme Court to recover the sum of £5807. After the issue of the writ, but before the time for appearing had expired, defendant requested plaintiff to accompany him to the office of the defendant's solicitors in order that the action might be settled. Plaintiff accordingly accompanied defendant to the office of his solicitors on the 14th August, and the following agreement was drawn up and signed:—"Mr. Muston to transfer lease to Ives of the property from Pitt to Castlereagh streets. To give a mortgage over the equity of redemption on the properties mortgaged to the London Chartered Bank. To find a guarantee for £2500 as against the mortgages to be obtained by Ives, hereinafter referred to. Mr. Ives to procure a loan of £20,000 to enable him to complete the buildings and pay ground rent and other expenses to date of settlement. Mr. Muston to have a right to take a reassignment of the lease and a discharge of the mortgage within six months of written notice from Mr. Ives that the buildings are completed upon payment of all principal, interest, and costs to date of payment, together with a bonus of £1000. If Mr. Muston does not redeem within six months, Mr. Ives is to have the right of sale of all properties immediately or at any time afterwards, and any profits after providing for principal, interest, and expenses to be divided equally between them. The terms of the present agreement with J. C. Williamson and the building fronting Castlereagh-street are not to be altered in making out the lease without Mr. Muston's written consent, and the buildings are to be completed in the terms of the agreement. The services of present clerk of works to be retained until the completion of buildings." After the execution of the agreement, defendant from time to time communicated to plaintiff the progress made by him in carrying out the terms of the agreement, and plaintiff and defendant consulted together as to the best means of giving effect to the agreement. At the time of entering into the agreement defendant informed plaintiff that he would continue the erection of the building; but work not having been commenced in due time, plaintiff communicated with the defendant, and defendant wrote him a letter, saying:—"I am moving Heaven and earth to get our matter settled. I have seen, and am dealing with principals myself, and it takes all the influence we all possess to get it through. I shall not be able to say definitely that it is settled until after 4 o'clock next Tuesday. I am starting men to-morrow, Saturday, so that you will see I have reason to hope." Notwithstanding the agreement arrived at between them defendant caused judgment to be signed in default of appearance in the action, and on the 10th October caused execution to be issued under the judgment and the defendant Charles Cowper, who is the sheriff for the colony of New South Wales, accordingly took possession of the goods and chattels of the plaintiff under a writ of fieri facias. Plaintiff also complained that Ives neglected to pay the rent which had become due to the lessors of the lands prior to the date of the agreement, and on October 1 the lessors gave plaintiff notice of the determination of the lease; The plaintiff asserted that he had always been ready and willing to perform the agreement so far as the same had to be performed on his part, but contended that the defendant Ives had neglected to carry out his part, and plaintiff charged that Ives had acted in fraud of the agreement by causing judgment to be signed and execution to be issued against plaintiff in the action at law. Plaintiff prayed that the defendants might be restrained by an injunction of the Court from proceeding to sell the goods and chattels of the plaintiff, taken in execution under the writ of fieri facias, and from by any other means enforcing the writ or taking proceedings under the judgment. That the amount of the loss and damage sustained by the plaintiff in consequence of the breaches of the agreement by the defendant Ives might be ascertained, and that plaintiff might have other relief required.

The defence was that Walter Ives admitted that on August 12 he went with plaintiff to his solicitors to see whether any agreement could be made for the settlement of the matters in dispute between plaintiff and himself; but he denied that any agreement was signed by plaintiff and himself. For some considerable time before the month of August last defendant stated that plaintiff had been trying to obtain a loan of £20,000 for the purpose of completing the buildings, but failed to obtain such loan, and it was then agreed that if the defendant could obtain such a loan an arrangement could be made for the settlement of all matters in dispute between plaintiff and himself. The obtaining of the loan by the defendant for the completion of the buildings was agreed upon by plaintiff and himself as a condition precedent to any settlement being arrived at, and the so-called agreement was, as the plaintiff knew, merely a short note of what the settlement would be between plaintiff and himself in the event of his obtaining the loan. Defendant denied that it was mutually understood between plaintiff and himself that no further proceedings should be taken in the common law action. Defendant asserted that he made every effort to obtain the loan, upon which any settlement was, as plaintiff knew, dependent; he, defendant, did not admit that he informed the plaintiff that he would continue the erection of the buildings on a given date; being unable to obtain the loan on 13th September last the plaintiff was informed thereof, and he was told by defendant's solicitors that they must at once sign judgment in the action, and issue execution thereunder. The plaintiff thereupon promised to pay to them the next day the sum of £3000 if they would stay proceedings, which defendant's solicitors agreed to do if such payment was made, but plaintiff having failed to pay the sum or any part thereof by October 3, defendant's solicitors proceeded to sign judgment and issue execution.

His HONOR said that he thought that the probabilities of the case were with the defendant. The agreement drawn up was evidently only a tentative one. It represented what would take place if the parties were able to get the loan. Defendant would not forego his right of action without some definite understanding. The suit had failed, and must be dismissed with costs, and the injunction dissolved.

RE GRAND UNITED GOLD-MINING COMPANY.

On the motion of Mr. Edmunds, who appeared for the official liquidator, an order was made for the payment of a call of 2s per share, to be paid into the A. J. S. Bank on November 30.

RE MERCANTILE LAND AND BUILDINGS COMPANY, LIMITED.

In this matter his Honor made an order that the creditors were to prove on or before December 15, and that all proceedings necessary to carry out the order be taken before the Master, costs to be costs in the winding up.

BURNETT V. SLATTERY.

This was a motion for the dismissal of a suit, and an order was made accordingly, with costs.

Probate Jurisdiction—(Before the Registrar.)

The following were granted:—Probates: John Chin, John Thomas Green, Frederick Fenberg, Mary M'Mahon. Administrations: Ernest Truscott, Joseph Moss, Edith Gore, George King, Mathew Hall.

In Bankruptcy—(Before the Registrar, Mr. ARTHUR HENRY.)

CERTIFICATES SUSPENDED.

Re Thomas William Simpson. The Registrar said that the bankrupt had omitted to keep proper books and continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent. The issue of a certificate would be suspended for nine months from the 3rd instant.

Re Joseph Hanson. The Registrar said that in his opinion the conduct of the bankrupt in connection with the purchase and sale of Spiller's cattle was such as required a suspension of certificate. The issue of a certificate would be suspended for nine months from October 15.

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

The hearing of applications for certificates which had been lodged by the undermentioned bankrupts was adjourned:—Alexander Boyd, to the 24th instant; John Mackenzie, to the 24th instant; James Maher, to December 8; Andrew Wakely to the 13th instant.

PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.

Re Gertrude Clara Woodhouse. The bankrupt said that she wished to amend her statement of affairs by adding some debts; she had lived on her income; her bankruptcy was caused by speculating in land and having to contribute largely to her son's liabilities; she offered at her first meeting to pay her creditors.

Public examinations in the undermentioned estates were adjourned:—Herbert Arthur Trower and David P. Dickson, to the 24th instant; Charles Henry Ducros, to the 17th instant; Daniel William Campbell, to December 1; Robert Clayton Manly, to the 17th instant.

EXAMINATION UNDER SECTION 30.

Re Moss Saber, examination under section 30. Mr. Lewis Levy appeared for the official assignee, and Mr. Creagh (of Messrs. Creagh and Williams) to watch the proceedings on behalf of the bankrupt. Emanuel Saber, brother to the bankrupt, deposed that the Sydney Investment Company consisted of witness, Thomas Saywell, and Moss Saber. Thomas Saywell deposed that he was interested with Moss Saber and Emanuel Saber in the Sydney Investment Company; witness was the sole owner of the company; the whole of the land in the Sydney Investment Company belonged to witness by actual purchase; witness was solely the Sydney Investment Company; when the thing was wound up Moss Saber would get one-third; witness could not say why the name of Moss Saber appeared on some of the deeds; witness sought to prove for £3000, an old debt of seven or eight years' standing; he held 1200 of Mrs. Moss Saber's, and 1200 of Mrs. Emanuel Saber's shares; witness purchased the shares; he owned the Sydney Transfer Company, which was merged into the Sydney Investment Company; £27,000 was owing to witness by the Sydney Investment Company; in 1888 there was a profit of £17,000 odd; in 1889 there was a loss of £5400; Moss Saber's interest would be worth about £12,000. By Mr. Creagh: Witness established the company; Moss Saber and his brother transferred some of their interests to the company; witness had stood the loss and Moss Saber was to have a third of the profit; if Moss Saber paid a third of his indebtedness witness would consider him a partner; witness was to have a third, Moss Saber a third, and Emanuel Saber a third if they paid witness what they owed him; if witness was recouped the profits would be divided in thirds between them. Moss Saber (the bankrupt) deposed that he was outdoor manager to the Sydney Transfer Company, and received £10 a week for his services. The Registrar ordered the bankrupt to file amended accounts, and adjourned the further examination of witnesses till the 24th instant.

SEQUESTRATION ORDERS.

William Septimus De Septimo Moorhouse, of Hay, out of employment. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

Alfred Press, of Forbes, carrier. Mr. H. M. Stephen, official assignee.

William Law, of 113 Gloucester-street, late of Queen's-chambers, Queen's-place, clerk. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

Stephen Dennis, of Bathurst. Mr. A. Morris, official assignee.

John Lee, of Lismore, sawyer. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

Edward Wells, of Lismore, labourer. Mr. E. M. Stephen, official assignee.

Joseph Bautovich, of Balranald. Mr. A. Morris, official assignee.

CREDITORS' PETITIONS.

Frederick Thomas Matthews, of Bellinger, storekeeper, v. John James Keough, of Bellinger. Petition to be heard on November 26.

Langdon, Hopkins, and Langdon, of Petersham, timber merchants, v. Thomas Waldron, of Arncliffe. Petition to be heard on November 19.

S. Hoffnung and Co., of Sydney, merchants, v. William Henry Hollis, of Warne, hotelkeeper. Petition to be heard on November 26.

DISTRICT COURT.—TUESDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge GIBSON.)

HAMBLY V. LEVY.

William John Hambly, trading as Lobb, Hambly, and Co., of George-street, shoemakers, sued Montague Levy for £19 10s 6d for goods sold and delivered. Verdict for plaintiff for the amount claimed.

TRAIN AND ANOTHER V. SMITH.

Joseph Train and Ernest Braby, trading as Train and Co., of Market-street, Sydney, marble manufacturers, sued Henry Smith, builder, of Elby-street, Waverley, for £28 7s 3d, for goods sold and delivered. Verdict for plaintiff for amount claimed.

JONSEN V. BILLINGHAM.

Albert Nathan Jonsen, of Sydney, sued Alfred Billingham, of Redfern, for £20, due on a promissory note dated August 3, 1891, and payable a month after date. Verdict for plaintiff for amount claimed.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

TUESDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge BACKHOUSE and a jury of 12.)

Mr. W. L. Merewether prosecuted on behalf of the Crown.

ABSENT JURORS.

Fines of 40s were imposed upon Andrew Thomson, ironfounder, of Summer Hill; Wm. Samuel Mayne, draper, of Fitzroy-street, Sydney; and Isaac Israel, grocer, of 128 Bay-street, Sydney, each of whom failed to answer to his name when called upon to act as a juror.

INFLICTING GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM.

Michael Feeney and Alexander Colquhoun were charged with having, on May 7, at Alexandria, inflicted grievous bodily harm upon a Chinaman named Zem Fong. The prisoners pleaded not guilty, and were undefended by counsel. The case for the Crown was that Zem Fong was a hawker of fruit and vegetables, and while engaged in supplying a customer at Alexandria on May 7, the prisoners passed by, and as they did so helped themselves without permission to apples from the Chinaman's basket. Zem Fong resented this behaviour, and chased the prisoners with a stick, but, failing to get close enough to them to use the stick, he threw stones, whereupon the prisoners turned and brutally beat the Chinaman, leaving him insensible on the roadway.

His HONOR directed that Feeney be discharged, the evidence adduced on behalf of the Crown failing to identify him with Colquhoun in the attack. The jury after five minutes' deliberation returned a verdict of guilty against Colquhoun.

The prisoner, who is known to the police as one of the larrikin class, and has served terms of imprisonment for assault and riotous conduct, was remanded till next day for sentence.

BREAKING WINDOW PANES.

Charles Marks Felke pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on the night of October 26, maliciously injured three panes of glass, of the value of £15, the property of John Walker and another.

Prisoner was remanded for sentence.

Kate Wearin pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on the 3rd November last, maliciously injured two panes of glass, of the value of £15, the property of Emily Thearle. The prisoner also pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on the 3rd November, maliciously injured two panes of glass of the value of £15, the property of James Robertson.

Prisoner was remanded for sentence.

THEFT OF A PURSE.

Ernest Price pleaded guilty to a charge of having, on November 3 last, stolen a purse containing two tram tickets and £3 13s 4½d in money, from Catherine Blair.

Prisoner was remanded for sentence.

CHARGE OF STEALING A WATCH.

Alfred Kenny, aged 28 years, was charged with having, on the night of April 15, in Hyde Park, stolen a gold watch of the value of £8, from George Gray, a booking clerk at Redfern railway station. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. Meagher, for Mr. W. P. Crick. Gray stated in evidence that at about half-past 11, on the night of April 15, while seated with a friend named Charles Lewis, of Cootamundra, on a bench in Hyde Park, the prisoner with another person named Connors came and sat upon the same bench. A few minutes later the prisoner accosted witness, asking to be told what o'clock it was. Gray complied with the request, and while returning the watch to his pocket had it snatched from him by the prisoner. The four men at once sprang up from the seat, and Gray, seeing the prisoner hand something to Connors, seized Connors, and held him until he was taken into custody by a constable. The watch, however, was not found upon him. Lewis gave chase to Kenny, but was unable to catch him. When arrested subsequently and identified as the person who stole the watch, Kenny denied any knowledge of the occurrence, and said that on the night in question he was at work at the office of Truth.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

POLICE.

Mr. George O'Malley Clarke, S.M., presided in the charge division of the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday. George Wilson, 28, described as a jockey, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labour on a charge of having been a suspected person found frequenting Liverpool-street with intent to commit a felony. Ah Munn, 37, a cook, was remanded until the 18th instant on bail on a charge of having maliciously wounded Jim Hock by striking him on the head with an iron bar. John Moloney and Charles Blackman were each sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment, with hard labour, on charges of having had in their possession four bottles of porter, reasonably supposed to have been stolen. Robert Thompson, 29, a cabdriver, was fined 10s, in default two days' imprisonment, for having been drunk; 20s, in default 21 days, for having assaulted a constable; and 10s, with 15s 4d damages, in default 21 days' imprisonment, for having maliciously injured a police uniform.

Captain Fisher, S.M., presided in the Charge Division of the WATER POLICE COURT, and Mr. D. Lee, S.M., disposed of the business in the Summons Division. William Collins, for having a waterproof coat and a pair of driving gloves in his possession reasonably suspected to have been stolen, was sentenced to three months' gaol with hard labour. David Thompson was charged with having stolen three fowls, the property of Mrs. Culhane, and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment. William Randall, 24, dealer, was ordered to be imprisoned for six months, with hard labour, for having stolen from the person of Christina Silnobr a purse, two tram tickets, and the sum of 15s 8d, her property. John Jack 40, J. Cunningham, 54, G. Evans 21, Neil Olsen 23, G. Griffith 48, O. Olsen 37, F. Tup 35, J. Breise 30, D. Davis 30, C. Wreyford 39, and W. Baldan 28, all seamen on board the ship Glen Lui, were charged with combined wilful disobedience. The accused pleaded not guilty. Captain Joseph Cummins, master of the ship, stated that on Sunday morning last the hands were turned out by the second officer to loose the sails, as the tug boat and pilot were coming alongside to take the vessel to sea. The men refused to go to sea, as they said they had no oil to light the lamps in the forecastle. They said they had agreed not to go to sea, but would go to gaol first. Each of the accused was sentenced to four weeks' gaol. Kate Pratt, 26, was found guilty of having stolen a black plush mantle, value 20s, the property of Jessie Wales, and received a sentence of three months' imprisonment.

In the REDFERN POLICE COURT, before Mr. Johnson, S.M., 40 persons were each fined 10s, with 2s 6d costs, for having kept unregistered dogs.

Mr. R. Harper, J.P., disposed of the business at the PARRAMATTA POLICE COURT. Henry Maher was fined 5s for being drunk and disorderly, and for resisting the apprehending constable he was fined 20s or seven days.

LICENSING COURT.

Mr. Cornelius Delohery, S.M., presided at the weekly meeting of the Central Division of the Licensing Court, held at the Central Police Court yesterday. Transfers of publicans' licenses were granted—from Peter O'Brien, of the Liverpool Arms Hotel, Gipps-street, Surry Hills, to Nathan Sargent; and from Louis R. Richardson, of the Albert View Hotel, Redfern, to John F. Dale. Applications under sec. 15 of Vic. 14 were made by Annie Cull, executrix in the estate of the late James Cull, of the Salutation Hotel, Alexandria, and by Mary Donohue, executrix in the estate of the late Thomas Donohue, of the Frankfort Hotel, Marrickville, to carry on their businesses. Both applications were granted. A license under sec. 16 of 46 Vic. 24, was granted to Isabella M'Elhinney for premises (the license of which was cancelled at the annual meeting), known as the New Waterloo Retreat Hotel, Botany-road, Alexandria.

INQUESTS.

THE PYRMONT BRIDGE FATALITY.

The inquest on the body of John Risk, who was fatally injured on the Pyrmont Bridge on Saturday, was continued by the City Coroner, at his court, Chancery-square, yesterday. Joseph Niagro, who appeared in custody as the driver of the cart which it is alleged knocked deceased down, was represented by Mr. Mark Williamson. From the evidence of William Scott, caretaker of the bridge, it would appear that about half-past 11 o'clock on Saturday morning the northern gate on the eastern side of the swing in the bridge had been closed, and Risk was just about to close the southern gate when Niagro came along the bridge from the Sydney end in an ice-cream cart at a hand gallop in order to get through the swing before it was closed. The horse swerved on to the pathway, and Risk was knocked down and crushed against the railings. Another witness, however, swore that Risk stood right in front of Niagro's cart in an endeavour to stop it. Niagro cried "Hi, hi, hi!" to deceased and tried to pull up, but before he could do so the horse had knocked Risk down. At this stage the inquest was further adjourned till Thursday.

FATAL ACCIDENTS.

The City Coroner concluded yesterday the inquest on the body of the man Hezekiah Burgoyne, who on Saturday died from the effects of injuries received the same morning by falling from a scaffold at a building in course of erection in George-street, Haymarket, and known as the New Federal Coffee Palace. A verdict of accidental death was returned, and the jury added a rider recommending the appointment of a Government inspector of scaffolding, and they expressed the opinion that guard rails should be placed between the scaffold poles.

An inquest was held yesterday by the City Deputy Coroner, Mr. W. T. Pinhey, J.P., touching the death of the man George Leek, who died in the Sydney Hospital on Saturday night from injuries received on October 21. Deceased, who was 41 years of age, was on the day of the accident in charge of a crane at a building in course of erection in Windmill-street, Miller's Point. A case of bricks was being hauled up, and when it was about 3ft. above the ground the mast jumped out of the socket, and the whole collapsed. Leek was struck on the back by the jib, and he received an injury which paralysed his lower limbs, and ultimately caused death. A witness, who worked with Leek, said that the fall of the mast was due to the want of washers. Leek knew that there were no washers on the crane, and he told the witness to get some. Witness went away to do so as he was told, but before he came back the crane had been used, and the accident had happened. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, adding that the deceased was the only person in fault.

The circumstances attending the death of the man John M'Ginley, who was killed by falling over the balcony of a house, 40 Gloucester-street, was held at the Croydon Hotel yesterday, by Mr. W. T. Pinhey, J.P., the city deputy-coroner. The facts elicited were similar to those already published, and the jury returned a verdict of accidental death, at the same time recommending that in future the railings of all balconies should not be less than 4ft. high.

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for the cure of coughs, colds, and all derangements of the respiratory organs. It relieves the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease.—[ADVT.]

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Med. Times, January 12, 1866.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution: None genuine without the words, "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33 Great Russell-street, London. Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s. Agents: Sydney, ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

THE VITAL IMPORTANCE to INVALIDS and PHYSICIANS of HAVING PURE MEDICINES dispensed by careful Assistants, supervised by experienced Principals, must be obvious to any thinking person in these days of dangerous cheap physic. SENIOR'S PHARMACY, 248 George-street, is the only retail house which imports its own peculiar class of Pharmaceutical Preparations, which are made specially by one of the first houses in the world.

KEATING'S INSECT POWDER. Bugs, Fleas, Moths, Beetles, and all other Insects are destroyed by KEATING'S INSECT POWDER, which is quite harmless to domestic animals. It is perfectly clean in application. Ask for KEATING'S POWDERS. Sold (in tins) by all chemists.

ABRAHAM'S PILLS. A safe medicine for Ladies. The reason is they are purely a vegetable composition of Dandelion, and expressly suited to the constitution and requirements of women. This explains the great success and golden opinions which follow their use. Thousands say they save all trouble, effectually remove all impurities of the blood, beautify the complexion, no headaches, no pain, no flushing, no giddiness, no anxiety. They make work a pleasure, and existence a joy. Superior to any other known remedy. Prepared only by J. S. ABRAHAM, The Laboratory, 434 George-street, city.

GRAND CITY INVESTMENT.
FOR ABSOLUTE SALE.
By Order of the Trustees of the Estate of the Late THOMAS BROWN, Esq.
TO CLOSE ACCOUNTS.
ALL THAT BLOCK OF LAND and Business PREMISES having a frontage of about 54ft. 10in. to SPRING-STREET, immediately adjoining the office of the BANK OF NEW ZEALAND, by a DEPTH of 181ft. extending to O'CONNELL-STREET, to which it has also a frontage of about 54ft. 10in., the north and south lines being of nearly equal lengths. Within the boundary lines is enclosed an area of a little over 10,000 SQUARE FEET.
UPON THIS LAND are situated the well-known premises owned and occupied by MESSRS. BROWN and COMPANY, MERCHANTS, for upwards of 45 years.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH, Limited, have received instructions from the TRUSTEES of the late THOMAS BROWN, Esq., by their attorney, Edward Chisholm, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, 98 Pitt-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, 20th NOVEMBER, at 11 o'clock, THE ABOVE valuable property, comprising all that parcel of land situated at THE JUNCTION of PITT and SPRING STREETS, immediately adjoining the premises of THE BANK OF NEW ZEALAND, having double frontage SPRING and O'CONNELL STREETS, as above described, and with the unusual great depth of 181ft., extending from street to street.
THE LAND IS NOW OCCUPIED by the business premises of MESSRS. BROWN AND COMPANY, Merchants, and the BUILDINGS consist of OFFICES and Gateway fronting SPRING-STREET, and a large THREE-STORY STORE, all substantially built of stone.
Nearly the whole of the rest of the land extending to O'Connell-street is occupied by extensive CELLARAGE with strong dividing walls and roof.
This block of premises is held under an old long LEASE, which terminates on 31st DECEMBER, 1892.
Attention may fairly be directed to the GREAT DEPTH and AREA of this portion of land, and its suitability for division into two distinct properties—one for Mercantile uses, fronting Spring-street; and the other, in O'Connell-street, for office or other purposes.
The buildings on the Spring-street frontage were erected nearly 45 years ago, and in the face of the increased value of the land and the surrounding well-employed attractive buildings, it is evident that the time has come when this valuable block of city land should be put to more important and profitable purposes than it now serves.
It is important to mention that as no delay can be allowed to take place in the realisation of this, the only New South Wales Freehold Asset in the estate of the late Mr. Brown, the Trustees do not intend to hamper the auction with any reserve price, and so intending purchasers may rest assured that as the property is bound to attract attention it will be disposed of to the highest bidder.
PLAN ON VIEW AT THE ROOMS.
Messrs. STEPHEN, JAQUES, and STEPHEN, O'Connell-street, are Solicitors to the Estate. (2100)

THURSDAY ISLAND.
IMPORTANT to INVESTORS, SPECULATORS, and OTHERS.
HERBERT BOWDEN has been favoured with instructions to sell by public auction, on the 25th November, 1891,
24 ALLOTMENTS LAND, each about quarter of an acre, in this rapidly-rising township.
The auctioneer would draw the special attention of persons seeking an ABSOLUTELY SAFE INVESTMENT to this sale.
Thursday Island has not been exploited by the "Land Syndicator," nor has it suffered from any land boom to raise values, and yet land in the main thoroughfare, which in 18[illegible] was sold at the Government Land Sale for £12 per acre, or less than 1s per foot frontage, is now bringing an annual rental of £1 PER FOOT, or £264 PER ACRE, and is assessed in the Corporation books at a value of £[illegible] per foot.
The erection of fortifications and barracks on the island, the assured permanency and increasing importance of the pearlshell fishery (the present year's catch of which is estimated to yield £90,000), and the opening up of the trade in Western New Guinea and the Cape York Peninsula, all of which comes to Thursday Island, points to it as a future great business centre.
Plans and further particulars may be obtained from the Auctioneer, Victoria-parade, Thursday Island, Queensland. Lithos may be had from Burns, Philp, and Co., Limited, Bridge-street, Sydney, or from the Auctioneer.

The Borough Council of Willoughby is advertising for a loan of £2000, at 5 per cent., for three years.

The exact terms of the Paddington loan, as advertised in the London press, differ somewhat from the information supplied here. They show that 5 per cent. of the proceeds was payable on applications which were opened on October 8, and 95 per cent. on November 4, when the debentures were to be delivered. As the first half-year's interest is payable on January 1 next, the amount of interest given to investors is 30s. The average price realised being £95 2s, the net price is £93 12s; and the loan being repayable at par on January 1, 1911, the net average interest, which is payable half-yearly by the borough, is at the rate of £4 10s 11d per cent. per annum. To this must be added the cost of flotation to show the annual expense of the loan. It appears that the loan was barely covered, about £48,000 being subscribed, and the balance of £2000 was made up afterwards. This, of course, was a rather ominous result for the Newcastle loan, which was offered also at 95 a week afterwards, with, however, only 3s 6d given to investors in the way of accrued interest, as against 30s given by the Paddington Borough. The Paddington loan of £50,000 represents the full indebtedness of the borough, as a portion of the proceeds will be applied to the liquidation of the existing loans, amounting to £28,250.

Among our special advertisements is the report of the Bank of Australasia, to the leading features of which we referred in Saturday's issue.

A meeting of shareholders in the Australian Banking Company was held this afternoon, Mr. F. Abigail in the chair. It was resolved, after considerable discussion, that the company should be wound up voluntarily under the supervision of the Court. Mr. Abigail was appointed liquidator on behalf of the shareholders. A report of the proceedings appears in another column.

The month's Customs revenue, amounting to £217,033, exceeds by £28,652 the total for October last year. Of the total, £178,719 was obtained in Sydney and £38,314 at the outstations, the increase in Sydney being £18,772, and at the outstations £9880.

The following is a return of the Customs collections at Sydney and out-stations for the period from January 1 to October 31 for the years 1890 and 1891 respectively:—

Month.	1890.	1891.
January	£182,306 19 4	£200,734 14 2
February	184,669 4 6	179,869 17 4

July	210,647 17 1	232,154 1 1
August	204,296 7 11	216,304 2 9
September	214,227 18 3	200,247 4 3
October	188,381 0 2	217,033 2 11
Total	£1,812,949 15 5	£2,039,665 17 6

The increase for 10 months of 1891 was £226,716 2s 1d, being at the rate of 12·4 per cent. for the 10 months.

An important announcement appears in our advertisement columns to the effect that the Australian Chilling and Freezing Company, having about completed its works at Aberdeen, is now prepared to undertake the freezing and shipping of mutton on the terms named for sheepgrowers. The company will purchase outright or purchase on terms, which will give growers a share in the profits, or will freeze and ship mutton on owners' account at 2·20d per lb. The requisite arrangements have been made with the railway department and steam shipping companies.

The bank failures in Germany have followed on unfavourable market condition and general trade depression. The Berlin correspondent of the Economist, writing on this subject on September 22, speaks of the downward tendency of stock quotations, and the general exhaustion of the markets, has the following:—

Yet all these considerations would scarcely suffice to throw the market into that state of exhaustion in which it finds itself at present were it not for the darkness of the outlook for trade in this country. There are, as a rule, no prospects of high dividends. The deadlock in the iron and textile trade is a notorious fact. To speak first of the textile trades, it is impossible to deny that things are drifting towards a calamity. The large and numerous textile manufacturing establishments in Westphalia and on the Rhine have dismissed thousands of hands, and reduced the hours of those that remain. Misery is spreading among these working classes, and the Government has been repeatedly asked for aid. The cotton spinners have just held a meeting, and, in consideration of the general state of affairs, have reduced their prices by 15 per cent., and there is no prospect that matters will improve. The depressed condition of the iron and steel trade here has been often referred to in your columns. There might be an improvement if coal and coke quotations could be reduced. But there is as yet no chance of that. The approach of winter and the obstinacy of the mineowners is sufficient to maintain prices. In regard to coke, the Westphalian coke syndicate has just resolved to maintain the coke prices at a point which is almost universally denounced as too high. It is stated, however, that the syndicate appears willing to make some slight concessions in prices during the first quarter of 1892. The condition of affairs provokes much dissatisfaction, especially since it is known that the syndicate sells about one-quarter of its total production to foreign markets at prices lower than are quoted in this country. The movement in the coke quotations (per ton) during the last few years is illustrated by the following table, showing the prices in the district of Essen: Price of coke, 1891, 13·00 marks; 1890, 19·78 marks; 1889, 15·72 marks; 1888, 9·16 marks; 1887, 7·83 marks. Whereas coke sells now, as is shown, at about 13 marks in the home market, it is exported at about 11½ marks.

For some time to come the iron and steel makers cannot expect to be supported to any considerable extent by the railways, for the latter have now ceased giving their orders for rails. During the last eight weeks they have ordered about 169,200 tons of rails and a corresponding quantity of other material. All the orders seem to have gone to German works which were invited to reduce their original tenders to the level of those made by English and other makers. The position of foreign funds was not very advantageous during the past week, which is partly owing to the disturbing political comments to which I have referred, and to a rise in rates in the money market. Home railways were weak, being offered for sale rather extensively. Servian gold loans seemed to make a tolerably good stand. German loans again declined. The money market here has been stiffening all the week, and the movement seems likely to continue.

In the Import market business has scarcely opened since the holidays, though in one or two lines there have been considerable transactions. The duty paid on bulk and bottled beer on Saturday and to-day was very large, amounting to £1526 and £6219 respectively, which may be taken to indicate withdrawals by importers or agents to be on the safe side in the event of an increase in the tariff. The payment of £1158 as duty on candles, representing very nearly a month's consumption, also implies something of the same kind. The flour market is very quiet to-day, buyers operating for nothing beyond the supplies of immediate requirements. Roller brands of flour are selling at £12 10s to £13, stone makes £11 to £12. There is nothing doing in wheat. The trade in tea was quiet, nothing beyond small transactions coming under notice. Two catalogues are to be submitted at the City Mart to-morrow (Wednesday) morning. Currants were sold at 4¼d on the spot and to arrive. Business was done in elemes at 6d, and sales of sultanas were made to arrive at 6d, and on the spot up to 6½d was paid. Dates in small lines were sold at 2½d. Rangoon rice is in very small supply, and has been sold to £14 10s, with the prospect of the maintenance of a firm market owing to the scarcity and famine in the East. The sugar market is getting bare of yellows and whites. Good grainy yellow is in demand at from £20 to £21. Whites are quoted from £23 10s to £24 15s. The end of the crushing in the Northern rivers tends to give a stronger tone to the market. Messrs. Harris and Aston report having sold 420 bags yellows at 20s, and 25 tons white at £23 10s to £24; also at their auction sale, 100 boxes sultanas at 6d, 40 boxes dates at 1½d, 60 cases white wine vinegar at 4s per dozen. In brewers' goods, we note the sale of Tasmanian hops at 14d, in 10-bale lots, there being rather more inquiry. English malt to arrive inquired for. In liquids, we note good sales of Bulldog and Foster's ale at agents' prices. Hennessy's brandy in trade parcels moved off at late quotations. The demand for spirits was rather slack. Messrs. J. R. Parkington and Co. state that the shipments of port for September amount to 6856 pipes (Great Britain, 2656 pipes), making 65,614 pipes for nine months, against 62,478 pipes in 1890. The sherry shipments were 4836 butts, making 45,132 butts for nine months, against 44,198 butts in 1890. In metals we note business in No. 10 German fencing-wire, to arrive in a day or two, at £11 10s, though less has been accepted for lots further off. Castor oil, 2s 10½d. A large parcel was placed for forward delivery at a concession on this figure. Jute goods are unaltered. Cream of tartar, in ton lots, sold at 15½d. In their report on the English chemical market, dated September 25, Messrs. S. W. Royse and Co. write:—

Chemicals.—The actual consumptive demand for general chemicals is not at present brisk, but there is more activity noticeable on account of the season for making contracts for next year's supplies being now at hand. Already a fair business has been done in bleaching powder for 1892 at the fixed price of £7 5s at makers' works, and at £7 2s 6d for present delivery there has also been a steady demand. Caustic soda has been less active though a fair spot business has been passing, but buyers do not seem disposed to cover their wants for next year, although an inducement is now offered of a reduction of 7s 6d to 10s per ton on spot prices. In soda crystals and bicarbonate of soda works are well filled with orders at the recently advanced prices. Sulphate of ammonia has been persistently dull, but is now a little brighter. Muriate of ammonia is offering freely at lowest prices, the production having latterly been considerably increased. Carbonate of ammonia has a steady sale at unchanged figures. Sulphate of copper is still depressed, but there has latterly been more inquiry for delivery up to end of March, and some sales are reported to have been made—of course, at a considerable advance upon spot prices. A good business has been done in miscible naphtha for forward delivery at full figures, and solvent wood naphtha has also improved. Acetates of lime are in too plentiful supply. Acetate of soda maintains its firmness. Acetates of lead are steady with apparently some tendency towards higher values. Nitrate of lead has not actually advanced, but the recent stoppage of production by some makers seems to be now commencing to be felt. Recovered sulphur is scarce, works being now well engaged for the remainder of this year. Prussiate of potash moves off steadily. Bichromates of potash and soda are unchanged. Caustic potash and carbonate of potash are easier. There is more demand for borax.

Messrs. Fraser and Co. advertise for sale by auction, to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, Foochow teas; in the afternoon, Baltic dressed and Oregon timbers and clear pine.

At the auction wool sales to-day there was good competition for all classes of wool, with no perceptible change in values. The catalogues comprised 5208 bales, and the public and private sales are reported as 3924 bales. Best greasy sold to 9d. The following detailed reports have been supplied:—

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report:—Yesterday being a holiday our wool was on view, and most of the buyers availed themselves of a quiet day to make their valuations, but we did not hold our sale till to-day. The catalogue contained 2506 bales, and included a very fair selection, nearly all in the grease, which was quite equal to the best we have offered this season. Many bright lustrous wools from the South were greatly depreciated by burs, which rendered them totally unfit for the American market, which they would have suited admirably but for the trefoil. The usual large attendance of representatives of English, European, and American manufacturers assembled in the saleroom, and strong competition was accorded to all lots submitted. The better classes and clips which bore evidence of careful preparation elicited the strongest support. Lots in very light condition, without sign of seeds and burrs and heavily skirted, were eagerly competed for by American buyers. A light, free wool, marked L|CA over Ravensworth, from near Singleton, sold for 8½d. The well-known clip, R over Mudgee over E. Rouse, a bright, free wool of good quality, and carefully classed, made up to 8½d. JR over Kimo, from Gundagai, a bright, free wool in splendid order, was passed in at 8½d. DF, a broad, shafty wool, from Darlington, sold at 8¼d; and the Ravensfield clip, from Booligal, a light, bright, shafty wool, sold up to 8½d. Yanko Valley over EJ, a bold, bright wool, from the Yanko, slightly touched with burrs, sold for 8d. Good fine crossbreds were very scarce, and met with strong competition, the best lot, WW over triangle, from Gundagai, selling for 8½d. Bulky pieces sold at very full values, the top figure, 7½d, being obtained for the UX over Richlands, pieces, from near Young. A lot of bright shafty scoured marked CE over R, made 14½d, and a very superior clip of lambs sold at 13½d. In washed fleece the assortment was very limited, and 10½d was the top price, this being obtained for the J. Jobbins over Silver Hill over Rye Park, from Burrowa. The tone of the market is good, and values show no alteration on prices current at our last auction. Privately and by auction we disposed of 1782 bales, including the following:—Greasy: Ravensworth over L|CA, 130 at 8½d, 61 at 8d, 23 at 7½d, from Singleton; R over Mudgee over G House, 7 A at 8½d, 23 B at 8½d, 4 C at 7½d, from Mudgee; AA over Merrivale, 46 at 7½d, from Carrathool; A over five strokes, 46 at 6d, from Brewarrina. 84 over B over Bundaburra, 29 at 7½d, from Forbes. Shamrock over Clifton, 27 at 7½d, from Breeza; WC, 10 at 7d, from Narrandera; over triangle, 32 at 7d, from Gundagai; Jas. Carter over Wallaby Park, 15 at 7½d, from Narromine; WW over triangle, 13 at 8½d, from Gundagai; MH, 13 at 9½d, from Dalby; FW, 11 at 6½d, from Tamworth; CP over Flinerdale, 11 at 7½d, from Wagga; Mel over Woodburn, 24 at 7½d, from Narrandera; DF, 21 firsts at 8½d, 7 seconds at 8d, 7 first pieces at 7d, from Darlington; ASM over Wyregall, 30 at 7d, from Parkes; R McCormack, 11 at 7½d, from Hay; RS over Wee Waa, 11 at 7½d, R, 26 at 7½d, from Narrandera; XC over Mudgee, 13 at 6½d, from Mudgee; W. Liddle, 27 at 7½d, from Jerilderie; 8R over Forbes, 4 at 6½d, from Forbes; R over Biagambil over Mudgee, 8 at 8d, 4 A lambs at 7½d, 33 broken at 7½d, from Mudgee; UX over Richlands, 11 pieces at 7½d, from Young; Ravensfield, 54 first combing at 8½d, 9 second combing at 7½d, 19 first pieces at 7d, 10 first lambs at 7½d, from Booligal; MK over 8, 17 pieces at 6½d, from Grong Grong; NSW over Abingdon, 26 first pieces at 6½d, from Gundagai; Yanko Valley over EJ, 31 at 8d, from Jerilderie; KU over Woodlands, 25 at 7½d, from Darlington; HC over Woodstock, 28 fleece at 8½d, 44 first pieces at 6½d, 22 pieces at 6d; CR over Sunfoin, 22 at 7½d, from Narrandera; WB over Barrala, 10 at 7d; CV, 16 at 7d, from Toogong; JR over Kimo, 14 first pieces at 7d; R over Trangley, 23 first pieces at 6½d; J&PL over Glenlee, 13 at 7½d, from Narrandera; HP over Rosehill, 36 at 7½d, from Narrabri; Y over Cootamundra, 27 at 7½d; SP, 14 at 7½d, from Wagga. Washed: JJ Jobbins over Silver Hill over Rye Park, 6 at 10½d. Scoured: CE over R, 4 at 14½d; P over Sunny Bank, 4 at 12½d; CWP in square, 54 at 13½d; W. Turnbull over Middle Park, 5 second pieces at 9½d; 4 bellies at 7½d; and 170 lots of oddments at full values.

John Bridge and Co. report holding their fourth sale yesterday, when a catalogue of 2030 bales was brought forward, consisting of wools grown in almost all parts of the colony, but beyond a couple of lots, one grown at Jerilderie and the other at Yerong Creek, the catalogue did not show anything out of the ordinary. The usual buyers were assembled, who bid freely for all lots submitted, demand on home account being particularly active. Prices since last reporting have undergone no change, and in nearly every case business was done, the exceptions being on lots where growers insisted upon placing reserves far above ruling rates. By auction and privately they were able to dispose of 1400 bales, the following being among the more important transactions:—NF conjoined over Kulki, 22 bales, a very carefully got up, well-grown, and skirted clip, which realised 9d; the pieces from same going at 7d; next highest price in fleece was 8½d, for a well-cared-for consignment marked W. Ilett, from Yerong Creek. The highest price of the day, and we might say of the season, was paid for lambs' wool of same brand, viz., 10d per lb. Other leading sales were:—JHW, 5 bales from Walcha at 8d; Wemabung over X, 46 bales hoggets at 8d, 66 ewes at 7½d, from Warren; WON, from Narromine, at 8d, and crossbred at 8½d; HF, from Morundah, sold at 8d; and C over Rockview at 7¾d; 9d was secured for WBP crossbred from Narromine. A few of the chief brands were passed in owing to owners' reserves being beyond current values. Included in these were the DM over Macville, from Warren; URU, from Trangie; and EW over PP, from Inverell. Amongst other sales, the following may be mentioned:—Newpark, from Forbes, 41 bales at 7¾d, 14 bales first pieces at 5¾d; TR over Grong Grong, 13 bales at 7½d; WT over T, 15 bales, from Parkes, at 7¾d; NF conjoined over Kulki, 22 bales at 9d, 9 bales pieces at 7d; BC over Cardenton, 11 bales at 7½d; W Ilett over Yerong Creek, 9 bales at 8½d; CC over Moulton Farm, from Young, at 7½d; Wemabung over X, 46 bales at 8d, 66 same brand at 7½d, 19 first lambs at 6d; Crescent over AN over —, 12 bales at 7½d, from Hay; WON, 23 bales at 8d, from Narromine, 14 crossbred same brand at 8½d; HF from Jerilderie, 13 bales at 8d; C over Rockview, 96 bales at 7¾d; DK over Careville, 19 bales from Narrandera at 7½d; WBP, 25 bales at 7½d, 14 same brand at 7½d; 20 bales at 6½d; 12 bales crossbred at 9d. In scoured, offerings were small, and consequently no important transactions can be recorded.

F. L. Barker and Co., at their fourth sale of the season to-day, showed at their new stores, Pyrmont, samples of 700 bales, including some excellent parcels of greasy, principally from the northern districts (no scoured or washed fleece was offered), which at the sale in the afternoon evoked from a very large attendance of buyers keen competition up to fully late rates, and as a natural consequent, with the desire owners show in fixing reserves to meet the market, a clearance of the catalogue (with the exception of one brand) resulted. The total number of bales sold including private transactions, since last week amount to 742. Amongst the lots should be noted a further portion of the LFI over Goolhi, 136 bales from Gunnedah, an even, lengthy, well-formed staple, well skirted, at, for combing A 8¼d, combing C 7½d, BF 7¼d, pieces 5¾d, bales 4½d; the Weilbon from Moree, a sound, light, dry parcel, consisting of 233 bales at for first combing 8¼d, first clothing 7½d, first pieces 7¼d, and second pieces 6½d; the LJS in circle, ewes, 72 bales from Cowra, fleece passed in at slightly under valuation, pieces at 6½d, the RTB over Wattamadara, 27 bales, also from Cowra, showing more lightness than usual in wools from that portion of the Lachlan, at 7¾d; the Valleyfield over star, 52 bales, a bright, well-grown sample, at for hoggets 8¼d, ewes and wethers 8d, lambs 6½d; the JT over Raywood, 24 bales, at for fleece averaging 8d, lambs 8½d, pieces 6½d; JP conjoined under —, 8 bales at 7d, all from Coolamon district; the M over Brittas, from North Queensland, a short, earthy, wasty line, 36 bales, at for fleece 5½d per lb., &c.

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

Samples, £2 1s 9d; spirits, £2052 10s 11d; wine, still, £175 5s; wine, sparkling, £24; ale, porter, and beer, in wood, £1526 10s 6d; ale, porter, and beer, in bottles, £1257 8s 8d; tobacco and snuff, £493 16s; tobacco, unmanufactured, £12; tobacco, for manufacturing purposes only, £28 4s; cigars, £284 5s 11d; cigarettes, £75; tea, £387 10s 7d; chicory, £5 12s; sugar, unrefined, £365 4s 6d; opium, £143 5s; rice, £64 9s 7d; dried fruits, £495 18s 10d; sarsaparilla over 25 per cent., 17s 6d. MELBOURNE, TUESDAY.

The Australian Mortgage and Agency Company report:—We offered to-day 3900 bales of wool, and sold 2900. Prices were irregular. Good quality deep-grown merinos and crossbreds maintained recent values, but all other descriptions were weaker. Greasy sold to 11d½; lambs, 11½d. G. M. Wallaloo, 11½d; Walla Walla, 11d; Wangaloug, 11½d; Wallow Park, to 10d; Mooroola, 9d; Nuntherungie, 7½d; Piangil, 10½d.

There was a quiet market and a very limited business to-day. Lower rates were accepted for Commercial and National Banks, Silverton Tramway, Hydraulic Power, and Melbourne Cyclorama. City of Melbourne Bank, £5 15s 6d; Colonial, £14 3s; Commercial, £10 17s, £10 15s; Federal, 59s; Mercantile, 50s; National, £9 19s; Victoria, £9 15s; Metropolitan Gas, £14 13s; Standard Bank, 49s; Carlton and West-End Brewery, 19s 6d; Union Trustee, 25s; Cycloroma, 30s; Fraser and Co., 3s; Hydraulic Power, 22s 9d; Melbourne Storage, 10s; Newcastle Coal Company, £16; Silverton Tramway, £8 1s, £8; Tarrawingee Flux, 85s; Tramway and Omnibus, 41s 6d, 41s 9d. A fair parcel of wheat was sold for milling purposes, at a price withheld. There is a good demand for oats. The tea market is steady with good sales. Country purchasers of cornsacks are urging forward delivery. Barbed wire is weaker owing to American competition. At the timber auction over 446,000ft. of red and 1,790,000ft. of white flooring, lining, and weather boards were sold at an average decline of about 6d. Nearly 400,000ft. of Oregon and Suffolk sold at £4 10s.

LONDON, Nov. 9.

The price of bar silver to-day is 3s 7⅞d per ounce, an advance of a farthing.

A cargo of Australian wheat of December shipment has been sold at 45s per quarter.

PRODUCE MARKET—TUESDAY.

This morning there was a fairly large attendance of the trade at the Redfern auction sales. The accumulation of supplies since Friday amounted to 60 trucks; 27 consisted of hay, 30 of chaff, and 3 of straw. Prime sorts were steadily competed for at about last auction rates; other qualities were purchased sparingly. At the wharfs there were ample supplies of colonial and intercolonial produce. Business opened after the holiday very quietly. The demand for bran and pollard was limited. New potatoes maintained last week's closing rates. Purchases of onions were still made on a smaller scale. Eggs were dearer. Poultry in brisk demand. Particulars of the business transacted at the Redfern auction sales were as follows:—

Hay.—Newly-made new wheaten hay, in dry condition, commanded attention at 3s 3d to 3s 5d per cwt.; faulty, 2s 3d; best old oaten, in bundles, 4s 6d; other sorts, 2s 9d to 4s 4d; bales, 3s; lucerne, in bales, from West Maitland, 2s 9d; Tamworth, 2s 6d; oaten and wheaten, in bundles, 3s 6d.

Straw.—Comparatively light supplies came to hand. Clean wheaten, in bundles, sold at 2s 4d per cwt; derrick-pressed bales, 2s 3d.

Chaff.—Superior well-cut and bright-coloured oaten and wheaten mixed, in bags, reached the high figure of 4s 7d per cwt.; good, 4s 2d to 4s 4d; indifferent to fair samples, 2s 2d to 3s 6d.

At the wharfs the wholesale quotations were:—

Wheat.—Prices still nominal.

Flour.—This market, although quiet, remains steady. Stone makes, £11 to £12 per ton; roller brands, £12 10s to £13.

Bran.—Quotations, 9d to 9½d per bushel.

Pollard.—Rather slack from 9½d to 9¾d per bushel.

Maize.—Supplies of Queensland maize continue to be placed on the market. Prime samples free from weevil unaltered, 2s 4d per bushel.

Oats.—Feeding lines unchanged, from 1s 10d to 2s per bushel; seed, to 2s 1d.

Hay.—Hunter River lucerne hay was rather dull of sale at prices ranging from 35s to £2 15s per ton; choice sorts, to £3.

Chaff.—The supplies of intercolonial chaff have been replenished during the past few days. Quoted £3 to £4 7s 6d per ton.

Onions.—The demand for Victorian onions was limited at £5 to £5 5s per ton.

Potatoes.—Circular Head varieties quoted to £3 per ton; new Clarence River lots to £5.

Butter.—Illawarra factory-made again worth 8d per lb.; dairy, 8d.

Cheese.—The consignments received were ample for requirements. Prices, 6d to 7d per lb.

Bacon.—Machine-cured southern, 5d to 6d per lb.; hand-cured 6½d to 7d; for special makes higher prices were quoted; hams, 6d to 9d.

Lard.—Finely-rendered, in bladders, steady, 4½d to 5d per lb.

Eggs.—Prices have advanced. Colonial lots worth 11d per dozen.

Poultry.—The demand continues animated. Fowls, 3s 3d to 4s 3d per pair; ducks, 3s 9d to 5s; geese, 5s 6d to 7s 6d; turkeys, 6s to 11s.

LEATHER AND SKIN SALES.

Messrs. Winchcombe, Carson, and Co. and Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report having held auction leather sales yesterday. There was a limited attendance of buyers, and the business done was on a small scale. The market closed excessively dull. Quotations: Tweed, 11d to 14½d; kip, 9d to 9½d; calf, 15d to 17d; yearling, 12½d to 13½d; sole, heavy, 6½d to 7d; light and medium, 6½d to 6¾d per lb.; basils (saddlers'), 12s to 14s; shoe, 4s 6d to 8s per dozen; bag and bridle, 8s to 10s per side. Sales of sheepskins were held by Messrs. Brunker and Wolfe, F. L. Barker and Co., and J. C. Young and Co. Prices were weaker, and as follows:—Superior butchers' green skins to 6s; other sorts, including pelts, 12d to 5½d; dry skins, 3½d to 5d per lb.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

Steady rates ruled in the Mining market yesterday, but business was very dull. Proprietary shares changed hands at £7 9s, and at the close of 'Change buyers were offering £7 8s, and holders were asking £7 10s. Central obtained 67s to 66s to 67s, and South were disposed of at £5 7s and £5 8s. A few contributing shares were purchased at 51s 6d and 52s. Bonanza Consols were unaltered in value at 3½d, and Sunny Corner improved to 16s 6d. The only transactions recorded in gold scrip were Last Call at 6s 6d, and Pambula at 9s.

SALES.

Silver shares had a depressed market, and mostly closed lower with the exception of Grey Ore, paid, which were placed at a further advance. Sales: Broken Hill, £7 8s, £7 8s 6d; Block 10, £13 11s, £13 14s, £13 9s; Block 14, £5 16s 3d, £5 15s; South, paid, 66s 6d; British, 26s, 26s 6d; Broken Extended, 17s 6d; Centrals, paid, £5 7s, £5 6s; Pinnacle Amalgamated, 1s 4d, 1s 7d; Tasmanian Company's Austral, 2s 9d; Balstrup, 6s 9d, 6s 10d; Comet, 9s 5d to 9s; Grey Ore, paid, 4s 6d, 4s 10½d; Oceana, paid, 8s, 7s 11d; Silver Bell, 2s 5d.

A telegram gives the following result of the Bear Hill crushing:—255 tons stone yielded 240oz. of smelted gold.

ADELAIDE, TUESDAY.

Share Report.—Sales: Wallaroo and Moonta, 20s; Broken, £7 11s, £7 8s; Block 14, £5 14s 6d; Central, £5 7s; South, £3 6s; South, contributing, new issue, £2 11s; Old British, 26s 7½d; New Broken Hill Extended, 18s; Junction, 17s 1½d; North, 5s 1½d.

BROKEN HILL, TUESDAY.

Mr. Loughnan, chairman of the directors of the Central Broken Hill Company, arrived on Sunday, and is making an inspection of the property. He leaves by to-night's express. During a conversation with him this morning, he expressed much satisfaction at the appearance of the mine. He considered the stopes are larger and richer than at his last visit. Then the ore averaged 20oz., but now it is about 40oz. to the ton. He admitted that the amount of lead in the mine was small, but he pointed out that his company had simply to buy it from the other mines who had plenty, just as they bought ironstone for flux. Lead was the one flux they wanted for rich silver ores, and was a profitable flux, because it was returned in the shape of bullion, and was marketable. Mr. Loughnan pointed out that the real trouble which had been recently experienced in smelting was by reason of the continual bursting of the water jackets. It had been rumoured that these breaks were caused by bad water; but an analysis made on the mine showed no change in it now from what it had always been, and it was as good as it had ever been. The only reason for the jackets breaking was, so far as he could see, that the recent labour troubles in Adelaide had possibly forced Fulton and Co., the makers, to employ unskilled labour, consequently the jackets had not been properly made and moulded. Mr. Loughnan said good results had come of the first shipment of matte, and the despatch would now be regular, and the results would be published. An improvement is reported in the Central Blocks in the north drive at the 350ft. level, where the lode has widened to 8in. There is a considerable increase in the flow of water.

CARCOAR, TUESDAY.

At Gally Swamp mining matters are looking bright. About seven claims are on gold. The Homeward Bound Gold-mining Company intend commencing further operations at once. The claim is now 200ft. deep, with the reef 99ft. long, averaging 2ft. in thickness.

PERTH, TUESDAY.

An important discovery of mica is reported from Kimberley, where sheets 7½in. by 5in. are said to be plentiful.

The crushing at the Mackintosh Gold-mining Company's, Parker's Range, gives 161oz. 10dwt. 12gr. from 144 tons of stuff.

CRUSHING AND SMELTING RETURNS.

Star of the East Gold Mine.—Crushed for the fortnight, 1862 tons of stone; bar gold, 1229oz. 15dwt.

Starlight Gold-mining Company, Niangala, November 9.—Result of crushing, 46oz., from 25 tons of quartz.

Great Mercury Proprietary Gold Mine.—Cleaned up for 220oz. retorted gold.

MANAGERS' REPORTS.

Central Broken Hill Silver-mining Company.—Main shaft: Sunk 8ft.; total 445ft. Water winze: Sunk 6ft.; total, 92ft. The bottom is in sinuose galena. There are about 2in. water in bottom of winze. 400ft. level, east crosscut, off north drive, near north shaft: Extended 14ft.; total 116ft. Rock in face of crosscut shows considerable iron pyrites. Stopes in 400ft. level looking well, as usual. 350ft. level: North drive off 350ft. crosscut extended 4ft.; total, 41ft. 250ft. crosscut: Stopes looking fairly well, and yielding their usual quantity of ore of a siliceous character, but of good grade in silver. 200ft. level: Parallel north drive off 500ft. crosscut extended 13ft.; total, 104ft. No change to report. West crosscut off main shaft: stopes 50ft. below 300ft. level driven 7ft., total 27ft.; face in schist rock. Rise over 350ft. crosscut, 300ft. level, extended 6ft.; total height above truck floor, 37ft.; no change. 350ft. winze: Opening out on sill floor north and south of 60ft. crosscut about 70ft. below 200ft. level; both faces looking very well in a silver ore of high grade. Stopes at 370ft. level near main shaft are looking well for silver ore. Trial winze in 380ft. crosscut 10ft. east of main north drive, 200ft. level, sunk 10ft.; ore about 15oz. in silver, sulphide appearing in the bottom. Everything throughout the mine in good order, and a very large quantity of excellent grade dry ore is showing, carbonate ore alone being scarce.

Black Mountain Proprietary Silver-mining Company (by wire), November 3.—Crosscut extended to 72ft., sandstone and quartz given place to conglomerate carrying quantity mundic. Prospectors' shaft sunk 14ft. below 100ft. level; ground easy, requires timbering.

Central Blocks Silver-mining Company, Limited.—Main shaft: 27ft. of water has been baled, and 38ft. yet remain. Have ordered a water skip to facilitate dewatering the shaft, but as yet it has not come to hand. East crosscut extended 4ft., 114ft., very hard rock in face. North drive extended 10ft.; no material change in face, rather more calespar showing. The soft gangue on one side of the drive appears to be widening slightly.

Imperial Broken Hill, October 31.—West crosscut 600ft. level extended 4ft. during week; total 422ft. Face still all in quartz, and very hard. New shaft sunk 7ft.; total 24ft. from surface. This shaft is also all in quartz very much ironstoned, and looks as if it is on a large lode formation.

Pinnacles Amalgamated, November 3.—Consols: 210ft. level driven 4ft. north, and ore again improving. In south end crosscut along slide is carrying several veins of galena; stopes yielding a little bagging ore. 164ft. level: We are filling the wide stope, so no change to report. 68ft. level: No. 2 winze sunk 5½ft. in solid ore. We are keeping on same underlay through ore, as lode has widened considerably; winze now down 84½ft. Good stock of ore on floors waiting picking. Tarring of finisher jigs completed. Twenty-four points rain fell during week. Bagged for week, 57 tons, assaying 35 per cent. lead and 65oz. silver.

Webb's Consols Silver-mining Company, November 7.—Air shaft sunk 12ft.; total 43ft. This will take three weeks more to connect with the winze in 70ft. level. All this sinking is turning out payable ore for treatment. Site for winze in 130ft. level now completed, and contractors start to sink to connect with the 200ft. level. This, when completed, will give the requisite ventilation for any number of men for future output. Chamber for plat in 130ft. level now completed; also the plat in 200ft. level. Shaft and connections for trucks and cage all completed, and now ready to haul the output. Surface tramway and tips, &c., all completed, and in good working order.

Ross Valley Deep Lead Tin-mining Company, November 7.—Have had the main shaft sunk 5ft. During the first part of the week only three men were engaged sinking; the remainder occupied in blocking out, and so far the wash is very uneven.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting of the members of the Horticultural Society of New South Wales was held last evening at Messrs. Quong Tart and Co.'s rooms, King-street. There was a fairly large attendance of both members and visitors, over which Mr. W. S. Campbell, a member of the committee, presided.

A letter was read from Mr. John Baptist, who made an offer of prize money for certain classes of exhibits—miscellaneous plants—to be shown at the society's exhibition to be held in the ensuing summer. The committee, it was stated, had accepted the offer. The writer of the letter went on to suggest that the various printed cards, and more especially the prize cards in the divisions "for amateurs only," should have words printed thereon to that effect, in order that visitors to the shows might learn so at a glance, and he further advised that it might be advantageous to issue the schedules of prizes very considerably in advance of the date of exhibitions, so that all interested might be able to prepare accordingly. These remarks were loudly cheered.

Mr. R. A. Arnold wrote suggesting for the consideration of the committee that it would be a valuable guide to exhibitors, especially to those inexperienced in competing, if a standard of excellence for the several principal cut flower classes, such as roses, carnations, chrysanthemums, and dahlias was established. In the matter of the rose and the carnation, it might be laid down, he thought, that in the judging of exhibits of these flowers weight should be given in the following ratio (without necessarily rigidly adhering to the system of judging by points):—Maximum points, 100. Perfume, 20; substance and petal, 20; form, 20; condition of bloom (sufficiently, but not too full, bloom), 20; setting up (including colours and arrangement by colours), 10; staging (including correct naming, neatness of tray, and suitableness for enabling visitors to properly view exhibits), 10. The figures were named tentatively. The writer further suggested that before the spring show it should be decided whether the mere fact of a carnation bursting its calyx when opening would detract from the value of a bloom in a show tray. The committee, it was stated, had the letter under consideration.

The following prizes were awarded for exhibits:—

24 Pelargoniums: Mr. A. Lee, 1. 12 roses: Mr. H. Hardge (gardener to Mr. F. J. Gibbons), 1; Mr. J. R. L. Freeman (gardener to Mr. J. Inglis, M.L.A.), 2; Mr. Wheeler (gardener to Mr. R. R. Terry), 3. 12 carnations: Mr. H. H. B. Bradley, 1; Mr. C. B. Rowntree, 2. One specimen plant: Mr. W. Bayliss (gardener to Mr. J. O. Phillips), 1; Mrs. Drummond, 2. 12 pelargoniums: Mr. C. B. Pitt, 1; Mr. C. B. Rowntree, 2. 6 roses: Mr. Blaxland, 1; Mr. C. B. Pitt, 2; Mrs. Drummond, 3. 6 carnations: Mr. R. A. Arnold, 1; Mr. C. B. Pitt, 2.

In a non-competitive section Mr. Arnold was commended for a "burster" carnation of the "Goliath" variety, Mr. Reid was commended for a rose of the variety known as "Her Majesty," and Mr. James Green's display of pansies received similar recognition. The judges were Messrs. Hamilton, Bradley, Pitt, and Campbell.

FIRE BRIGADES DEMONSTRATION.

The demonstration of the New South Wales Fire Brigades was continued yesterday at the Agricultural Society's Grounds, Moore Park. The unfavourable state of the weather, combined with the absence of any special attractions such as existed on Monday, told seriously on the attendance of the public. Outside the members of the various fire brigades there were not more than 200 or 300 people present. The success of the day's events was also considerably marred by some dissatisfaction which arose out of the results of the fourth contest. This ended in the majority of the country brigades leaving the ground. The facts as far as they can be gathered were as follows:—On the previous day the Woollahra Brigade had won the first prize in the first event, namely, engine practice for eight men. It was maintained by some, however, that the time in the case of the Woollahras had been taken before the water from the hose had struck the discs. There was talk of lodging a protest, but eventually the matter was allowed to drop. Yesterday things proceeded satisfactorily till the final contest in the fourth event, the alarm and rush for eight men. This was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The Woollahras were the last team to compete, and as it happened they won the event, in the excellent time of 1 minute 18 1-5 seconds. The Newcastle City Brigade came second, their time being 1 minute 22 2-5 seconds, and the Newcastle Hose and Reel third, their time being 1 minute 24 3-5 seconds. When the Woollahras won they and their sympathisers cheered most exuberantly, and it is alleged that some of the examiners also joined in the jubilation. It was further stated that one of these examiners was a member of the Woollahra brigade. The crowd on the grandstand, consisting chiefly of members of country brigades, replied to the demonstration of the Woollahra faction by groaning. It was freely whispered about that the Woollahras had been favoured, and that they had not been properly examined. The discontent culminated in a protest against the Woollahras lodged by the Newcastle City Brigade. Shortly afterwards Mr. Dagwell, superintendent of the Northern Fire Brigades' Association (exclusive of Newcastle), addressed the crowd from the grandstand amid considerable uproar, and demanded a decision of the protest before any more events came off. Captain Love, when informed of the trouble, came forward and told the men to go on with the contests, and if anyone wanted to lodge an objection he would have it dealt with honestly and as soon as possible. The next event was engine practice for eight men, and the Balmain team was the first called on to compete. The crowd, however, would not get out of the way, and it was found impossible to start the contest. Meanwhile the judges had been summoned together, and they, after hearing evidence and considering the question, dismissed the protest and adjudged the Woollahras to be the winners. The upshot was that the majority of the country brigades packed up and left the ground, refusing to compete any further. One explanation given of the bitter feeling displayed about the matter was that there was considerable betting on the result of the contest. After some consideration the committee decided to omit the 5th and 6th, and to try and get through with the 7th event, there not being time to finish the programme. The seventh event was accordingly contested by the remaining brigades, and the demonstration ended without any further hitch at 10 minutes past 6. It may be mentioned that at the distribution of the prizes at the Town Hall, in the evening, the captains of the Goulburn and Standard Brewery brigades both expressed themselves as satisfied that they had been fairly beaten by better men. The band contests, which took place on the previous day, also gave rise to some discontent, one of the conditions of the contest, that a piece of music should be played at sight by each band, not being carried out. The Bathurst Band won the brass band contest, the City Band being second. At the presentation of prizes in the evening the leader of the City Band issued a challenge to the winning band to play an at-sight contest for a prize of £25, the money to go to a Sydney charitable institution.

The following were the results of the events contested yesterday:—

Third Event: Hose Practice for Eight Men.—First prize, silver cup (gift of W. Kerr, jeweller, George-street, value £27), and eight gold medals; second prize, pair silver-mounted emu eggs (gift of J. T. and J. Toohey, Standard Brewery, value £7 7s), and eight silver medals; third prize, silver cup (gift of M'Lean Bros. and Rigg, value £4 4s). Eight men from each brigade to run with hose-reel 150 yards, fix hydrant, run out 100ft. of hose, and break couplings, fix branch, and throw water and hit a disc; run out a second length of hose 100ft., break couplings, fix branch, and throw water as before. The first water must actually strike the disc before the second length is attached to hydrant. Branches to extend 80ft. from hydrant. Both lines of hose to run in same direction, and not to be crossed. Each reel shall carry 300ft. of hose, hydrant, and branches. Strictly canvas hose, not less than 2½in., and to be in no way prepared or lined—to be dry to commence with. Time to be taken when both waters hit the disc together.—1, Goulburn, 59 4-5 seconds; 2, Albury, 60 2-5 seconds; 3, Wallsend and Plattsburg, 1 minute 2 2-5 seconds; 4, Standard Brewery, 1 minute 4 1-5 seconds; 5, Paddington Brewery, 1 minute 5 seconds; 6, Newcastle Hose and Reel, 1 minute 5 3-5 seconds; 7, Wagga Wagga and Tighe's Hill, each 1 minute 7 seconds; 8, Darlington, 1 minute 7 3-5 seconds; 9, Balmain, 1 minute 7 4-5 seconds; 10, Hamilton, 1 minute 9 2-5 seconds; 11, North City, Adamstown, and Wickham, each 1 minute 10 seconds; 12, Newcastle City, 1 minute 18 2-5 seconds; 13, Glebe, 1 minute 21 seconds.

Fourth Event: Alarm and Rush for Eight Men.—First prize, marble clock, gift of Hardy Brothers, Hunter-street, value £12 12s, and eight gold medals; second prize, silver cup, gift of Australian Joint Stock Bank, value £7 7s, and eight silver medals; third prize, silver cup, gift of T. T. Jones and Son, jewellers, value £3 3s.—Eight men from each brigade, each dressed in shirt and trousers, to be in tent lying down, body and limbs covered with rug or tarpaulin; at sound of alarm outside the tent men to dress themselves in uniform coat (of which three buttons must be fastened), belt buckled, key, cap, and boots, to run from tent 50 yards to engine; put engine in full working order, according to Eight Men Engine Event; time to be taken from start till second water striking disc; when work is done men to hold arms over head till dismissed by judges.—1, Woollahra, 1 minute 18 1-5 seconds; (2) Newcastle City, 1 minute 22 2-5 seconds; (3) Newcastle Hose and Reel, 1 minute 24 3-5 seconds; (4) Corowa and Goulburn, each 1 minute 25 seconds; (5) Paddington Brewery and North City, each 1 minute 31 1-5 seconds; (6) Lambton, 1 minute 35 3-5 seconds; (7) Newtown, 1 minute 40 seconds; (8) Darlington, 1 minute 41 4-5 seconds; (9) Alexandria, 1 minute 46 seconds; (10) Balmain, 1 minute 46 1-5 seconds; (11) Hamilton, 1 minute 48 seconds; (12) Standard Brewery, 1 minute 48 2-5 seconds. The following were disqualified:—Waverley, 1 minute 19 2-5 seconds; Stockton, 1 minute 25 seconds; Armidale, 1 minute 49 1-5 seconds. Honeysuckle missed.

Seventh Event: Hose Practice for Four Men. First prize shield, gift of Mark Foy, Oxford-street, value £17 12s, and four gold medals; second prize, hydrant, gift of J. Danks, Pitt-street, value £5 5s, and four silver medals; third prize, liquor frame, gift of Marshall's Paddington Brewery, value £3 3s. Four men from each brigade to run with reel 150 yards, fix hydrant, run out 100ft. of wet hose, break couplings, fix branch, and throw water and hit disc; reel to carry 200ft. of hose, hydrant, and branch. Strictly canvas hose not less than 2½in., and to be in no way prepared or lined, to be wet to commence with. Time to be taken when water hits the disc.—(1) Paddington Brewery, 44 seconds; (2) Hay, 45 seconds; (3) Darlington, 46 3-5 seconds; (4) Glebe, 47 1-5 seconds; (5) Standard Brewery, 48 seconds; (6) Newtown, 56 seconds; (7) Balmain, 57 2-5 seconds; (8) Paddington and Leichhardt, each, 58 seconds; (9) North City, 58½ seconds. The following were disqualified:—Parramatta No. 1, 45 seconds; Waverley, 46 seconds; Albury, 50 seconds. The following missed:—Wagga, Burwood, and Waterloo.

A special prize consisting of a cruetstand, the gift of Hoffnung and Co., Pitt-street, and an illuminated picture, for the best turned-out brigade in the procession, was won by the Glebe Brigade.

A special prize of £5 5s for the best uniformed band, the gift of C. Anderson, tailor, Oxford-street, was won by the Paddington Public School Band.

At 8 o'clock in the evening the prizes won yesterday and on the previous day were presented to the successful competitors by the Mayor (Mr. W. P. Manning) and the Mayoress, in the vestibule of the Town Hall, in which a stage had been erected for the occasion. Between 400 and 500 people were present, and the recipients of the prizes were loudly cheered by their comrades. The Mayor, before reading out the prize list, made a few appropriate remarks, regretting that his absence from Sydney had prevented him attending the demonstration, and paying a tribute to the valuable services rendered to society by the fire brigades. The Mayoress then presented the prizes.

At the conclusion a vote of thanks to the Mayor and Mayoress was carried by acclamation.

EXTRACTS from the VISITORS' REMARK BOOK, ORIENTAL HOTEL, SPRINGWOOD, BLUE MOUNTAINS:—
"I have enjoyed a few days' residence at this hotel. I found the attendance and catering superior to any other hotel I have visited, the sitting-rooms, bedrooms, and all other departments provided with every comfort, and the sanitary departments unusually well-appointed. The climate of Springwood I consider the best suited to those who require a change on the Mountains, being not subject to sudden changes of temperature, less exposed to severe winds and damp fogs than other more elevated positions. It is especially suitable to persons who suffer from delicate chests, rheumatic sufferings, or are exhausted from over-work.
"JAMES C. COX, M.D.,
"July 20, 1891. Macquarie-street."
"I have found everything most comfortable and pleasant; the climate is superb—warm, balmy days, with sufficient dryness and crispness of the atmosphere to make it exhilarating and bracing. To those who live in coastal towns, and who suffer from chest affections, or are run-down from over-work, such a climate would be most restorative and advantageous.
"August 16, 1891. THOMAS PICKBURN, M.D."
"My family and myself have derived much pleasure and benefit to our health from our stay at the Oriental Hotel, Springwood. The air was perfect—sunny, calm, balmy, yet invigorating; the hotel new and comfortable. I consider Springwood a splendid winter resort for invalids.
"B. SCHWARZBACH, M.D.
"August 16, 1891."
"I have spent a few pleasant days here. The climate is beautiful, and well suited to patients suffering from chest affections. The domestic comforts are more like a well-regulated private home than an Australian hotel.
"T. CHAMBERS, M.D.,
"Lyons-terrace, Sydney."
"This is the most comfortable Hotel which I have visited in Australia.
"EDWARD HARRIS, LL.D.
"Principal, The King's School, Parramatta."
